ALLIES PRESS RECENT GAINS

French Cling to Newly Won Points While British Troops Advance.

GERMAN REPRISAL BY AIRCRAFT PLAN

May Attack Open Towns in Retaliation for Tactics of French.

Today's War News Given in Summary

The Anglo-French offensive in northern France is being vigorously pushed. Today's reports show the French holding tenaciously to ground gained and the British fighting their way further into the German line. Driving north from Bazentin and Longueval toward Bapaume, Gen. Sir Douglas Haig's troops have advanced as far as the Foreaux wood. The British rush even cleared this wood, but subsequently the Germans were able to win back a part of it.

South of the Somme, the French have been able to hold trenches captured in their drive along a five mile front on Thursday withstanding a vigorous counter attack. South of Soyecourt, on the French right, according to the French war office, the Germans were driven back in disorder, sustaining serious losses.

Special dispatches from Copenhagen to London, report the capture by a German warship of the American sailing vessel Prins Valdemar, bound from an American port to Sweden with a cargo of oil. The British steamers Yser and Grangemoor, both vessels of some 3,000 tons, are reported sunk.

Vienna announces that two submarines, one of them Italian, have been destroyed in the northern Adriatic by Austrian torpedo craft.

London, July 21.—(1:55 p. m.)—The British line north of Bazentie and Longueval has been pushed forward to Foureaux wood the war office announced today. The British drove the Germans from the wood but lost part of this position subsequently.

FORCE RUSSIANS TO RETIRE.

Teutonic Gains Reported from the Volhynian Front.

Berlin, July 21.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—A retirement of Russians in one sector of the Volhynian battle front is reported in the Austro-Hungarian army headquarter's report of July 20, which says:

"In Volhynia, the Germans pushed the enemy back west of the Zuiniacze (Sviniusky?) lowlands toward the north.

DRIVEN BACK IN DISORDER.

German Attempt to Regain Lost Ground Is Failure.

Paris, July 21.—(Noon).—Positions captured yesterday by the French south of the Somme were subjected to a vigorous counter-attack during the night. The Germans charged the French lines south of Soyecourt, but, the war office announced today, suffered heavy losses and were driveen back in disorder.

Between Soissons and Rheims the French penetrated a German trench, clearing it of its defenders.

On the Verdun front the artillery was active on both sides in the vicinity of Chattancourt and Fleury. French aeroplanes successfully bombarded stations at Conflans, Mars-la-Tour, Longuyon and Brieulles.

MAY ATTACK OPEN TOWNS.

Germans Threaten Retaliation for Unfair French Tactics.

Berlin, July 21.—(Via London, 11:25 p. m.)—Threats of air raids on open French towns, as measures of reprisal, are made in an official statement issued here today.

The statement says that the French airmen have bombarded towns in the Saar forest, which are outside the zone of field operations, while the German air attacks have been up to now directed exclusively against fortresses or field

STRIKERS WILL NOT BE GIVEN OLD JOBS

Sam W. Greenland, general manager of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, was in Logansport, Thursday, where he attended a conference of business men held in Mayor Frank V. Guthrie's office, and at which time he refused to submit the controversy between the company and the striking car men to the public service commission for arbitration. He says there is nothing to arbitrate.

The Logansport business men, after a discussion of the matter, unanimously voted that arbitration is the method which will end the controversy satisfactorily to all parties concerned. After the vote had been taken, Mr. Greenland was asked if his company would consent to submit the matter to the state public service commission. He rose to his feet slowly, according to a dispatch from that city, and in decisive tones, which left no doubt as to what he meant, declared that the company would not arbitrate. He declared that the company will have nothing more to do with the strikers; that they had lost their positions by striking and the company will not take them back.

RECRUITING TRIPS TO CEASE, COMFORT SAYS

Advertising trips which have been taken one day each week to nearby cities to recruit for the United States navy must be discontinued, according to an order received by Joseph C. King, officer in charge of the Fort Wayne navy recruiting station. The order comes from Lieut. Commander J. N. Comfort, navy recruiting officer for Indiana, whose offices are at Indianapolis.

Trips have been made each week to cities including Angola, Warsaw, Decatur, Marion and Columbia City, and one day was thus taken from recruiting work in Fort Wayne. The results on these one-day trips were not always satisfactory. It is urged on the navy recruiting officer that a hard effort be made to add navy recruits. The army recruiting has taken from the percentage of navy recruits, but the order from Lieut. Commander Comfort is not construed as being in opposition to army recruiting.

MELCHI FINED FOR HIS CAR COLLISION

J. W. Melchi was fined $1 and costs for assault and battery Friday morning in the court of Justice Henry J. Grabner, the prosecuting witness being Miss Marie Bowser, who alleged Melchi, driving an auto, ran into her automobile as she left the entrance to Robison park, June 25. Melchi was on the wrong side of the road as he passed the park entrance, it was alleged. Both cars were damaged in the collision.

A charge of failing to report an accident also placed against Melchi, was dismissed on motion of Deputy Prosecutor Hayes, Friday morning, in the court of Justice Grabner. It was shown that at the time of the accident Melchi left his car and gave his auto number and residence address to Miss Bowser.

LOCKET THIEF IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

A negro purchased a cheap pair of cuff buttons at the Wayne jewelry store three weeks ago and while the clerk was engaged in placing the buttons in a box the customer lifted a $75 gold locket, police say. The locket was found by Detective Immel in a Fort Wayne pawn shop, Thursday afternoon. The pawn broker was the looser as the jewelry was returned to the Wayne store.

Police claim to have a good description of the colored man who stole the locket, both from the jewelry clerk and the pawnbroker. Detectives say they know who the man is but have been unable to locate him in the past two weeks. He is thought to be in another state.

AUTO DAMAGED IN ACCIDENT.

The auto belonging to A. T. Riggs, 2517 Broadway, was damaged Friday when it was struck by an automobile belonging to the traction company, near the corner of Harrison and Main streets. Riggs claims his machine was standing at the curbing and was struck in the rear by the Traction company car.

FOOD SHORTAGE IN FLOODED SECTIONS

Victims Face Starvation Unless Relief Comes Quickly.

Asheville, N. C., July 21.—Food shortage in many of the more remote sections of western North Carolina which were swept by last Sunday's floods will be reported today and information here was that at some places, notably Collettsville, near Hickory, the population actually faced starvation unless speedy relief was forthcoming. Federal aid already has been asked for the people in Germantown and vicinity and Wilkesboro.

Latest reports today told of great destruction by the floods in parts of Wilkes, Ashe, Watauga and Alexander counties and it was in those counties that the greatest suffering among the people existed. In many places the people were said to be living on potatoes alone, all other foodstuffs having been carried away by the flood waters.

Seven additional fatalities were reported over night and the toll of deaths now stands at from 80 to 90. Reports yesterday that ten persons had met death at Alta Passare were denied, and if there were no fatalities there the known toll of life is 80.

DEUTSCHLAND MAY TAKE BIG GOLD CONSIGNMENT

Baltimore, Md., July 21.—Negotiations said to be pending between the Eastern Forwarding company and "one of the largest American banking institutions" for a big consignment of gold to be sent back to Germany on the submarine merchantman Deutschland were given as the cause of the delay in the undersea liner's departure from Baltimore according to an official of the submarine's American agency.

Paul G. L. Hilken, the junior member of the Eastern Forwarding company, has been absent from his office here for more than 48 hours and it was said he was representing his company in th negotiations for the gold. The amount could not be learned.

ADDITION TO LAOTTO SCHOOL BUILDING

Plans are under way for a four-room addition to be built to the present high school building at Laotto. The present structure, which was built several years ago, has been found inadequate to accommodate the number of pupils.

The new addition, which will cost approximately $10,000, will be built of brick. Griffith & Fair are the architects for the building. Extensive remodeling in the old part will also be commenced at once in order to have it finished by the time the school opens this fall.

Illinois City to Be Location of New Factory.

Quincy, Ill., July 21.—Within ten days work will begin on a dye factory in this city. The plant will be in operation by Oct. 1, and will manufacture all standard colors.

The plant, it is said, will be the only one manufacturing dye materials on this side of Europe.

Burning of Barn Causes Sudden Death of Woman

The large barn on the farm of Louis Rapp, on the Huntington road, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground Thursday afternoon All the contents were consumed, the total loss exceeding $2,000 The excitement proved too much for Mrs Elizabeth Rapp, 57 years old, wife of Louis Rapp, and at 11:40 Friday morning she toppled over unconscious in the diningroom of her home and in a few minutes was dead. Heart trouble is given as the cause. For some time she had not been well. She was known to have had a weak heart and the excitement caused by the burning of the barn was directly the cause of her death. Such is the opinion of Coroner J. E. McArdle, who made an investigation Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Rapp's husband was in the room at the time. He noticed that she had been extremely nervous and excited since the fire. Without a word she fell to the floor before he had time to catch her. He called to Mrs. Pauline Corcoran, who lives across the road, and the two worked with her and did everything they could to bring her back to consciousness. She died while they were trying to revive her.

Last week the Rapp family lost a valuable cow, which caused Mrs. Rapp to worry. The Rapp family seems to have had more than its share of misfortune.

WINS NOMINATION ON FIRST BALLOT

St. Paul, Minn., July 21.—J. Frank Hanly, former governor of Indiana, was nominated for president of the United States on the first ballot of the national prohibition convention this afternoon. Hanly received 440 votes against 181 for William Sulzer, former governor of New York, his nearest contender.

The New York delegation cast 13 votes for Sulzer and 37 for Hanly. Several states changed their votes after completion of the roll call, most of the changes being in Hanly's favor. A number of delegates were absent, but about 340 votes were sufficient to elect.

Finley C. Hendrickson, of Cumberland, Md., received 51 votes; James Gilbert Mason, 10; W. P. F. Ferguson, 4; Sumner W. Haynes, Indiana, 2; Henry Ford, 1.

A motion to adjourn was defeated and the roll call of states for nominating speeches for vice-president proceeded.

The roll call of states for nominations was completed at 1:30 o'clock and the voting began. When Pennsylvania had been reached in the balloting, Hanly had 366 votes.

Demonstration for Hanly.

Nominating speeches, begun after the adoption of the party platform, were still in progress this afternoon. A demonstration lasting nearly fifteen minutes during which delegates paraded the aisles of the convention hall shouting, singing and throwing hats and banners in the air followed the nomination of Mr. Hanly by Sumner W. Haynes, also of Indiana, who took occasion to announce that he had withdrawn from the race in favor of Mr. Hanly.

Another demonstration broke out when Eugene W. Chafin, of Arizona, placed in nomination the name of William Sulzer, former governor of New York, who came to St. Paul yesterday and addressed the convention.

NOTED TELEGRAPHER DIES OF PNEUMONIA

"Fat" Waugh Had Remarkable Career on Associated Press Wires.

New York, July 21.—W. L. Waugh, known to telegraph operators throughout the country as "Fat" Waugh, died from pneumonia here last night. Mr. Waugh was born in Fulton, N. Y., in 1860, and began his telegraph career as a messenger boy at the age of twelve. He was graduated as an operator for the Western Union at the age of 14, and after a few years of varied employment entered the service of the Associated Press. Owing to ill-health he was placed on the retired list of the Associated Press a few weeks ago.

Waugh's beautiful "Morse" is a tradition not only in the Associated Press service but among telegraphers everywhere. For many years he was the sending operator in New York on the first main trunk circuit between New York and Chicago and on all special occasions, such as national conventions, he was the sender on what is known as the "Bulletin wire." Ill health prevented his detail to the national conventions just ended and for the first time in twenty years the Associated Press was without the services of one who, in the past, had flashed to the world the nominations of half a dozen presidents and vice presidents and the candidates who had opposed them.

BOATS ARE CARRIED UNDER BARGE; 3 DIE

Godfrey, 22, who lives in Kentucky, were drowned while boat riding.

Edward Davidson, 21, of this city, who also was a member of the party, managed to swim ashore, landing almost exhausted eight squares below the place where the accident happened.

MINE-LAYER PRIZE IS PLACED ON EXHIBITION

London, July 21.—The German mine-layer, which is one of the U-35 class, one of the latest prizes of the British navy, was visited by an Associated Press representative today prior to its being placed on public exhibition in the Thames.

The prize, flying the German naval ensign surmounted by the British ensign, lay in a naval dock yard on the east coast. The vessel is designed purely for mine-laying. The entire forward part is composed of wells, six in number, each containing two powerful mines, which can be released by levers. The ship has no torpedo tubes or other armament except small arms for the crew and is only 100 feet in length.

Thirteen blue jackets and five officers comprise the crew of the submarine. According to one of the seamen she made, prior to her capture, nineteen trips from her base in Germany to the British coast and laid over two hundred mines in routes frequented by merchant vessels. She was on her twentieth trip when she was captured by the British patrol boat.

The sailors said that when the submarine was sighted and chased by a patrol boat the crew tried to get rid of her remaining mines, but had not sufficient time. Seeing that capture was inevitable, the officers ordered the abandonment of the ship, destroyed the log and other records and virtually demolished the six-cylinder Diesel engine of approximately 240 horse power. All of the crew and officers were taken prisoners.

The hull of the submarine is in good condition, but shows a number of dents where it struck obstacles in its underwater voyages. The craft shows signs of rapidity of construction, but appears well fitted for short trips across the North sea. British naval officers pointed out that the mines carried no apparatus for rendering them harmless, if they broke loose from their moorings, as required by the Hague convention.

FURTHER PROTESTS ARE FULLY EXPECTED

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Further protests by the British and French embassies against American recognitionof the German submarine Deutschland as a merchantman were considered a possibility today by state department officials. Clearance of the vessel, it was thought might draw from the allies a more definite objection than the informal complaint lodged at the department on the submersible's arrival.

So far the embassies have suggested only that the Deutschland is a potential warship. Additional representations, it is believed would suggest that the vessel lacks many characteristics essential to a merchant ship and might even attempt to hold the United States liable for damage the submarine might do to allied shipping after she leaves American waters.

BREWERY MEN CALL STRIKE

Two Hundred and Fifty Workers Walk Out at Berghoff Plant.

Early Adjustment of Differences Predicted by Both Sides.

A strike was declared by 250 brewery workers at the plant of the Berghoff Brewing company Friday morning. When the men reported for work at 7 o'clock pickets had been established, and with the exception of six or eight men employed as engineers and in the cellars, none of the force started work. Working conditions in alleged violation of union agreement, not wages, led to the strike, according to a statement of M. C. Norton, general manager and secretary of the Berghoff Brewing company. It is charged foremen of the brewery assisted in loading in the yards.

No adjustment of the differences was reached at a conference Friday morning in the offices of the brewing company between a committee of the brewers' union and Mr. Norton. A meeting was held Friday afternoon in the bartenders' hall, 610 Calhoun street, when further consideration of the trouble was taken up by the strikers and employers.

Complaint Was Made.

For the last month, according to Mr. Norton, complaint has been made at various times by the brewery workers that plant foremen were helping load cases during a rush period. Mr. Norton says the foremen were instructed not to assist in the loading, knowing that it was in violation of the union agreement. Two weeks ago a committee of the brewery workers waited on Mr. Norton, setting forth the same grievance over which the present strike is called. There was no walkout at that time and it was understood that the foremen would have nothing to do with the loading.

Meeting Was Held.

Thursday night a meeting of the union of Local brewers was held and

POSTMASTERS PRAISE ADMINISTRATION WORK

Washington, July 21.—Resolutions commending the national administration for efficiency and economy in postal management, recommending specific reforms and praising President Wilson for maintaining the United States in peace were presented to the national association of presidential postmasters at its final session today.

Under the administration of Postmaster General Burleson, the resolution recited, the present system by which each postmaster is "the directing force of his office and his duties are not delegated to subordinate officials," has been introduced. The postmaster general and his assistants were commended for reforms.

It was recommended that additional early morning train schedules be established whenever possible about the larger cities. One resolution suggested changes in the method of settling claims for damage or loss under the insurance feature of the parcel post system, so that adjustment may be made for minor claims by the postmaster at the office concerned. Legislation providing for retirement of superannuated employes was favored.

EXPIRED ON WAY TO THE HOSPITAL

Russel Pettit, aged 20 years, who was caught between a large truck and a trailer Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Berghoff Brewing company, died from the injuries before the ambulance reached the hospital.

Coroner J. E. McArdle stated that death was due to a ruptured abdominal aorta. A post-mortem examination revealed that this was what had caused death. He was caught between the two vehicles and the pinching of his body was sufficient to cause the aorta to burst.

This Was a Fizzle.

Finley D. Hendrickson, of Cumberland, Md., whose candidacy was given strength at several eleventh hour conferences, was placed in nomination. The Maryland delegation made futile efforts to start a demonstration in his behalf.

Leaders of the Hanly forces held several hurried conferences shortly after noon and predicted the nomination of their candidate on the second ballot.

The party platform, over which a lively fight was expected, was adopted with but one change. A plank was added declaring in favor of the initiative, referendum and recall.

Business of the Day.

The national convention resumed work shortly after 1 o'clock. Names of new members of the national commission were confirmed. The nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates was the next order of business. Nominating speeches were limited to ten minutes and seconding speeches to five minutes. Alabama yielded to Indana and amid an outburst of applause Sumner W. Haynes began his speech nominating J. Frank Hanly.

As he concluded a demonstration began. Delegates waved flags and banners and stood on their seats and shouted. The Indiana delegation began marching through aisles and over the platform, singing patriotic songs. Other state delegations joined in the procession and the demonstration for Hanly lasted twelve minutes.

The Prihibition Platform.

The platform adopted by the prohibition party today included E. W. Chafin's plank endorsing the initiative, referendum and recall.

The platform expresses opposition to the "wasteful military programs of the democratic and republican parties" but favors "preparedness for peace." It suggests a "compact among nations to dismantle navies and disband armies," but until "such court and compact are established we pledge ourselves to maintain an effective army and navy and to provide coast defenses entirely adequate for national protection."

Approves strict interpretation of Monroe doctrine; opposes abandonment of the Philippine islands at this time but favors ultimate independence.

Declares for Americanism.

Favors uniform marriage and divorce laws and complete suppression of white slavery.

Opposes "pork barrel" legislation.

Favors a single presidential term of six years. Favors public grain elevators, owned and operated by the federal government and abolition of speculation on markets.

ROGERS

REPUBLICAN CITY COMMITTEE MEETS

The republican city committee met last night on call of Chairman Stults, at headquarters on East Berry, with a large number present. Dr. Stults called attention to the necessity of early action in securing a poll, not only for use on election day, but also for the guidance of the committee in securing a full registration. Those who did not register in 1914 and those who have moved from the precinct in which they then voted must register this year, October 9, in order to vote. The chairman urged the committee to appreciate the value of a close organization, saying the conditions favor republican success as never before.

District Chairman Hogan addressed the meeting, saying that he had spent the day in Dekalb county and found a reunited party filled with confidence that the republicans would carry that county this year. He urged the necessity of winning in Indiana this year, so that both candidates for United States senator will be elected—thus making the senate republican. He said unless both Watson and New were elected from Indiana Hughes would not have the support of both branches of congress without which, he said, he would be seriously hindered in effecting a change to republican tariff policies.

Arrangements were made for meetings in each precinct and ward to secure the poll.

Registration Day.

Under the new registration law passed by the general assembly of 1915, the registration of voters preceding the election next November will fall on October 9. Only those who have moved out of the precincts in which they lived at the election two years ago, or those who were not registered preceding the 1914 election, will be required to register October 9. The republican and democratic state central committees have sent out instructions to precinct committeemen and other workers over the state and both parties will endeavor to get their full vote registered.

it was decided to call the strike, it is said. The secretary of the brewers' local was to meet with Mr. Norton Friday morning to seek an adjustment of the trouble. A committee from the union waited on Mr. Norton Friday morning and it was thought a satisfactory agreement might be reached during the day. There was no disorder among the brewery workers and police officers and an attache of the office of sheriff were unnecessary in their capacities.

Some Men Still Work.

By the fact that several engineers and cellar keepers at the brewery were allowed to continue at their posts under an agreement with the union, Mr. Norton did not consider the strike hostile. If the engineers and cellar keepers had been called out the brewery would have been tied up so far as business was concerned. Mr. Norton said the brewery could not afford to let its cellars get warm.

Foremen Make Denial.

William Breuer, jr., and Curtis Rohlnet, respectively, assistant superintendent of the brewery and foreman of the yards, according to Mr. Norton, are the men whom the striking workers say assisted in loading in the yards during a rush period. The men did not remember of having assisted in loading unless it was at odd times, Mr. Norton declared. Under the union rule the foremen are not allowed to touch the cases as they come down the purveyor and loading is not allowed. Mr. Norton said the foremen must have in some way done work outside their rights with the union. "The Berghoff brewery is not opposed to organized labor and I anticipate the trouble will be adjusted satisfactorily," said Mr. Norton.

In the rush of business for the last week it has been hard to get help, Mr. Norton states, and if the foremen did assist in loading it was to aid in carrying the plant over a rush period when there was a shortage of men.

The brewery workers had nothing to say concerning the strike and the committee would give out nothing prior to entering the conference.

Serious Operation is Performed on Payne Man at Hospital.

A serious operation was performed on Joseph Cassanovia, of Payne, Ohio, Friday, at the St. Joseph hospital by Dr. Maurice Rosenthal. Several nerves were removed from his face. For years he has been a great sufferer from cancer of the face. He has been treated by many physicians and surgeons and last year went to Chicago, where he was operated upon by Dr. Murphy, a famous surgeon. Since then he has been taking treatment in Toledo, but his suffering has been so intense that he

ITALIAN DECREE PUTS BAN AGAINST GERMANS

Says Allies of Austria Are Now to Be Treated as Enemies.

Rome, July 20.—Via Paris, July 21.—1:55 a. m.—A ministerial decree was issued today placing the persons and property of Germans on the same footing as those of Austrain and Hungarians. The decree does not directly mention Germans, but states that allies of Austria are to be treated as enemies, and their subjects and goods are liable to sequestration.

Prior to the war German interests in Italy were estimated to be worth $250,000,000. Their value is now placed at about $150,000,000. There are only a few German subjects now in Italy and these will be either placed in concentration camps in Italy or sent across the Swiss border.

There has been a strong agitation in Italy for some time for the breaking off of all relations with Germany. The curious situation caused by Italy being at war with Austria, while nominally at peace with Germany, was emphasized by an agreement between Rome and Berlin, wherein all rights of the citizens, of one country domiciled in the other, were to be respected. On July 16 this agreement was denounced by Italy on the ground it was not being observed by Germany.

At the great council of the entente powers held in Paris last February the Italian representatives were pressed for an explanation as to why Italy had not declared war on Germany. On February 29 Italy requisitioned thirty-four German ships which were interned in Italian ports. As a similar action by Portugal had promptly called forth an ultimatum from Berlin, which was followed by a declaration of war, it was confidently expected that the same sequel would follow in regard to Italy. As far as is known, however, Wilhelmstrasse did not even make a protest. If war is now declared, Italian troops may be sent to the western front, according to the expectations expressed in London and Paris.

ment the Bethlehem Steel company's argument against a government armor plate plant. When Senator Reed returned and learned of it he denounced the action as a shameless proposition and outrage and declared the company's statements were false and misleading.

Senator Oliver challenged Mr. Reed to show the statements he referred to. "The senator from Pennsylvania," Senator Reed replied, "had the cool assurance, after admitting that he owned steel stock, to stand up here and attempt to vote money into his own pocket by supporting a bill which would help the Bethlehem Steel company. If the senator were a judge he would not be permitted to vote on this issue."

Oliver Denounces Statement.

Senator Oliver denounced the statement, asserting that Senator Reed was attempting to avoid his challenge.

"I say," continued Reed, "that the senator from Pennsylvania on this floor admitted he owned a large amount of steel stock and that this stock was in a concern that was the parent company of a concern engaged in the manufacture of armor plate. The senator knows that whatever might defeat the construction of a government armor plate plant will increase the price and profits for private armor plants, that the profits will be distributed among its stockholders and that some of those profits will emit a musical jingle in the pockets of the distinguished senator from Pennsylvania."

Senator Gallinger suggested that Senator Reed was overstepping a senatorial rule and Vice President Marshall also intervened. Senator Reed then read from the record another passage between himself and Senator Oliver on the same subject when Senator Oliver told the senate he owned United States Steel stock valued at $117,000.

Senator Cummins' amendment to reduce the number of dreadnoughts to be constructed in three years from ten to two and battle-cruisers from ten to four was rejected 60 to 14. Three democrats, Lane, Thomas and Vardaman voted for it.

BATTERY D MEMBERSHIP SLOWLY INCREASING

Peace Strength of 133 Men May Be Reached This Week.

Recruiting officers for Battery D of Fort Wayne are still busy in small towns near Fort Wayne. The membership is gradually nearing peace strength of 133 men and five officers. Capt. John C. Scheffer sent word to the local office stating that he would return to Fort Wayne Friday evening and that he was having good success on his present trip.

Orders for mobilization from the adjutant general are expected to arrive just as soon as peace strength is reached. It will only require a few hours to have all the men at the local recruiting station and by the following day they will be ready to entrain for some fort where, after a few weeks' drill, they will be called to the border.

Those who have been mustered into service in Battery D have been requested to meet at the court house Friday evening, when arrangements for the funeral of Private Floyd Wolf will be made. All patriotic organizations have been asked to attend. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon and will be military in every respect.

works. In one of the French raids it is said that a woman and four children were killed.

"We shall now be forced," says the report, "to use our strong battle squadrons for the purpose of reprisal. A great number of peaceful French towns outside the zone of field operations are within the reach of our air squadrons."

FRENCH MORE CONFIDENT.

Paris, July 21.—The resumption of the battle of the Somme in the French sector has greatly enhanced the general confidence in the situation. The protracted halt of operations on more than a minor scale was beginning to make the public fear that the first result would have no morrow and that, as in the case of the Champagne offensive a year ago, there might be a reversion to the old trench warfare. Yesterday's bulletin effectually removed this impression.

A particularly fine piece of work, from the French point of view, was accomplished in the new sector attacked south of the river. East of the old French fort, which ran from the east of Herbeville to half way between that village and the Fouques Court-Verdman-Devillers road, the Germans had constructed, by months of patient toil, an underground fortification in a star-shaped wood and on the slopes of a hill. There were ninety trenches in the wood with two series of underground shelter, in which the soldiers lay snug during the hottest bombardments. The Germans here, as in the Barleux and Soyecourt region, wherein positions formed an inextricable maze of trenches, offered a stouter resistance than elsewhere on the long line of attack. But the French troops, carefully prepared for their work and skilfully led, not only won through everywhere, but held on to their gains and were preparing last night to attempt to still further extend them. It now develops that yesterday's effort was due several days ago, but that the artillery reparation was delayed by heavy weather. The French commander's report that the preliminary bombardment was so effective that the losses of the attackers were comparatively light.

Contrary to expectations the Germans have made no attempt to follow up the smashing blow delivered against the northern Verdun defenses a week ago. The French counter attacks, according to the official accounts, are gradually winning back the ground gained by the Germans at heavy cost in the vicinity of Thiaumont and Fleury. This inactivity on the part of the crown prince is interpreted by French military opinion as evidence that the Germans are finding increasing difficulty in concentrating troops at any one point on the front. The French officers say that each fresh assault on Verdun is requiring longer and longer time to prepare. They claim that the Germans took no less than eighteen days in preparation for the attack of July 12.

RUSSIA SERVES NOTICE.

Will Disregard Hague Rules as to Turk Hospital Ships.

London, July 21.—(9:17 a. m.)—A Reuter's Petrograd dispatch says the Russian minister of foreign affairs has informed the Turkish government through the ambassadors of the United States and Spain that Russia will henceforth disregard the principles of The Hague convention as far as Turkish hospital ships are concerned.

The Russian hospital ship Portugal was sunk by a submarine in the Black sea last March. There were a large number of wounded on board at the time and 115 lives were lost. It was at first stated that the ship had been sunk by a German submarine but Turkey later accepted the responsibility, in declaring that the ship did not fly the Red Cross flag and was mistaken for a transport. On July 9 the Vperiode, which took the place of the Portugal, was torpedoed and sent to the bottom while on her way to Batum to embark wounded soldiers. The official report of the disaster made no mention of loss of lives or of the nationality of the submarine.

JUNE ACCIDENTS IN INDIANA TOTAL 3,414

More Numerous Than in Any Previous Month Reported to Board.

Indianapolis, July 21.—The number of accidents reported to the state industrial board in June was larger than in any month since the organization of the board, according to the monthly report which was compiled yesterday. A total of 3,414 accidents was reported.

The report shows that the automobile manufacturing industry in Indiana is running a close race with the steam railroads in causing injury to employes. The number of accident in automobile factories was 267, while the number of employes injured on steam roads of the state in the month was 274.

The report shows that employers of Indiana paid a total of $20,779.23 as compensation in closed cases in the month under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law operated by the board. Of the total number of persons injured, 3.87 were temporarily totally disabled, 107 were partially disabled, 95 were dismembered, two were disfigured, and twenty-three were injured fatally.

Wage Average Increases.

Of those injured the highest salary paid to any one individual was $54 a week, the lowest $3 a week, and the average wage was $14.90 a week. It is noted by the board in this connection that since the establishment of the industrial board the average wage of persons injured has steadily increased.

Injuries to the eyes of workmen by flying particles were numerous. One hundred and thirty-eight workmen were injured when hit by chips from breaking wires and 135 workmen were injured when struck by emery particles. In practically all of these cases the men suffered injuries to the eyes.

Three workmen in the state suffered the amputation of an arm, each and thirty-nine suffered the loss of one finger each. Thirty-eight persons were injured by train collisions and twelve were injured by the explosion of bottles.

That a large number of accidents occur when workmen are struck by falling objects, is shown in the report. It shows that 284 persons were injured from that cause in June. One hundred and twenty-nine persons were injured by handling heavy objects, and 448 were injured by dropping heavy objects.

Of the workmen injured, the report says that 92.3 per cent show disability of fourteen days or less, 4.3 per cent fourteen to twenty-one days, 1.9 per cent twenty-one to twenty-eight days, and 1.5 per cent, twenty-eight days and more.

Seventy-Nine Women Hurt.

In the list of accidents to women engaged in industrial pursuits, the report shows that seventy-nine women workers were injured. Eleven women employed in laundries suffered injuries. This is the largest number of women victims of accidents reported from any one industry.

The [illegible] week, the lowest $3 a week, and the average $7.43 a week.

The report shows that in the list of fatal accidents to men the highest wages paid was $30 a week, the lowest $11 a week, and the average was $16.95 a week. The age of those injured fatally ranged from 19 to 65 years. The report does not give the age of one person who was injured fatally.

The report shows that at the present time 1,342 cases are under compensation, the total amount paid being $9,579.90 a week, or an average of $7.14 a week for each person.

CATTLE ADD TO FARM INCOME.

Help Much in Corn Belt, Says Department of Agriculture.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Investigation has convinced the department of agriculture experts that cattle generally add to the farm income in the corn belt. Although direct profit from raising calves is said to be small, other factors are declared to make it highly advantageous. The inquiry was a part of the department's general study of the meat situation.

Keeping of live stock is recommended particularly on farms that have large quantities of cheap roughage or that have land that best can be used as pasture.

MILFORD HOMES ARE ENTERED BY ROBBERS

They Were Frightened From One Residence and Then Entered Another.

Milford, Ind., July 21.—Within a few minutes after being driven away from the home of Mrs. Catherine Bartholomew, two men entered the residence of Milton Groves, where they secured $10 in money. After entering the Bartholomew home they were heard by a daughter of Mrs. Bartholomew, who frightened them away before any valuables were taken.

They walked about one-half block down the street and entered the Groves home and after searching a clothes closet they secured $10, which had been placed in some old clothing. Members of the Groves family heard them prowling about the house and summoned the night policeman. When he arrived on the scene the men dashed from the house and ran north along the interurban track.

He built a house fourteen inches square, two stories high with an attic that has ten rooms seven inches square, each accommodating the male and female and two youngsters, the latter now being old enough to leave the home. The first year there was a scarcity of birds, but this year the home is crowded to the utmost, and Wednesday evening 82 martins that could not gain admission to the home were perched upon the electric light wires near the home until the sun went down and they left for some roosting place.

DAILY BIBLE READINGS FOR THE HOME

1 Corinthians 6:1-8.

1. Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and do not before the saints?

2. Do ye not know that the saints shall judge the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters?

3. Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?

4. If then ye have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them to judge who are least esteemed in the church.

5. I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren?

6. But brother goeth to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers.

7. Now therefore there is utterly a fault among you, because ye go to law one with another. Why do ye not rather take wrong? Why do ye not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded?

8. Nay, ye do wrong, and defraud, and that your brethren.

Jesus' teaching is stronger than Paul's, and remember who Jesus was. He not only taught His disciples to love their enemies, but he practiced what He preached. "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," was His prayer for those who nailed Him to the cross.

The Action of the Progressives.

There were but three hundred delegates in attendance at the Indiana progressive state convention, but there can be no questioning of either their enthusiasm, which was in inverse ratio to numerical representation, or their fidelity to the principles which four years ago led them to sever old party ties and align in a new movement for the governmental program which they believed to be right.

Nor is it to be assumed that the party strength on voting day is to be correctly gauged by the showing at the convention. That there have been wholesale desertions of the moosers' cause is everywhere recognized, but that the party has either passed out of existence or has lost its fighting spirit is disproven by the courageous and determined course of the Indiana leaders.

They have adopted a state platform and placed in nomination a complete state ticket. They have preserved the integrity of the party in Indiana, and the effect will be to give heart anew to thousands of Indiana progressive voters who have been literally stunned by the attempt of many of their original leaders to deliver them over to Mr. Hughes. They do not expect to win, but they have given splendid emphasis to the courage of their convictions and of fidelity to the tenents of their party faith. They are demonstrating the fact that they are enlisted in a cause, and are not to be accounted as mere blind followers of a personal idol who has toppled from the pedestal upon which he was once enshrined.

Those Farm Loan Bonds.

Interest in the new rural credits bill, just signed by President Wilson is not confined to agricultural sections. There is one side of the land loan act which must interest the small investor of the city as well as the country.

This is the provision made for issues of farm loan bonds in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, in series of not less than $50,000. Farm loan bonds are to be exempt from taxation and are to bear interest not to exceed 5 per cent.

The law provides for the formation of local farm loan associations composed of prospective borrowers. Each association is to have a limited liability for the loans made its members, therefore each will assure itself of the character of its security. The farm loan bonds are to be issued against the collective security of all the real estate on which the individual loans are made. It is therefore expected that they will prove desirable investments.

The bond of small denomination is approved by experienced financiers as a means of increasing the working capital of the country. There is a certain financial romance in bond buying which many persons do not find in a savings account, and it is reckoned that small sums which are usually wasted will seek an find satisfactory investment in farm loan bonds.

The rural credits bill will operate under the treasury department. Its machinery will be set in motion a soon as the president has appointed and the senate approved the appointment of the four members of the board who will co-operate with the secretary of the treasury.

Repeated complaints continue to reach The Sentinel regarding the practice of autoists in turning South Calhoun street into a speedway during the evening hours. Scarcely an evening passes but that from one to a dozen narrow ecapes from accidents are reported from this section, and citizens there declare it unsafe for pedestrians to attempt to cross the street after 8 o'clock in the evening on account of motorists who seize upon the long stretch of straight-away street near the suburbs to put their machines at top speed. There is opportunity here for the police department to teach an impressive and very valuable lesson by making a few arrests under the anti-speeding laws.

It is said that at least half a hundred aspirants are already lined up in watchful waiting for the official shoes of Trutee Scherer, and that even this number is likely to be increased by the time the county commissioners take up the task of making an appointment to the Wayne township place. History is merely repeating itself. In every crisis this land of the free is always able to produce the man of the hour, and in the present instance a good many of him appear to be conveniently near enough to be quickly summoned in case he is needed.

The refusal of the war department to permit Indiana regiments to preserve the state historical sequence in numbering, is perhaps a bit rough on st..te sentiment, but it in no wise adversely affects the fighting qualities of the Hoosier lads who have been called to border duty.

Meanwhile, a list of eminent Indiana republicans are now engaged in rehearsing the rather difficult role of taking back most of the things they have been saying about Mr. Beveridge in the past four years.

LEATHERLESS SHOES A REALITY.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The extent to which substitutes are taking the place of leather is the striking feature shown at the National Shoe and Leather Fair now being held in Boston. The war has precipitated an enormous demand on a leather supply that was none too ample. The automobile industry has added very materially to the leather requirements of the country. The problem rapidly was becoming very perplexing with no apparent likelihood of improvement, when the manufacturers of substitutes took a hand.

Manufacturers report that they are finding ready sale in Cuba and some other Latin-American countries for shoes in which there is very little leather. The artificial leather is cheaper than the genuine, which is one feature that appeals to customers in the Caribbean and South America. Some of the fibers that are being utilized in the manufacture of imitation leather are said to be very durable. It is contended that one artificial sole material is being turned out that is superior to leather.

The display is interesting to those who had feared what might be the ultimate result of continued increase in demand and decrease in supply of leather. It serves further to illustrate the old adage that necessity is the mother of invention. While leather dealers have no fear that the demand for their product will disappear, or be seriously diminished, even they are pleased with the progress that is being made along the line of producing satisfactory substitutes.

Bad Accident at Barbee Lake

Warsaw, Ind., July 20.—While fishing in a high wind yesterday Mr. Strawbridge lost his hat and in trying to save it knocked his eyeglasses into seventy feet of water. AIN'T NATURE WONDERFUL?

Unnatural History, by Eugene Ahern.

THE CURLY WOLF.

You've seen this goof, Alonzo. You know, he's the noisy clever guy that wears his hat on his ear. Well, that's all right, Carl, any place will do for the hat. You couldn't exactly call it a head, could'st one? Anyhow a soft hat would be more appropriate to match up with this head.

This is the simp that stands on a corner with a crowd, or at the beach, or park, and makes cute, clever remarks when the frails go by.

He stands with his hands in his pockets, every move a picture, rattling what is supposed to be coins, but in reality are stock-room keys.

He has his legs far apart like a thoroughbred horse and when a doll comes tripping along, he spills something clever like this: "Oh! how do you do!—in a case like that, George?"

Then he'll snap his fingers and do some soft shoe dancing. Yes, Neil, Italy is the only place where they don't believe in capital punishment.

FAVORS PUBLICITY OF INCOME TAX RETURNS

BY BASIL M. MANLY.

Washington, July 21.—"I never could see any sense in keeping the income tax returns secret, any more than any other tax!"

So declares Senator John Sharp Williams, chairman of the sub-committee of the senate committee on finance, which has just been appointed to consider the income and inheritance taxes. The other members of this sub-committee are Senators Gore and James.

The endorsement by Senator Williams of publicity for the income tax returns is worth that of any other two senators not only because of the position that he occupies as the democrat in charge of the income tax bill in the senate, but also because he is one of the majority leaders and one of the strongest debaters in the United States senate.

Senator Williams said he thought the rates in the Kitchin bill were about right, although he had not given them thorough consideration. When it was pointed out that the Kitchin bill increases the rate on incomes of from $3,000 to $20,000, a whole 100 per cent, and only increases the super tax on incomes over $500,000 60 per cent, Senator Williams said:

"Well, percentages are dangerous things to fool with. This may be like the case of the orator that pointed to the great republican achievements in Mississippi, because the republican vote had increased 200 per cent, and when they looked up the facts they found that it had—it had increased from 2 to 6! The main thing to look at in this Kitchin bill is that it takes six times as large a proportion of the millionaires' income as it does of the income of the man making $5,000 a year."

SNAPSHOTS AGAIN.

I sigh and shudder strangely, and sometimes I hold my breath, for of the happy summertime I'm frightened half to death. The summer is the season when the deadly snapshot fan is taking pictures of his house, his barn, and garbage can. He's taking pictures of his car, his baby and his wife, and he'll be showing them to friends throughout his pesky life. He'll get a mighty album, and he'll take a trip to Maine, and then to hear him talk awhile you'd think he'd been to Spain. He'll pack his album down to work and show it off next fall until w'll have to tell him that he'd better rent a hall. He'll lecture on those snapshots far into the autumn nights; he'll show us pictures of the lakes, the bay, the Northern Lights, and photos of his cousin's pal, supposing all the time that all this stuff appeals to us, and makes our lives sublime.

The only way to fight a fan who goes on snapshot tours is just to get an album full and loudly show him yours! —Charles B. Driscoll.

MEET THE TEMPERATURE HALF WAY.

"Keep cool," "Don't get so hot," we say to an angry man, thus showing that we know very well the relation between temperature and temper.

And we take it for granted that children are going to get cross in hot weather. And they do but it is usually some adult's fault.

But they are only reducing their temperature instinctively. They are only doing for themselves in the easiest and handiest way what their guardians should manage in a better way—if they can find one.

In July the demand for little white coffins is heavier than in any other month of the year. Humanity would fall in a valiant and conquering way if parents would take care to meet the temperature half way.

Don't be afraid that if you take off the children's petticoats they are going to take cold. Unless they are already below the normal physically, and ready to catch anything, the children will have a hard time taking cold when the thermometer climbs above 90.

Make it a rule that they may go barefoot in the hottest hours of the day. Put on sandals if the premises are not assuredly raked nail clean.

Let the small folks, even the baby, have plenty of cool but not iced water.

The offensive is supposed to have the advantage of any battle. It is good strategy, therefore, to meet any hot spell in a valiant and conquering way.

DECLARES WILSON RIGHT ON MEXICO

LaFollette Asks Hughes Not to Put U. S. Flag Behind Speculators.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Continuing his sensational speech on the naval bill in the senate, Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, a radical republican, unqualifiedly indorsed President Wilson's Mexican policy and predicted the president would be re-elected in November if that policy is made the chief issue of the campaign.

The out and out declaration of the republican senator for the policy of the democratic president toward Mexico was elicited by an inquiry from Senator Lewis, of Illinois. Interrupting LaFollette, Senator Lewis said:

"I understand that the senator approves the policy of President Wilson in not entering upon a course of military intervention in Mexico under the circumstances?"

Voices Plea to Hughes.

"I do, I do most emphatically," answered LaFollette decisively. "I sincerely hope that the standard bearer of the republican party in this campaign will not feel himself constrained and will not under any circumstances take the position that it is the duty of this government to put the flag of the United States behind the investments of speculators in Mexico or elsewhere.

"President Wilson declared in his speech at Detroit that he would not stand for that policy, that he would not 'become the collecting agent of investors in Mexico.' The American people, if that issue is made between the republican candidate for the presidency and President Wilson, will, in my opinion, overwhelmingly stand with President Wilson."

Recalls Vera Cruz.

"I should like to ask," inquired Senator Norris, "in connection with the senator's idea that the army should not be used in Mexico for the benefit of speculators, whether he believes that the army or the navy of the United States should be used in Mexico for the purpose of having some discredited bandit salute the American flag?"

"No," most emphatically no!" said Senator LaFollette, "and I was one of a very limited number of senators who voted against indorsing President Wilson when he ordered the troops to Vera Cruz. I could not bring myself to do it. I did not believe it was warranted. I know perfectly well, I am satisfied in my mind, that the matter of the salute to the American flag had nothing to do with the ordering of the troops to Vera Cruz. Why, Mexico at that time offered to fire a salute to the American flag."

AUSTRIA ASKS FOR FURTHER DETAILS

Washington, July 21.—The state department today received from Austria-Hungary, through Ambassador Penfield, at Vienna, a request for additional details regarding the attack by an Austrian submarine upon the American tank steamer Petrolite.

Mr. Penfield's dispatch gave no indication as to whether the Vienna government intended to comply with the American demands for an apology, punishment of the submarine commander and reparation for the damage done by the submarine's shell fire.

Officials of the department declined to divulge the nature of the information sought on the ground that negotiations at this time were confidential. A reply will go forward shortly.

The Austrian claim has been that the submarine commander fired on the Petrolite by mistake and that later the master of the tanker voluntarily furnished the submarine with provisions. The Petrolite captain swears, however, that he was shelled without provocation and compelled over vigorous protests, to surrender a part of his supplies which were sufficient only to take him to port.

TEXAS GIRLS FORM MILITIA COMPANY

Forty Young Society Women Are First to Organize at Fort Worth.

Fort Worth, Texas, July 20.—With frivolity cast aside, forty young society women, all earnestly and seriously interested, gathered at Lieut. Kate Lahane's residence and organized Fort Worth's first company of girls' militia as a branch of the Girls' National Honor Guard, one of the first to be organized in Texas.

Representatives of four young women's clubs were present, bringing with them enlistments of all the girls in their respective organizations. When the girls from these organizations are finally enlisted in person the company will have a roster of eighty members.

Contrary to the ancient tradition, a majority of the interested young women were present when "assembly" was sounded and but two or three were tardy in making their appearance.

After the company was mustered in Lieutenant Lahane spoke briefly on the purposes of the organization and outlined the three branches of service.

The one thing that probably caused the most enthusiasm was the announcement that a training camp will be organized within the near future and will be held in Galveston. The camp will be conducted along the same lines as those which prevailed at Chevy Chase, Washington, and will be attended by all girls who are members of the organization in Texas.

Lieutenant Lehane was able to announce that she has been appointed a member of the staff which will command at the Galveston encampment, and promised that Fort Worth members would not be overlooked in any detail.

TENNIS FOR THE BEGINNERS

(The second of a series on tennis posed especially for The Sentinel by Miss Florence A. Ballin, of Bryn Mawr college, the 1916 sensation of tennis, hockey and basketball star.)

In selecting your racquet get one weighing about 13 ounces, for a heavier one will quickly tire the forearm and slow up play. Pay particular attention to the size of the grip and see that it has a comfortable handle. If your hands perspire wind the handle with tape as a firm grip cannot be had unless the handle is dry.

Grip the racquet at the extreme end, resting the butt against the palm of the hand. Girls who grab the handle half way up never are able to control the ball. At first this may seem awkward, but you'll soon become accustomed to it.

In gripping for the forehand stroke close the hand around the handle with the thumb across. A firmer grip is required for the backhand. Here you move the thumb out parallel with the pressing against the handle.

If you grip the handle with the same firmness throughout the whole game you will tire. Relax the grip between strokes and close firmly only when you swing for the ball.

The foot fault is a part of the game to be avoided. In serving rest the weight on the right foot, with the balls in your left hand and the racquet swinging at your right side. Study the position of your opponent, toss the ball in the air, swing the racquet down hard on the ball and at the same time going forward with the body so you will end the stroke resting on your left foot.

Thus you will add the weight of your body to the strength of your arm. Be sure you are perfectly balanced before serving.

EXPERIMENTS MADE TO FIND MALARIA CURE

Exhaustive Investigations to Be Made in Arkansas for Two Years.

Little Rock, Ark., July 21.—Investigation of malaria being conducted at Crossett and Lake Village by the state board of health, the United States public health service and the international health board are to be the most exhaustive and systematic ever prosecuted.

Near Lake Village four groups of tenant houses along the shores of Lake Chicot were chosen for the experiments, which are to extend over a period of two years.

In Group A, the houses are perfectly screened and quinine administered. In Group B, the houses are screened, but no quinine is administered, and in Group C, the program is just reversed, quinine being administered but no effort being made toward screening. In the fourth group there is neither screening nor the administration of quinine.

Strict account is being kept of the illnesses in the four groups, the cost of treating the cases, the loss of time from work, and the cost, in the first three, of the preventive measures. At the end of two years the comparison will demonstrate the results of screening and administration of quinine, and the cost compared to the price paid for not preventing the malarial mosquito from pursuing its activity.

BANK EMPLOYE VACATIONS—WHY.

Comptroller Williams Would Examine Books During Their Absence.

Washington, July 21.—Because most national bank defalcations are by employes retained on a single set of books continually, Comptroller Williams is trying to induce all banks to grant yearly vacations so that records may be examined during the employe's absence. Many small banking institutions do not allow annual leave, it was discovered by replies to a query in the latest call for bank statements. The comptroller said today that he was interested primarily in preventing falsifying of records and embezzlement by this means, rather than in exercising a paternal supervision of employes' welfare.

FOSTER'S

IN POLONAISE EFFECT

COULD anything be softer and cooler for the hot summer days than this frock of printed voile, which is made in polonaise effect. While the voile is well covered with a design, it does not allow itself to grow tiresome, but takes unto itself an underslip of white organdie. This is visible from the neck to the hem in front and acts as an underskirt beneath the rest of the frock. A puffed band and a frill of the organdie are used successfully to outline the waist and scalloped bottom of the overskirt. Since lavender is the prevailing color of the voile, velvet ribbon of the same color is used to encircle the waist as far as the front panel of white and to fall in streamers. Fine tucks, lace and organdie are combined to form a collar, which falls into a deep point in back.

Surely this pattern should prove helpful to one contemplating the combination of two materials to form a frock.

TRIMMING YOUR HAT

WOMEN are more impressed than ever this season with the fact that the scantier the trimming the better looking is the hat. This knowledge makes it possible for them to buy their own smart shapes at nominal cost and trim them at a correspondingly low expense. The vogue of hand painting on hats proves very economical for the girl who has a supply of paints on hand. However, the girl who can't do the work has the opportunity of using ribbons showing splashy floral designs.

There is a stunning hat of black lisere which is trimmed solely with a crown of stub ostrich confined by a band of narrow black velvet ribbon. Any one could copy it for less than half the price asked for it.

The felt hats which are gaining so much prominence show either a band of ribbon as trimming, or around the crown at intervals embroidered medallions are tacked. Others have heavy white wool couched down on the brim. The smartest of sports hats show a lavish use of worsted trimmings, so that the woman who is handy with her needle can add individual touches to her hats.

In spite of the glaring sun there are occasions in the middle of summer when the small hat is a necessity. A very effective and simple way to trim one of the round, small, close-fitting hats is to tack one long quill around the top of the crown, along the edge.

If the novice at hat trimming will observe the rule of pinning all trimming before sewing it, her success is almost certain. The pins can be easily readjusted until the trimming is placed at the most becoming angle.

FASHIONGRAMS

AN ADAPTABLE sports veil has a wide border of very wide vertical stripes. This border may be allowed to hang around the shoulders when the veil is draped to a large hat, or may encircle a small toque, or be draped gracefully at the back of a sports hat. The veil is a white silk mesh and the border is chiffon with stripes of sports colorings.

SUMMER BEDSPREADS

SOMETHING cool, in spreads, you say? Yes, indeed, there are plenty of summery spreads to be had. Dimity and dotted swiss are especially good and can be had made up very simply to insure successful laundering, with deep ruffles to finish the hangover. Some have dainty flower sprays in delicate colors.

Other spreads, made in more substantial materials use bleached or unbleached muslin, of cotton poplin. One set is especially pretty. It has an embroidered design in colors, which fits the center of the spread, with sprays to outline the edge. With those you can have envelope pillow cases with a spray to effectively outline the flap.

To get the effect of grandmother's quilt without the work that grandmother had one can buy a spread that has an ornate design of purple or pink grapes, with graceful green leaves printed in bright colors.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Protecting the Face

How can I make a bathing cap to protect the face? Would you make a brim to it? The only trouble is that it is in the way when swimming. N. B.

Why not make a detachable brim to the bathing cap, of rubberized silk, satin or taffeta sewed on a wire frame and bound with silk tape? This can be worn over the colored cap on the beach and detached when you wish to bathe.

Summer Wrap

I notice in the shops that they are selling summer wraps made of white chiffon. I have some white silk net. Would that be appropriate? How would you trim it?

ESTELLE.

The silk net would be very good. Make the wrap rather full, and finish, if you wish, with a triple cape collar. The edge of the wrap and the collar as well as the sleeves may be finished with a marabou in white or colors, or else a ribbon quilling may be used.

A NOVEL COLLAR

AMONG the newest collars is one which has been given the name vestal, because of its resemblance to the collars worn by nuns of a particular order. Of course, the broad opening in the front and the use of the ribbon modifies the model so that it is quite different from its original inspiration. There is a noticeable use of black ribbon, either satin or taffeta, on many of the new collars. A collar of this type worn on a smart one-piece frock would add to its attractiveness and give it a charming prim coyness.

Collars of this design can be procured in velvet and satin. When made of the latter materials they are lined with silk or flowered chiffon.

SIR SAMUEL VINDICATED.

Ottawa, July 21.—Sir Samuel Hughes, minister of militia, is held by the Patriotic fund royal commission innocent for responsibility for the negotiations of government fuse contracts with American munition manufacturers from which they were alleged to have unduly profited. The members of the commission were unanimous.

Serge and Silk Continue Popular

BY BETTY BROWN.

It's so practical and proper in the matter of style the serge-and-silk suit is likely to remain forever. It is perfect for traveling.

But there are new variations, as this sketch from Fashion Art League of America will show.

The skirt has a flare that suggests hoops; the long hip point of the coat and the rolling collar is worth noting as it is much in favor.

JAPAN NOW MAKING SPORTS REQUISITES

London, June 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The facility of the Japanese in turning successfully to the various forms of highly skilled manufacturers is illustrated by samples received of their work in making sports requisites. They have made a beginning with tennis racquets and footballs, but soon are expected to be able to provide a complete outfit for the golfer, the cricketer and the angler.

News of the new efforts of the Japanese in the latter lines is of especial interest to the English, who have regarded them as peculiarly their own. As one newspaper points out, however, in reflecting the general view here, "nothing calling for ingenuity and subtle craftsmanship seems to be impossible with our eastern ally." In the trade some polite opposition to the new invasion, however, may be discerned. Thus one expert points to the fact that football is absolutely a British game and British manufacturers are able to provide all that is required in the line.

One dealer in sporting goods waxed enthusiastic over a tennis racquet from Japan at $1.82, declaring that the value and workmanship were marvelous. It was the highest price of the Japanese products, ranging from sixty cents to $1.82.

"They are going about it just as the Germans did, and their cleverness and cheap labor are fast bringing them to the top," he said. "There seems to be nothing they cannot copy and copy well." The same dealer called attention to the fact that the Japanese are getting away from the "Japanese touch" or earmark of their goods, pointing out that while formerly one could tell at a glance that a thing was Japanese, now the finish is such that it might be German, French or that of any other country.

GIVEN MODEST TOTAL OF FIFTEEN NAMES

Son of Heir to Austro-Hungarian Throne is Well Supplied.

Vienna, June 25.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The latest son of the heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne was formally christened with great pomp at Schoenbrunn on June 8, and given the modest total of fifteen names to carry.

The young man probably will be called Felix for short, but officially he is now Archduke Felix, Frederick August, Maria vom Siege, Francis Joseph, Peter, Karl, Anton, Robert, Otto, Pius, Michael, Benedict Sebastian, Ignatius, Marcus d'Aviano.

His sponsor or godfather was King Frederick August, of Saxony, who made a special trip to Vienna from Dresden. As representative of the godmother there officiated Countess Lucchesi-Palli, nee Princess of Parma. The solemn service in the Maria Therese room of the palace at Schoenbrunn was conducted by Cardinal and Princely Bishop Dr. Piffl.

Archduke Felix was brought in to the great room by the Countess Thun, with the king of Saxony following close behind. He lay wrapped in silks, on a silken pillow, quite contentedly as the formal questions and answers were spoken, and disturbed the ceremony not at all by crying.

The witnesses included the emperor, Francis Joseph, but the baby's father, Karl Francis Joseph, was absent in the field. He has not as yet seen his son.

B. A. Clark, dead at seventy-five, in Ashtabula, O., was a double in appearance of J. Wilkes Booth, assassin of Lincoln.

Any Plaid Will Do, Says Betty Brown

BY BETTY BROWN.

And now her sports coat comes in plaids—Scotch plaids and cubist plaid, any plaid will do, if the colors are gay enough.

THE DRESSED-UP CHILD WEARS MUCH BLACK VELVET RIBBON.

BY BETTY BROWN.

If you would be truly, really stylish and dressed up this summer you must—if you are a small person—have a touch of black velvet on your dress.

It's just as quaint and old-fashioned as it sounds, but nevertheless pretty, as you will see from this picture of the child in velvet trimmed frock.

The dress is Roman striped handkerchief linen with the velvet bands set on the shoulder sleeves and banding the bottom of the skirt. Flat little bows are tacked on every six inches or so. The big poke bonnet of fine straw shows the trend of fashion, for most little girls will be bonneted this season—and the saucy bonnet streamers are black velvet!

TWO BARNS STRUCK.

Lightning Does Some Damage in Allen County Thursday.

Two barns were struck by lightning Thursday afternoon in Allen county. The big barn on the Rapp farm, five miles from the city on the Huntington road, was burned to the ground, a cow and two calves, the only live stock in the stable at the time, being consumed. The total loss will approximate $1,000, with no insurance to cover it.

A barn on the Kammeyer farm on the upper Huntington road, was also struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The season's crop of hay was destroyed, together with the farm implements. The farm was rented by Louis Rapp.

WELCOME SIGN HUNG OUT FOR BEVERIDGE

Indianapolis, July 21.—The Star this morning prints expressions from a number of prominent Indiana republicans over the return of ex-Senator Beveridge, one of the most prominent figures in the progressive movement, to the republican party. Some of the expressions follow:

Charles W. Fairbanks—"It is with great pleasure I observe Senator Beveridge's purpose to support Mr. Hughes. It must have a very favorable influence upon the progressive vote in Indiana and elsewhere."

Will H. Hays—"We are of course immensely pleased that Senator Beveridge will support our candidate. It is a source of satisfaction to all well-wishers of good government that his great ability will be directed to that end. He is essentially a constructionist, and in the important campaign before us and the crisis of the next four years, his aid will be invaluable. The solution of the entire matter is certainly now a question of patriotism and Senator Beveridge has taken the only course consistent with his known ideals, his real Americanism and his habit of thought and action as a constructionist and not an obstructionist. Republicans welcome him again to their fighting force, where he so certainly belongs, and where he has striven so well, just as they are welcoming the hundreds of other patriotic Indianians who voted other tickets in 1912 and 1914, but who are now aiding so splendidly in an effort for the victory which means so much for the country's future."

James E. Watson—"That Albert J. Beveridge is a thorough student of public affairs will be acknowledged by all; that he is a most accomplished orator will be disputed by none. Nor will it be denied in any quarter that he has a large and earnest following in Indiana and throughout the land. These elements of personal and political strength make his advocacy of any cause most desirable and I am heartily glad that he has announced his intention of supporting the republican ticket in this campaign."

Harry S. New—"I am very glad indeed to see Mr. Beveridge back, and knew that he will be of great value and assistance to the republican party in the next campaign. He will take an active part in the election of Mr. Hughes and the general republican ticket. I had no doubt but that such a move would be forthcoming at the proper time. The progressive party accomplished that purpose for which it was organized and has long since ceased to be a real factor in the field. This fact has been recognized by its real leaders, Mr. Roosevelt and others. Mr. Beveridge's help will be valuable and his return to the party will be welcomed. I am heartily glad to see him back."

William Dudley Foulke—"Of course we are glad to know that Beveridge will be with us for Hughes in this campaign. For myself I never doubted this a moment. He has always the faculty of acting on the right side of important questions. No one should have thought it possible he could support such a weather-vane as Wilson, backed by such a pork-barrel party as now controls congress nor ought any one else do this who realizes the fatal consequences which may follow the unpreparedness into which they have suffered the country to remain so long by their silly pacifisms while the whole world was tumbling about our heads. Hughes' record is straight and he ought to have the support of all patriotic men."

Will R. Wood—"Beveridge supporting Hughes signifies that the most ultra-progressives who really stood for principles in their own party are satisfied that the republican platform and candidates now stand for the best interests of our country. He should be commended for his action."

WILSON IN PERSONAL APPEAL FOR POLAND

Washington, July 21.—Personal messages were sent by President Wilson today to European rulers uring their cooperation in getting food supplies from the United States to the starving people of Poland.

Efforts in the same direction sent through the state department to the foreign offices of the countries involved have met with failure. The president desires that France, Great Britain and Russia allow the passage of the foodstuffs and that Germany and Austria-Hungary guarantee that the food will be given to the civilian population and not seized by the army of occupation.

PREDICTS HIGHER YIELD.

Crop Returns from Kansas Indicate Early Estimates Too Low.

Topeka, Kan., July 21.—Based on threshing returns from a number of counties of the state, J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture, today predicted that the state yield of wheat may exceed his previous estimate of ninety million bushels.

With a tremendous corn acreage, 8,990,000 acres, the report shows the condition for the state indicates 75 per cent of a full yield.

The yield of oats is indicated at 21.6 bushels to the acre, or a crop of 32,000,000 bushels.

The quality of the wheat this year is much better than in 1915, Secretary Mohler says.

WASHINGTON WILL MAKE NO COMMENT

Mexican Version Not Identical With Official Carranza Note.

Washington, July 21.—While it was admitted at the state department today that a note had been received from the de facto government of Mexico under date of July 11, proposing the appointment of a joint commission to settle borment of a joint commission to settle borment upon the statement given out at Mexico City last night purporting to present the text of the communication.

It was learned from an authoritative source, however, that the Mexico City text, though substantially similar, is not identical with that presented by Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate.

Mr. Arredondo saw Acting Secretary Polk before the latter went to today's cabinet meeting. The general impression prevailed that a tentative agreement has been reached along the general lines of the Mexican proposal, although the scope of the discussion may differ somewhat from the suggestions of the Carranza note.

It was indicated after the cabinet meeting that no statement could be expected today. Mr. Polk's only comment was to reiterate that the negotiations were "progressing favorably." He is understood to have told Mr. Arredondo that he is not prepared to give a reply to the Mexican note.

War department officials today interpreted the action of Gen. Calles, the Carranza commander in Sonora, in returning the Nacozari railroad to American managements, indicating a favorable change of sentiment on the part of the Mexican military officials on the western part of the border.

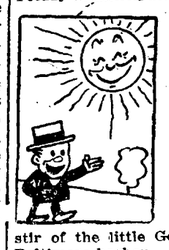
WEATHER ALSO WAITS DEUTSCHLAND DIVE

Heat of Prohibition Convention Did Not Carry as Far as Ft. Wayne



Even the weather hung breathless Friday in anticipation of the hazardous plunge of the brave Deutschland it seemed. There was a pause in the fretful program of burning days and black thunder storms which gave the weatherman to understand that the elements were also pausing to listen for the first stir of the little German craft in the Baltimore harbor.

The hottest part of the day only boosted the thermometer to 83 degrees. Heat of the prohibition convention did not carry as far as Fort Wayne. The coolest part of the day was shortly before sunrise and was 72 degrees.

The future looks as regular as the present congress session. It may be a little warmer Saturday. Sunday should be fair.

FINDS ARMY CAMPS IN EXCELLENT CONDITION

Maj. Gen. Bliss in Report on Guardsmen's Camps in Texas.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Another report today from Major General Bliss to the war department on his inspection of national guard camps on the Mexican border said he found the encampments at Llano Grande, Donna, Mercedes and Harlingen, Texas, in an excellent state of health, with sanitary condition ranging from good to excellent. The dispatch follows:

"Finished inspection of Minnesota and Indiana infantry brigades and two regiments of Nebraska infantry and auxiliary troops from these states, all stationed at Llano Grande and portions of Texas infantry brigade stationed at Donna, Mercedes and Harlingen. With the exception of one Indiana regiment which was in shelter tents the troops inspected today are comfortably sheltered. The large tents for this regiment are coming by express today.

"Command is in excellent state of health, the sick report being practically negligible. Camp water supply system at Llano Grande is nearly completed. The water at all stations inspected is of excellent quality. Sanitary conditions of the poorer camps in this respect is being rapidly improved.

"All officers and men interviewed by me stated that the rations are abundant in quantity, excellent in quality and of suitable variety. General spirit of contentment the same as indicated in my previous telegram."

DISTRICT ATTORNEY WILL TAKE A HAND

Doctor and Druggist Under Arrest at Terre Haute Under Drug Law.

Terre Haute, Ind., July 21.—It was stated here today that United States District Attorney L. Ert Slack would appear here Saturday in the cases against Dr. B. F. Patton, a physician, and Harry C. Randall, a druggist, arrested last night by United States marshals, charged with violations of the federal law and conspiracy. The date for the hearing of the men before the United States commissioner here will be set at that time.

The men were arrested on affidavits sworn out by Harry Wallace, a deputy revenue collector, and the charge is in two counts. The first charges Dr. Patton with illegally issuing a prescription calling for morphine unmixed with other drugs, and Randel with filling the prescription. Both men engaged attorneys today and issued statements denying any criminal intent, although Dr. Patton admitted writing the prescription in the course, he said of his treatment of the drug user, in attempting a cure.

HEAT EXPANSION WRECKS STREET

Bridge is Damaged When Sun Causes Pavement to Blow Up.

"The Clinton street bridge is falling down," was the message police received over the telephone at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. Mayor Hosey, City Engineer Randall, Frank Singrey and Henry Hilgeman, of the board of works, and two patrolmen hastened to the scene in the board of works automobile.

They found the street across the top of the bridge blocked by a heap of bricks, much resembling the crest of battle breastworks. Continued heat wave of the past week and the beating sun Friday had caused the bricks in the street to expand until they could no longer fit together in order. The street blew up with a bang which startled pedestrians for half a square from the bridge. The sharp report had caused some one to think the bridge was wrecked.

The bricks, which had been thrown into the air when the strain along the ridge became too great, were piled in disorder across the bridge. Superintendent of Streets Strodel was ordered to have the bridge repaired at once. Two lines of brick will be taken out in order to take up the slack from the expansion. Layers of elastic coating will be placed between the bricks.

Mathewson signed the contract after a short conference with President August Herrmann, of the local club. Neither Herrmann or Matty would say what the terms were. The New York contracts with Outfielder Rousch and Infielder McKeechnie, who were obtained by Cincinnati in the trade for Mathewson, were assumed by the local club. Rousch has a one year contract and McKeechnie for two years. Mathewson will take charge of the Reds in the game with Philadelphia this afternoon.

VILLA PERSONALLY DIRECTING FIGHT

Gen. Pershing Sends Confirmation of the Previous Reports.

San Antonio, July 21.—Corroboration of the reports that Francisco Villa is personally directing a campaign that has for its immediate object the capture of Torreon was contained in a report from Gen. Pershing to Gen. Funston today. The message, which was filed yesterday at Columbus, appeared to have been written the day before.

Information that had reached Gen Pershing at that time was that Villa had 1,800 men with him and was planning an attack on Torreon. He referred to the defeat on June 30 of the Carranza forces at Corralitos, placing the casualties at 300. He added that it had been definitely ascertained that Villa was still suffering from the wound in his right leg. No orders have been sent to Gen. Pershing to resume operations against Villa.

MORAL DEFEAT FOR BANDIT.

Failure at Parral Causes Villa to Lose Prestige.

El Paso, Texas, July 21.—Passengers arriving here today from Parral say that Villa's ineffectual attempt to take that town a week ago Sunday was a far greater moral than military defeat, so far as the bandit's cause is concerned.

Before the attack Villa was regarded with awe by the populace of the Parral district, the arrivals said, but now the natives pride themselves on their loyalty to the de facto government. They also are proud of their part in humiliating the bandit leader. The shipment of 250,000 rounds of small arms ammunition from Columbus to the punitive force, which gave rise to sensational rumors here, is explained today by the military authorities as merely the usual supply for target practice.

Rumors to the effect that Gen. Pershing intends to move south and re-occupy Namiquipa and other abandoned points, have been current here, but they find no support among the army men or government officials.

BULL CHASES MOTOR CAR INTO A FIELD

Infuriated Animal Doesn't Take Kindly to the Automobile.

Federalsburg, Md., July 21.—Twiford Williams, a farmer living near here, had a thrilling experience with an infuriated bull. Williams ran his motor car into a field to look over the bull, which he was contemplating buying. The bull became frightened at the machine and made a dash for it. Williams quickly turned on all the power the car contained and the machine shot away at a 50-mile-an-hour clip, but when it reached the gate leading out of the field Williams could not make the turn at such high speed.

The bull chased him around the field repeatedly and made desperate attempts to head off the car, but Williams, by carefully manipulating the steering wheel, managed to elude the beast, which finally became tired and gave the frightened man a chance to escape through the gate.

"WEEDS MUST DIE," SAYS MAYOR HOSEY

"Have Ruled City Commons Long Enough" He Declares in Order to Police

Unrelenting war was declared on weeds by Mayor Hosey Friday. His sweeping ultimatum says that the noxious, germ-gatherers are to be slaughtered everywhere that they raise their dust-begrimed heads along alleyways and about vacant houses. If property owners do not cut their weeds before the week end they willl be prosecuted.

Police were ordered to arrest all property owners on whose land weeds are growing. There is an ordinance providing a fine for the offense and Mayor Hosey says he will only insist on the enforcing of the law. He has made both the board of works and board of health responsible for weed cutting in Fort Wayne.

"Now is the logical time to cut the weeds short," Hosey said. "Early in the spring there is little use to cut them for they grow out again. Now there will be little growth this fall. I expect no delay in having all weeds cut. There will be no partiality. Those who neglect their weed cutting need not be surprised when they face Judge Kerr."

SAYS PARTY BREACH IS HEALING RAPIDLY

Bridgehampton, N. Y., July 21.—Charles E. Hughes today told callers that he considered the break between republicans and progressives and between republican factions in various localities to be healing fast and that he looked forward with gratification to having a virtually reunited party behind him by the time his campaign opens in Detroit, August 7.

No attempt was being made to bring pressure on progressives to join the working forces for his election, Mr. Hughes said, the program being to appeal to their judgment. Nearly every one, the nominee added, seemed to be responsive to the sentiment of the necessity for co-operation. The republican party he continued had a perfectly straight and clear course to steer; it wanted to crowd no one, to urge no one to join it, but to appeal to all.

Mr. Hughes expressed the opinion that the situation in Illinois and other places where republican and progressive leaders supported him were in process of adjusting differences of opinon was a relatively minor phase of the national situation that probably had been accepted and unquestionably would be settled permanently.

VICTIM OF PLAGUE IN CRITICAL STATE

Physicians hold out little hopes of recovery for the eight-year-old victim of infantile paralysis in Fort Wayne. The child is Berlina Suttles, colored, 1217 Thayer street. The left side of the little sufferer is completely paralyzed. Her throat is contracted so that it is necessary to furnish her with nourishment through a tube. Fever is raging.

Strict quarantine has been maintained since Thursday afternoon, when Drs. H. O. Bruggeman and J. H. Gilpin, representing the city health board, assured themselves that the case was one of the dread disease. Members of the family are not allowed to leave the house.

Dr. J. Frank Dinnen is attending the case. Financial condition of the family will not enable them to engage continued medical service. Dr. Dinnen is doing all in his power for the girl. All he can do is not very much, he states, as science has evolved no strenuous methods for the strange plague.

Dr. Tinkham First Called.

Dr. M. W. Tinkham was first called on the case. That was Wednesday. The girl had been ill for two days, Dr. Tinkham was told. He found the child partially paralyzed. The girl complained of intense pain on the right side of her neck, at the base of the brain. Her spine was also affected. Dr. Tinkham said he was convinced at once that the patient was suffering from infantile paralysis and he summoned Drs. Gilpin and Bruggeman. Dr. Gilpin says there can be no question about the disease. He doubts if the girl will survive.

No other cases have shown up in the city. Parents of the Suttles girl can think of no association with children coming from eastern cities from whom the disease might have been contracted. They have no idea where germs of the disease were picked up. The child has not suffered from a fall lately, which sometimes is given as a direct cause.

Other Families Frightened.

The Suttle family lives at the juncture of Thayer and Oliver streets, near the Pennsylvania railroad. Other families living in the neighborhood are frantic since the nature of the girl's illness has been posted and a quarantine sign tacked on the door. Families living as far as two squares away have sent their children to other parts of Fort Wayne to stay with relatives for several days.

Dr. Gilpin thinks that her case will be safeguarded sufficiently that there will be little danger of a general outbreak in the city.

Members of the health board are continuing their practice of attending trains which may bring families from New York and other infested eastern cities into Fort Wayne.

No Improvement at Garrett.

The condition of Margaret, the fourteen-months-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. G. Bloedel at Garrett, still remains very critical and no hopes are entertained for the child's recovery. A strict quarantine of the Bloedel home is being maintained.

Colonel Foster Just Refused to Be Scared

(From the Indianapolis News).

Although D. N. Foster, of Fort Wayne, admitted that he was a candidate on the republican state ticket for contingent elector-at-large, he refused to vacate his seat as a member of the progressive convention committee on credentials Wednesday night, even after he had been requested to leave and had been expelled from membership. Threats were made to call a policeman and put him out, but even this did not worry him. He had anchored himself to his chair.

Only two men had attended the Twelfth district delegates' meeting at the state house earlier in the evening. They were Foster and R. W. Vaughn, of Auburn. They did not organize a meeting, nor elect a chairman. The two decided that Vaughn should be a member of the resolutions committee and Foster should go on the credentials committee.

Foster Not "Scared."

At the committee meeting, Will Newsom, of Elizabethtown, asked Foster if it were true that he was a candidate on the republican ticket for contingent elector. Foster said it was true. A growl ran around the room, and Newsom moved that Foster be requested to resign from the committee, and that if he refused to leave, he should be ejected by force.

Foster's hair and whiskers bristled when he heard the motion.

"Oh, now, gentlemen," he said, "I did not fight three or four years for Uncle Sam to be scared by any man. I am going to stay right here. I was elected by the unanimous vote of the Twelfth district meeting, and here I am."

Motion Changed.

Newsom's motion was split, and the forcible ejectment part was dropped. The first part was carried. Still Foster refused to get out. Thomas A. Daily, of Indianapolis, urged that a policeman be called to eject Foster, but this was not done. But Daily made a motion, which was carried, that Foster be expelled as a member of the committee and that his credentials as a delegate to the state convention be canceled, but Foster remained, and voted on every question as long as the committee was in session. Foster said he was for Hughes and that he was opposed to a state ticket.

F. E. Watson, of Goldsmith, in the Ninth district, voted with Foster all the way through. He voted against the motions to oust him. All other members voted for the motions to oust and cancel and fire and dump and all the rest.

Spooning in Court Room.

There was much excitement in the DeKalb circuit court this week, all because a pair of lovers were seen spooning in the court room while court was in session. The Auburn Star tells about it in the following language:

"The loving, confiding attitude of the two couples on the rear seats attracted the attention of the sober judge on the bench and soon the members of the jury caught sight of the attractive picture and lost the thread of the argument the lawyers were making. The pretty picture lasted until court adjourned for the noon hour. The court house is a sympathetic place for spooning."

NOTED AUTHORITY WRITES OF SHARKS

Washington, July 21.—The tragic depredations of man-eating sharks along the Atlantic seaboard lend an especially timely interest to a communication from Dr. Hugh M. Smith, the foremost American authority on fishes, addressed to the National Geographic society and released today as a bulletin.

"When giant fishes are mentioned most people will at once think of the shark, among which, indeed, are found the largest fish now existing," writes Mr. Smith. "Of the many species of sharks noteworthy on account of their size there are about half a dozen which are prominent. These differ much in their disposition, some being as harmless as doves and others the incarnation of ferocity.

"The sleeper shark (Sommiesus microcephalos), whose scientific name fits it so admirably, appears to have developed its body at the expense of its brain, for it is a sluggish, stupid glutton, about six times as long as an average man At home in the Arctic regions it sometimes makes visits as far south as Cape Cod, the British Isles and Oregon. It is most often observed lying quietly on the surface, apparently dozing and easily approached, but at times, when hungry, it rouses itself and fiercely attacks whales, biting huge pieces out of their sides and tails, and when feeding on the carcass of a whale which has been killed by hunters it is so voracious that it permits spears and knives to be thrust into it without seeming to take any notice.

"One of the most prodigious and perhaps the most formidable of sharks is the 'man-eater' (Carcharodon carcharias). It roams through all temperate and tropical seas and everywhere is an object of dread. Its maximum length is 40 feet and its teeth are three inches long. While there are few authentic instances of sharks attacking human beings (prior to the recent tragedies), there have undoubtedly been many cases where sharks simply swallowed people who had fallen overboard, just as they would swallow any other food. How easy it would be for a man-eater to devour a person whole may be judged from the finding of an entire hundred-pound sea-lion in the stomach of a 30-foot shark on the California coast. A certain man-eater 36 1-2 feet long had jaws 20 inches wide, inside measure, and teeth 2 1-2 inches long. This may have been the 'great fish' of the scripture narrative, and it is possible that at that time much larger man-eaters existed than are now known, as shark teeth with cutting edges five inches long have been found on the sea-bottom and these are believed by naturalists to have belonged to sharks not long dead. The phosphate beds of South Carolina yield very large fossil teeth of a shark which was related to the man-eater of the present day, judging from the comparative size of these teeth. Prof. Goode thought that sharks 70 or 80 feet long must have been common.

"Many years ago a Norwegian bishop in a learned paper brought to the attention of the scientific and theological worlds a shark which he attempted to prove must have been the 'great fish' that swallowed Jonah. This was the basking shark (Cetorhinus maximus), known also as the elephant or bone shark, which is an inhabitant of the polar seas, but occasionally strays as far south as Virginia and California, and in former years was not rare in the United States and British coasts. The species has the habit at times of collecting in schools at the surface and basking in the sun with its back partly out of water. It reaches a maximum length of 50 feet and is exceeded in size by only three or four animals extant. Provided with small teeth, it feeds on fishes and floating crustaceans, and is not of a ferocious disposition. It is dangerous only by virtue of its great bulk and when attacked its powerful tail easily demolishes boats. In former years the basking shark was hunted for its oil on the coast of Norway and Ireland; it was also harpooned on the shore of Massachusetts in the early part of the last century, and as many as 12 barrels of oil were sometimes obtained from the liver of one shark. There are many records of basking sharks 25 to 38 feet long from the coast of New York, Massachusetts and Maine, but the species has not been common in our waters in recent years.

"The largest of all fishes, the largest of all cold-blooded animals, and the largest of all existing animals, with the exception of a few species of whales, is the whale shark (Rhineodon typicus), originally described from Good Hope but now known from India, Japan, South America, Panama, California, and various other spots. The species is stated to attain a length of 70 feet and is known to exceed 50 feet. Notwithstanding its immense size, however, it is harmless to man unless attacked, and feeds on the small creatures for which its teeth are adapted. Years ago it was reported that the sperm-whale fishermen at the island of Saint Denis, in the Indian ocean, dreaded to harpoon a whale shark by mistake, and stories are told of a harpooned fish, 'having by a lightning-like dive exhausted the supply of rope which had been accidentally fastened to the boat, dived deeper still, and so pulled a pirogue and crew to the bottom.'"

BY LEON STARMONT.

Piedras Negras, Coahuila, Mexico, July 20.—Senorita Oralia Salinas y Carranza has gone to Monterey to forget a certain gringo.

She is a niece of First Chief Carranza, and he is Sherwood Moe, son of a wealthy resident of Gary, Ind., and brother of the pretty senorita's college chum at Notre Dame.

A few days ago Senorita Oralia danced with glee and read to her brother Alberto's wife this telegram:

"Will be in Piedras Negras in July.
"SHERWOOD."

A few days later Senors Alberto Salinas y Carranza read this headline in La Democrata of Piedras Negras:

"EL PRESIDENTE WILSON YA HA LLAMADO LOS SOLDADOS DE LOS ESTADOS!"

"President Wilson has called out the state militia," remarked the senora to the senorita. "Pues! Didn't you tell me your Senor Moe was a member of the state militia?"

"Yes," said Senorita Oralia, "yes."

And then a thought struck her, and her face flushed.

"If that be true, my cousin, Sherwood Moe, will be in Piedras Negras!" she exclaimed. "Well, he will be lucky if he reaches Piedras Negras—and he won't meet me!"

So this will explain to Mr. Moe why he is persona non grata just now with the senorita—although he didn't expect to be called out and really he didn't mean it that way at all.

"Just think!" said Senorita Oralia to her sister-in-law, "he might come here to shoot down Alberto—my brother—your husband; the wretch! Will be in Piedras Negras in July. Well, I'll just bet he won't!"

Alberto, the brother, is chief of the Mexican army aviation corps and a graduate of St. John's Military academy, near Syracuse, N. Y.

This is not the only international romance threatened by the possibility of war. All through the border states are families that will be split if war comes—brothers residing in the Texas or New Mexico national guard while another brother's sympathy is with Mexico. And many are the Mexican girls in the United States torn by love for their native land and for some tall "Yanqui" in the border state militia, who may be called upon to slay some of those dear to her.

NO MAINTENANCE EXPENSE IN HARRISON HILL

One of the details of the plans for Harrison Hill, the new addition located in the angle formed by Calhoun street and Rudisill boulevard, which is worthy of consideration from all promoters of new additions, is the provision for five years' maintenance of the property. This provision not only includes the cutting of weeds of vacant lots, but the clearing of snow from the walks in the winter, and many prospective purchasers of lots for immediate building have been attracted to Harrison Hill through their appreciation of this feature.

Despite the fact that this feature as well as the scores of others which are unique to this addition, Harrison Hill lots are not sold at prices that could be considered as high. The price of $22 per front foot prevails throughout the addition and can be regarded as reasonable when you realize the features included in this price. Other details concerning this tract may be secured from Hilgemann & Schaaf, North American building.

SHAVE ONLY THING THIS BURGLAR TOOK

Chicago, Ill., July 20.—A collection of stiff, red whiskers is the only clew to Windsor park's baffling burglar mystery.

Mrs. Martin Lynch locked all the doors and windows when she left her home the other afternoon and went down to the beach. When she got back three hours later the house was in disorder. There were marks of a jimmy on one of the back windows.

Mrs. Lynch rushed to her bedroom and opened her jewel case. Nothing missing. She rushed to the dining room and jerked out the drawers of the silver chest. Nothing missing. She rushed to the library, she rushed to the bathroom and—

The floor was strewn with towels. The wash bowl was dirty. The walls were splashed. Mr. Martin's shaving kit was out. And on his shaving stand were the shorn remnants of a stiff, red beard.

The burglar took nothing but a shave. South Chicago detectives would thank some one for an explanation. So would Mr. Lynch.

Bullet-Proof Hotel Rooms the Latest

Now come bullet-proof bedrooms!

With red ink on the hotel stationery he shouts to the world the comforting message that his guests' anatomies are safe from perforation while they slumber at this hotel.

It is a safety first idea all right, and the progressive proprietor believes his preparedness will save him many dollars which ordinarily would be paid out in damage suits to guests injured by bullets from bandits' guns.

WITH DUM-DUM BULLETS.

Anderson Police Frustrate Robbery of Two Stores by Arrest.

Anderson, Ind., July 21.—The police frustrated the robbery of two local stores when they arrested Howard Hartzell, who was found to have in his possession a flashlight, automobile key, pair of knucks and a 32-caliber revolver loaded with dum-dum bullets. The police claim that Hartzell has confessed that he an danother boy planned to rob two local stores, steal an automobile and make a get-away.

Quickly adjusted molds for concrete steps have been patented by a Missouri inventor.

KILLS FOUR, THEN HIMSELF.

Newark, N. J., July 21.—Four passersby in the street opposite his locksmith shop were shot and seriously wounded here last night by Salvatore Castronova, 54, an inventor, who had gone suddenly insane, before he set fire to his clothing and burned to death.

Armed with four revolvers and a double-barreled shotgun, Castronova shot into the street until policemen began firing at him through the windows on the second floor of the building in which he lived.

Red Oak, Iowa, July 21.—The special grand jury called to investigate the alleged connection of William Mansfield with the Villisca axe murders, finished its work today and refused to indict Mansfield.

EVERYTHING READY FOR BIG EXCURSION

Final Arrangements Made for Box Company Employe's Outing.

Final arrangements have been completed for the Fort Wayne Box company excursion to Detroit tomorrow, and if present indications can be taken as a criterion, it will attract one of the greatest crowds that have ever left the city on a trip of this kind. Irman Ruf is the head of the committee which has the affair in charge and no pains have been spared to make the excursion a success. The first train will leave this city at 5 o'clock and will be followed by the second section after an interval of fifteen minutes.

One of the most enjoyable features of the trip for those who are contemplating a three day stay in Detroit will be the boat ride from Detroit to Buffalo. All the tickets for this trip have already been disposed of, and those who were not fortunate enough to secure them early will lose the opportunity of making this trip.

An arrangement which will surely meet with favor with those who are going on the excursion was made with the traction company, whereby special car service will be furnished on all the lines except the Jefferson short line. Cars will leave all terminals at 4:15, giving plenty of time to reach the Wabash station before the trains leave.

There has been a great demand for tickets during the past few days and it is thought that the crowd will reach a thousand people. The train, which returns to this city on Saturday night, will leave Detroit at 8:30, and that on Monday night at 6 o'clock.

DYE IS OUSTED AND DYER IS GIVEN PLACE

Indianapolis, Ind., July 21.—The progressive state convention yesterday ousted William Holton Dye as progressive national committeeman for Indiana and installed John Napier Dyer, of Vincennes, in his stead.

While the progressive convention was in session the faction opposing a state ticket held a meeting in a local hotel and put the finishing touches to the organization of the Progressive League of Indiana, an independent organization, which its members say will become a factor in the campaign. With very few exceptions, it is said, members of the league will support Charles E. Hughes for president.

AUTO BANDIT CLUB WORKING OVERTIME

Three more automobiles were reported to police Friday night to have been stolen in northwestern Ohio, since Thursday afternoon. One car was taken from a barn near Bluffton, O., fifty miles across the state border. The machine was followed by its tire marks in the road, for five miles. It came towards Fort Wayne. Police here were the first notified as it was believed that the automobile was brought to this city. The two other cars were stolen from Detroit and Toledo.

Fifteen machines have been reported to Fort Wayne police as having been stolen in this section of the country this week. Some of the postcards received bear names of small towns that police here never heard of before.

TOOK 151 BULLETS TO KILL BIG SHARK

Man-eating shark stories which Theodore Titus, 1306 Buchanan street, read in The Sentinel have brought Mr. Titus to bat with a story of a fish he saw while wintering in Miami, Fla., the past winter. Mr. Titus insists it is not a "fish story," but a story with a fish in it. As Mr. Titus has been a reader of The Sentinel for thirty years, Mr. Titus' fish story is welcome.

While in Miami, Mr. Titus saw a fish 45 feet long and weighing 30,000 pounds. It was caught near Knights Key, Fla., and required 39 hours in its catching. Five harpoons and 151 bullets were necessary to subdue the fish.

W. J. Bryan inspected the fish, calling it a curiosity, and it is preserved by the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, and the exhibit is recommended by it.

CRYPTIC MESSAGE IN BIBLICAL REFERENCE

New York, July 21.—A cryptic message by which an American missionary nurse in Turkey got information of famine and pestilence past the Turkish censor is described in a bulletin issued today by the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. The message written on the postcard follows:

"We shall very soon have to test the first part of the twentieth verse of the fifth chapter of Job and still sooner, even now, of the last of Psalm 91:3. What a blessing to have a God who is true and able. Lots of love to you all. Dr. Hamlin's famous mixture in demand here."

The first part of the twentieth verse of the fifth chapter of Job reads: "In famine He shall redeem thee from death."

The last part of the third verse of the ninety-first psalm follows the expression: "For He shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler," and it is added, "and from the noisome pestilence."

The mixture referred to is a medicine used in cholera cases. The board of commissioners interprets the reference to the mixture to mean that cholera is raging in that part of Turkey.

The board refers to the message as one of veiled allusions—veiled to the censors, but clear to us."

WEATHER CONDITIONS.

During the last 24 hours the Atlantic coast storm moved northeastward and is central near Boston this morning. The western high pressure area has extended southeastward over the Rocky mountain region, but its crest is still off the north Pacific coast. Showers have occurred quite generally in the sections to the eastward of the Mississippi river and in the west gulf states. The temperatures have not changed materially since Thursday morning. Fractionally normal temperatures prevail in southern and far western sections, but in the central valleys and lake region the weather is generally warmer than the seasonal average.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, July 21.—Recoveries in marines, the weak features of the preceding session, marked today's early dealings with strength in other specialties. Marine preferred soon rose three points, with one for the common and as much for the United Fruit. Industrial Alcohol advanced almost two, with a substantial fraction for Distillers. Munitions, equipments and motors were represented by Crucible, Lackawanna and Republic steels, Baldwin Locomotive, General Electric, Pressed Steel Car, Studebaker and Maxwells, all at improved prices. Continental Can and the zinc shares also showed upward tendencies. Rails were again dull but steady.
Except for a moderate setback due to profit taking, the list made further upward progress. Equipments and munitions were especially prominent, Crucible making an extreme gain of three, with 1½ to 2½ for the locomotives. Marine preferred dominated the market in point of activity but relinquished part of its rise with the common. Reading, with a small fractional advance, was almost the sole feature of the inactive rails. Coppers and other metals displayed greater activity and strength towards midday, with Mexicana and U. S. Steel Bonds were irregular.

SCHANG INJURED.

Philadelphia, July 21.—Walter H. Schang, left fielder of the Philadelphia Athletics, was seriously injured in the seventh inning of the first game with Chicago here Wednesday. In going after a foul fly, Schang stumbled over the low concrete coping in front of the left field seats and fell on his head. He was unconscious for some time and physicians fear that his skull may be fractured.
An X-ray examination of Schang's injuries showed that his jaw had been fractured and his shoulder badly bruised. He will be out of the game indefinitely as a result of the accident.

Gabet—Vachon.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. John's Catholic church at New Haven on Wednesday morning when Miss Teresa Vachon became the bride of Mr. Joseph Gabet, Rev. Father Wedieu officiating. Special music was rendered by the choir. Messrs. Robert and Leo Vachon were ushers. The bride was very beautiful in her gown of white satin and veil. She carried an arm bouquet of bride roses and swansonia blossoms. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Agnes Vachon, of Fort Wayne, who wore pink taffeta and carried a large bouquet of pink roses. Alphonso Vachon, of Bluffton, a brother to the bride, was groomsman. After the marriage ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Vachon and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roy and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Vachon and family, Henry Jordan, Lawrence Offerle, Clement Minnich, all of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vachon and family and John Schuler, of Sheldon; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nusbaumer, Mrs. J. J. Nusbaumer, grandmother of the bride, Misses Loretta and Agnes Nusbaumer, of Keystone, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vachon and family, of Smithville, Tex.

NETTING SUBMARINE AN IMPOSSIBLE FEAT

Experts Say Allies Could Not Catch Deutschland in That Manner.

By Frederick M. Kerby.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—The British and French have a right to drop submarine nets off the Atlantic coast outside the three-mile limit, to catch the German submarine merchantman Deutschland, when she starts on her return trip.

But they probably won't. It would be prohibitively expensive if not physically impossible.

Such is the view of state and navy department officials to whom I put the question.

"The belligerents may do anything they like outside the three-mile limit," said Frank L. Polk, acting secretary and solicitor of the state department.

"Can they drop floating mines?"

"Oh, no!"

"Aren't nets as dangerous to our own submarines?"

"We will worry about that when someone invents a net that can be placed and kept outside the three-mile limit!"

Franklin D. Roosevelt, assistant secretary of the navy, thinks it can't be done.

"A submarine can run under water 50 miles," he said. "Therefore it would be necessary to place nets 50 miles each way from the point of departure—100 miles in all.

"A battleship's torpedo net, which is like a submarine net, is 800 feet long and costs $75,000.

"At that rate a mile of net would cost $500,000, and 100 miles would cost fifty million dollars!

"Supposing cost to be no object, there isn't that much submarine net in the world, nor could it be manufactured!"

Japan's gold holdings now amount to $254,235,000. The bulk of this amount is kept abroad.

PAUL AT CORINTH.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 18:1-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace.—Acts 18:9.

I. Paul's Companions. (vv. 1-6.) Paul's coming to this city after his experiences in Athens is significant when we read I Cor. 2:1, 2. He found a home as usual at first among his Jewish countrymen. Aquila and Priscilla were not only fellow Christians but fellow craftsmen (v. 3). Paul supported himself, as Jesus did for 30 years, as a carpenter. This gave opportunity to reach the people naturally as one of them. At the same time he set them the example of doing good (I Cor. 10:31; I Cor. 9:6-12; II Thess. 2-9). Paul did not think it a lack of faith to do manual labor or secular work for his own support because God had called him to preach. In the midst of his labors (v. 5) Silas and Timothy came to him from Philippi and Berea. The Philippians had sent him aid and brought news of the abundant harvest of faith and love in that church. Paul was weak and sick and dejected in spirit (II Cor. 2:3), probably bodily sickness. He was also in want (II Cor. 11:9). As he meditated on the word, it had so got hold on him that he could not keep still. It overpowered him with [illegible] thought that Jesus was the Christ and that he must tell it out, but the Jews were not willing to receive his testimony. "They opposed themselves and blasphemed," (v. 6). The good news these helpers brought encouraged him in his conflict (v. 6).

II. Paul's Compulsion. (vv. 7-11). The opposition of the Jews did not prove his testimony to be untrue or that it had been unwisely presented, but rather it revealed the iniquity of the hearts of the men who were the religious leaders. To their faces Paul could exclaim, "I am clean," (v. 6). It is a great thing for any man to be able to say this, and it is the privilege of every believer (Acts 20:26). Then we can say with Paul: "I shrank not from declaring unto you the whole counsel of God." (R. V.) If we do not declare unto men the way of life, then their blood is upon us (Ezekiel 33:4, 8, 9), but are we indeed clean of the blood of all in our own homes, in our churches, in our Sunday school classes, in our communities and in the lands beyond the sea? This compulsion disconnected Paul from the false religionists of his day. "From henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles." The advantage of the house of Justus was (a) that the owner was a proselyte, not a born Jew. (b) The place was close to the synagogue so that his preaching would be a standing invitation to the Jews, and (c) Justus was evidently a Roman citizen, and Paul would gain access through him to the more educated people of the city. Moreover he would have greater advantage of the Romans than of the Jews for protection of the Christian converts. We do not infer that he left his lodgings in the home of Aquila and Priscilla nor ceased his work of tent making.

Paul's testimony after Athens was based only on the cross (I Cor. 2:1, 2) and it was that which turned "impure, sinful souls into pure brides whom he conducted to Christ," (See I Cor. 6:9-11). This vision kept Paul in the city where he founded one of his strongest classes (vv. 11, 18).

III. Paul's Contest, (vv. 12-17). Gallio, the brother of Seneca, listened to the charges, but threw the accusations out of court (vv. 14, 15). Sir William Ramsey calls this decision the "charter of Christian freedom." Freedom of religious speech was granted over the entire Roman empire so far as Roman authorities were concerned, and the door was open for Paul to make his way throughout the civilized world. Thus we have further evidence that all of Corinth was no match for Christ. The Lord had people there who must be called by the spoken word, and Paul was the one to speak the word. The Lord only allows us to be hurt when both we and the work can be helped thereby. He never really allows us to be hurt (Rom. 8:13; Isaiah 54:17). Christian workers in this land are confronting the same Corinthian evils in every great city; intemperance, crime, graft, dishonesty, white slavery, oppression of the poor and other works of the flesh.

It is the business of every preacher and Christian to pray and teach and work and live to save men from these evils and to convert them to righteousness.

There are also Corinthian evils in the heart, and in order to overcome them we must put on the whole armor of God, and be filled with the Spirit of Christ.

Summary: At Corinth Paul worked at his trade, converted his fellow workmen, preached to Jews and Gentiles, founded a strong church, wrote letters to the Thessalonians, had two helpers, Silas and Timothy, accepted aid from the Philippians, received a vision in the night from God, was delivered by the Roman governor, stayed nearly two years and used the city as a strategic center.

CAVES AS HIDING PLACES FOR CANNON

Warfare in Mountainous Land Brings Numerous Innovations.

Headquarters of the Italian Army in Austria, June 18.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The use of caves as hiding places for cannon is one of the curious aides to artillery work in these mountains. Both Austrian and Italian artillery officers have exercised the greatest ingenuity in finding the proper caves for their cannon, since once well located the pieces are comparatively safe from discovery. The damage done on both sides by such hidden pieces has been severe.

On one occasion the correspondent of The Associated Press while near the Isonzo river witnessed an artillery duel between an Italian battery so hidden and three Austrian batteries which were seeking to protect the mouth of a cavern until an Austrian piece could be dragged into it. Several of the Italian regiments and those of the Austrians as well knocked off their daily business for a time to watch the duel.

The Austrians had for some days been attempting to plant a cannon in a cavern, the mouth of which was plainly visible from the Italian lines, but the Italian battery from its cavern on the opposite side of the Isonzo kept up such a hot fire day and night that the Austrians had not yet succeeded in their attempt. On this particular morning they had kept up a steady fire from several heavy guns on the Italian battery and, under cover of this fire, had almost dragged their piece, apparently one of 149 millimeter calibre, inside the cavern's mouth, a line of trenches having been thrown up to the mouth of the cavern to protect the soldiers dragging it.

As the piece was slowly turning inside the mouth of the cavern, the Austrian troops set up a mighty roar, mocking the Italians, throwing their caps high into the air. The Austrian cannon also threw shell after shell across the intervening valley of the Isonzo, each shell exploding seemingly at the mouth of the cavern used by the Italian battery or else inside it. One series of shell shots from an Austrian 305 exploded almost every two minutes about the Italians' hiding place, wreathing it in a dense smoke.

Just as the Austrian piece seemed at last to approach safety within the cavern, a shell from the Italian gun fell upon it, knocked it over, and scattered the soldiers pulling on its ropes and shoving on its blocks.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., Dreier Drug Co., D. & N. Pharmacy, The Family Drug Store and other leading druggists in this vicinity, sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each box.—Advertisement.

NOW PUTTING MOVIE THEATRE IN SALOON

London, June 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—"Movie" theaters in saloons are one of the innovations made by the government liquor board in its experiment in direct management of saloons in the south of Scotland and the north of England, where there are large munition making areas. Heavy drinking has necessitated the step. By remodeling and rebuilding these saloons the government hopes to increase the comfort of the workers.

The picture palaces—under the same roof as the saloons—are so arranged that the men who formerly frequented the saloons in search of amusement, will be able to take their wives, and whether they desire to have drinks or not matters little. The man who does not approve of saloons can find [illegible] set aside for the consumption of tea, coffee and other soft drinks. The theater will also be used for concerts and lectures.

The experiment is being watched critically, not by the liquor trade but by temperance reformers and prohibitionists. In Edinburgh for instance it has been noticed that the saloons in the experimental area had doubled their receipts since private control and management had been displaced by the government board, and the local religious leaders are contending that the more "model" and club-like a drinking-shop is made the more drink it will sell. Another criticism made by the reform element is that as the new model houses are understood to be exemplary they are not under the same strict police supervision as the ordinary saloons.

Pesky Bed Bugs

A MILLION BED BUGS. Just think, a 25c package of the new sudden chemical P. D. Q. (Pesky Devils' Quietus), is enough to make a quart and enough to kill a million bed bugs, no matter how large they may be, where they came from, their age, color or sex, and at the same time leaves a coating on their eggs and prevents hatching.

QUIT THEM OUT. This new chemical can be had at any first-class drug store. A 25c package makes a quart of P. D. Q. and will go further than a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer. Don't let anybody impose upon your intelligence by offering you something else. Insist on what you ask for, then you'll have what doctors prescribe.

KILLS FLEAS ON DOGS. It's fun to see the fleas drop off your pet dogs.

New York Dental Man Intends to Keep on Taking New Medicine Tanlac.

What J. H. Murray, well known employe of the New York Dental office, in this city, who lives at 125 East Tabor street, has to say about the celebrated new medicine, Tanlac, will prove of surprising interest to hundreds of people, for he has tried the Master Medicine and knows exactly what it can do for a person.

"I was bothered with inflammatory rheumatism in my limbs for three years," Mr. Murray said recently. "It was especially severe from the knees down. My limbs would itch and burn and become swollen, causing me severe pain. I was nervous and couldn't sleep at night. I was also troubled slightly with kidney trouble, experiencing occasional pains across the small of my back.

"I noticed a change in my condition four or five days after I started taking Tanlac. The pains gradually began to leave and now they are practically gone. I sleep fine at night now and the pains in my back are practically gone. I believe this one bottle of Tanlac has given me relief from my troubles. I want another bottle, however, as I intend to take this medicine for some time longer."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and has proven a fine tonic and system purifier.

Tanlac is now being specially introduced and explained in Fort Wayne at the four Meyer drug stores—Wayne and Calhoun streets, Calhoun and Columbia, 1420 Calhoun and Broadway and Taylor. —Advertisement.

LITTLE ATTENTION GIVEN AMERICAN NOTE

English Public Not Much Disturbed Over Mail Seizure Protest.

London, June 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Surprisingly little attention has been given in this country to the American note on seizures of the mails. When published in America only brief and rather exaggerated summaries were sent by the British correspondents. The note was published in full only by the Times on the nineteenth of June, several days after the American paper which printed it had arrived in England. On Saturday the foreign office issued the text as an official paper for publication on Tuesday (June 27th).

Almost the only important editorial reference to the note is made by the Economist in its issue of today. It points out that "owing to lack of information the public in this country has failed to understand the constant references by President Wilson and by leading newspapers in the United States to the question of 'Freedom of the Seas.'"

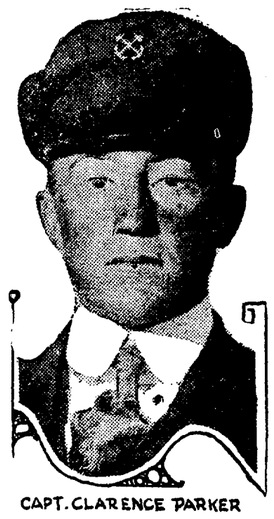
After quoting a large part of the note the Economist says:

"It will be seen that a good deal of feeling has been evinced, and that great care and discrimination are required in order not only to meet the susceptibilities of friendly neutrals, but also to avoid the establishment of precedents which, under different circumstances, we should not tolerate ourselves as neutrals in a future naval war. Supposing, for example, there were a war between Spain and Sweden, and the belligerents claimed the right to intercept mails between London and Paris or London and New York, and to open all private letters, would that pass? The summing up of the note is very strong. It declares that the rights of neutrals are as sacred as the rights of belligerents, and must be as strictly observed, and concludes: 'Only a radical change in the present British and French policy, restoring to the United States its full rights as a neutral power, will satisfy this government.' Fortunately we have an arbitration treaty with the United States, which Germany has not."

THE BEST DIARRHOEA MEDICINE.

"A customer came into my store the other day and said to one of my clerks, 'Have you anything that will cure diarrhoea?' and my clerk went and got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and said to him, 'If this does not cure you, I will not charge you a cent for it.' So he took it home and came back in a day or two and said it was the best medicine he ever used," writes J. H. Berry & Co., Salt Creek, Va. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Catches Monster Man-Eating Shark



CAPT. CLARENCE PARKER

Capt. Parker, of the Beach Haven, N. J., Yacht club, recently captured a monster man-eating shark weighing 400 pounds, and 10 feet in length. It was at Beach Haven that several bathers were bitten by sharks that are terrorizing folk all along the Atlantic coast.

Computing the population of European and Asiatic Russia at 180,000,000, and allowing five bushels a head for food and seed, the consumption of wheat in that region would amount to 900,000,000 bushels a year.

Every Picture Is Of Vital Interest. Watch For Next One.

Most people do not realize that tooth and hair brushes are breeding places for disease germs. Many a case of bad teeth and sickness can be traced to the use of an infected tooth brush, and many a bald head would have its natural supply of hair if it were not for the unsanitary hair brush. Brushes can easily be kept antiseptic by placing them at intervals in water containing a small quantity of Zonite, which is one of the most powerful germicides obtainable. There are 100 vital uses in every home for Zonite, fully explained in illustrated booklet with each bottle.

—COMPARISONS.—

Peroxide is known to have no germicidal value; Carbolic acid is poisonous and very dangerous; Creosote products have an offensive taste and odor, besides many are poisonous.

Zonite is more powerful than any of the above, yet has none of their disadvantages. Zonite is absolutely the most effective and practical antiseptic and disinfectant for household use, and has a wider scope of uses than ever before attained by any similar preparation. Zonite has no equal as a deodorant.

500 Pounds of Ice Free With Any of These Refrigerators

Almost everywhere you go to make a purchase you hear the same old phrase, "It's gone up on account of the war!" Merchants are all frank in admitting that they have been required to advance the prices of their wares because they have cost them a large percentage more than a year ago. Except where we have been foresighted enough to anticipate the advances we have paid advanced prices too. Refrigerators should be sold for almost 25 per cent. more. But during July we are going to experiment. Business is always dull in the furniture line then—and still we have to pay the same rent, light, clerk-hire and other costs. Instead of advancing the retail cost of Refrigerators in the same proportion as the wholesale cost has advanced, we believe that by keeping the price the same we can increase the total amount of our sales over what it would otherwise have been. As the total volume of our sales increases, the amount of rent, light, clerk-hire, etc., apportioned to each sale decreases. In this manner we justify these old prices on Refrigerators, and if the public is wise enough to take advantage of them—then our reasoning will be correct. If not, our reasoning fails and after July those who purchase Refrigerators will pay the advanced prices.

You can only get a general idea of the real value of these Refrigerators from the illustrations. To fully appreciate them, you will have to examine their construction and the minor details which pictures cannot show, but which are the points you should really consider in making a selection.

"Side Icer" Refrigerator As Pictured

As long as there is ice in these Refrigerators, a continuous stream of cold dry air flows over the contents of the food compartments, carrying away all the odors and removing all possibility of contamination. There is absolutely no chance of your milk or butter being flavored with odors from onions, fish or any other food that might be with them.

The rust-resisting tinned ware shelves are a feature seldom found except in the higher priced refrigerators. They can always be kept perfectly clean; they do not hinder a free circulation of air and they cannot absorb odors from food. Easy to clean by opening and reaching inside and washing off any dirt the ice may have left. Throw in a dipperful of clean water and the job is done.

CHANGES AT ARGOS.

Argos, Ind., July 21.—Postmaster Wickizer has been advised by the department of two changes to be made in the course of local rural routes, same to become effective August 1. Route twelve, L. B. Ervin, carrier, will continue west from the Jacob Galbraith corner direct to the J. C. Shaw corner, thence south one mile, east one and three-quarters miles and continuing north, east and otherwise as before. This change will accommodate seven or eight patrons, but removes the service about one-fourth mile from Harry White's home. Route thirteen, Isaiah Hess, driver, will turn west at the J. C. Shaw corner, continuing thence and otherwise as before.

Why a Book of these "A. B. A." cheques is the handiest way to carry Travel funds

American Bankers Association Cheques are readily accepted by hotels, railroad and steamship companies, and the best merchants. This makes them as convenient to use in payment of travel bills as coin or currency.

Another convenience is in the simplicity of identification. All that is necessary is the countersignature of the owner in the presence of the person accepting the cheques.

The compactness of a wallet containing convenient denominations of $10, $20, $50 and $100, makes the Cheques easy to carry.

They are the safest travel or emergency "money" also.

FORT WAYNE GIANTS TO PLAY BLACKBIRDS

Coveted Chance of Colored Team Has Come at Last Says Manager.

The Fort Wayne colored Giants, under the guidance of Manager Wilson, have received their coveted chance to play the Blackbirds at League park. The date of the game has not been decided as yet but will be made public in the near future. The Giants have been hot after Mart Cleary's bunch for some time and as many fans thought the Giants might give the Blackbirds a run for their money they took them up. Oliver Dupee will do a little loading for the game as they have star tossers in view at Indianapolis in the A. B. C.'s colored champions of Indiana.

MANAGER SPRINGER SMILES OVER LINE-UP

Chicago Nickel Plates Have List of the Best Semi-pros in Chicago.

Manager Springer, of the Chicago Nickel Plates, thinks he has a huge surprise stuck up his sleeve as he handed in his lineup last night, and thinks that it could clean the Cleveland Indians should they want an exhibition game. He is carrying thirteen men with him and they are all stars, having played ball long enough to know how to make things interesting.

EVANS CONGRATULATED BY LORD NORTHCLIFFE

Sends Note to Amreican Golfer on His Winning of National Title Again.

Chicago, July 21.—Charles (Chick) Evans, who recently won the national open golf championship at Minneapolis, today exhibited a note from Lord Northcliffe, editor of the London Times, congratulating him on his victory. The English editor wrote: "I cannot tell you with what pleasure the news of your victory was received in England. Some of us who are over 50, still play golf and I happened to be at a club when the news came of your splendid win. The members could not have been more delighted had the open championship been won by an Englishman over fighting age.

"Your bearing and conduct at Sandwich two years ago were recalled by all. Your extreme good temper in face of the extraordinary luck against you, made a marked impression."

Evans was a contender for the English championship at Sandwich two years ago.

GOTCH RESTING EASY.

Kenosha, Wis., July 21.—Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, is still at the Kenosha hospital as a result of his accident Tuesday, when he broke his leg. He will remain here indefinitely. His wife will join him here today. Gotch declared he was "hot, but comfortable," last night.

DODGE, WINNER AMERICAN DERBY, AND SCENE AT FINISH OF RACE.

(Staff Special.)

Chicago, July 21—Hawthorne racetrack, darkened for twelve years, is again the scene of the sport of kings. But it's a "betless meeting" which started a run of thirteen days and drew 25,000 to the opener when the bay colt Dodge, from the Weber and Ward stable, romped off with the American derby.

No money was flashed by the "insiders" but anyone who wanted to make a small wager on the horses could have his wish gratified provided he waited until he got downtown to get paid off and had his credit established.

For several days prior to the start of the meet the bookies were busy instructing their regular patrons how to bet at Hawthorne. They were told to establish their credit in advance, get O. K.'d on the amount of money they wanted to wager and carry credentials in the way of markers which will be totaled up after the day's program.

There were nearly 200 Pinkertons and deputy sheriffs present in charge of Sheriff Traeger, watching for betting and to see that no money passed.

One of the old-time bookies says there has been no more betting in Chicago during the meet than at any other time during the year.

"Men who bet on races get action today the same as any other day," he said. "If the Chicago meeting was not in progress they would wager just as they always do when the horses are running at Empire City, Fort Erie or Latonia. The local meeting simply makes it more interesting for the latter as it enables them to see their horses carrying their money."

Interest in the races slumped, however, after the first day and the fans fell off in numbers to such a marked degree that the management of the meeting is preparing to face a heavy loss.

Several sportively inclined patrons of the track have been taken by the police since the racing started.

SHAFER THROUGH WITH BASEBALL

New York, July 21—Tillie Shafer, former star infielder of the New York Giants, has quit baseball for good. He motored here from San Francisco, taking twenty-four days for the trip, and after viewing a double-header on the Polo grounds, declared he was through with the game.

"I went out on the field not long ago," said Shafer, "and tried to hit a ball. I would have met with greater success throwing handfuls of rice at the Pacific ocean."

Shafer quit the Giants when at the top of his form to enter the real estate business at Los Angeles.

A jockey named Goose rode four winners at Cincinnati the other day. It is obvious there is nothing in his name.

One Minute Talks with Ballplayers

DONIE BUSH, DETROIT TIGERS:

"Ty Cobb showed New York fans the other day why he is the wonder of the game and he did it without a moment's batting practice. Owing to a business engagement he didn't reach the Polo grounds until Detroit's half of the first inning was almost half over.

"Bernie Boland's name had been given to the umpires as that of Detroit's center fielder. Cobb went into the game without any batting practice and in the first half of the double-header got three hits in four times up.

"He drew two passes and busted a single in four trips to the plate in the second game. Ty finished the day with a .667 average. So you see this preparedness idea doesn't always work out."

GEORGE CUTSHAW, BROOKLYN DODGERS.

"I'll never forget one experience I had with an oculist after I got an eye in front of a batted ball. Naturally the bruise blackened frightfully. The club trainer was afraid the eye had been injured and sent me to an oculist who used a dozen instruments in looking at the lamp, then handed me a card on which he had written his verdict. It read:

"Sub-derman hemorrhage; Edema of upper and lower lid, especially marked at inner canthus which prevents normal separation of lids. Traumatic conjunctivitis. Vision unimpaired.

"I nearly fainted but rallied to ask if the eye was ruined forever.

"'No,' said the specialist, 'it's only a shiner. You can fix it with an application of raw beefsteak.'"

CITY CHAMPIONSHIP, THAT'S THE BIG IDEA

Cleary Plans to Hold Series at League Park After the Present Season.

The people can crab about the things of the world, about everything being so high and so forth, but when they come to sportmanship they all have to take off their hats to Mart Cleary, the hustling manager of the Blackbirds. Cleary is planning to pull off a big city series of all the teams of the city.

The winner of the series will be called the champions of the city and there will not be any dispute over who has the best team.

As there is a lot of fans for each team in town, the card should be a good one and draw a big delegation.

GIRL DRIVES TO RECORD.

MISS MINNEAPOLIS SPEED WORRIES SMITH

"Every speed boat owner knows what Miss Minneapolis can do. There is one prize they covet, and that is the gold challenge cup, for which they will compete at Detroit in September," says Smith.

"None of the other owners have sent their boats here, so of course I don't know what they can turn up now. If I did, and they were better than my boat, I could build a new one in a week to beat this one.

"You see, Miss Minneapolis is a well enough built boat that in spite of the terrific drilling to which she is put, she will last four or five years. I could build a lighter boat, good only for one race, that would make five to six miles more than this one."

Smith is in a quandary. He has, by his exhibition yesterday, when the hydro turned up 66.66 miles per hour, laid his cards face up. What the other fellows have he doesn't know.

Miss Minneapolis is given the attention of a millionaire baby. Immediately after her daily spin she is lifted from the water and laid in a cradle where a husky nurse, or watchman, sees that her rest is undisturbed.

The idea of taking her from the water is to keep her dry and light. The planking retains its life, while if water-soaked the wood becomes dead and reduces the speed.

GIANTS TO HAVE A BRAND NEW LINE-UP

Herzog to Play for First Time in a New York Uniform Today.

Chicago, July 21.—A new lineup will be presented by the New York Nationals in today's game with the Cubs at Weeghman park. Charles Herzog, former manager for Cincinnati, will be doing duty somewhere in the infield, while Christy Mathewson, former veteran pitcher for the Giants, will be holding Herzog's old position as manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Manager McGraw is expected to settle the matter of Herzog's exact location in the New York team upon his return from Cincinnati today. As soon as Fletcher is able to return to the lineup, Herzog, it is said, will be placed at his old station at third base, but may replace Doolin today. Mathewson left last night for Cincinnati after bidding his old teammates good-bye.

SPORT DOPE

Jimmy Dime's fighters are going to visit Australia. If they need any change while en tour they might hunt up the two Nickalls.

One slant at the headline which reads, "Sallee now a Giant," brings a laugh. Being's how he's 6 feet 3 inches on the hoof, "Sal" has been a giant for quite some spell.

The Red Sox were a bit blue after losing a double-header to the White Sox, but the Pale Hose turned purple after dropping two bargain bills.

Among the bangtails running at the Empire City track is a two-year-old entitled Marblehead. There is no truth in the report he was named after Mike Mowrey.

Speaker, Cobb and Jackson aren't the only American leaguers who are racing for batting honors. Klepfer, with a mark of .033 leads for the worst percentage, with Reb Russell clouting .049, and Russell, of New York, .067.

HORSE FROM SOUTH WINS CLASSIC EVENT

Cleveland, O., July 21.—Grand Chimes, from away down in Louisiana, tramped on the northern-bred trotters Thursday at North Randall and walked off with the Tavern steak, the first event raced under the Devereaux limitation plan on the 1916 Grand circuit. In winning, Grand Chimes proved himself to be one of the best trotters that has been uncovered this season.

The Tavern steak was rather an experiment. The field was limited to horses that had never beaten 2:14¼ or won more than $2,000 gross. The race developed into one of the grandest in the history of the event, and the time was just about as fast as it would have been if the Tavern had been a 2:10 trot, as in the second and third heats the time was better than 2:07.

The field in the Fasig open three-year-old trot narrowed down to three when the horses were called, and as two of them were members of Tommy Murphy's stable there was practically no selling, and it was the Murphy stable that got most of the money, with Adele Block, the third member of the race, getting third.

Maple Tree easily had the speed of the three, taking the first and third heats.

With Pop Geers watching from an automobile stationed at the upper draw gate, Dick McMahon took over the mount behind Pal Plexe in the 2:18 ace and proceeded to delight the famous old driver of the sulky by keeping the erratic son of Empire Direct on a pace long enough to win two heats and first money.

Azora Axworthy, the mare that won fifteen out of sixteen races on the twice-arounds, made her mile track debut in the 2:16 trot, going to the post a strong favorite. With Tommy Murphy having the mount, she simply trotted her field into the ground.

HONUS WAGNER GETS HIS 106TH HOMER

Hans Wagner, holder of diamond records galore during twenty-one years of big league ball, has added another mark to his string in the form of home run No. 106.

In 1897, the year after he enrolled in fast company, the Flying Dutchman made two circuit drives. The next season he poled eleven and from that on has unbuckled never less than five or six while in 1908 he made ten.

His total of 106 probably never will be equaled.

Baseball managers might do well to step up Jockey McTaggert for duty on the coaching lines. As a rider he's second to none.

"GIRL HE LEFT BEHIND" KEEPS UP SOLDIER HUSBAND'S LAW PRACTICE.

MRS. BORGMEIER IN LAW OFFICE AND BABY ALICE "PARTNER IN THE FIRM.

Chicago, July 21.—Mrs. Adolph J. Borgmeier knows no law, but she's keeping things moving in the law offices of her husband, a militia captain, who laid down his law books to follow the flag to the Mexican border.

By doing the clerical work, appearing in court to ask continuances of cases in which her husband is interested and "explaining the situation" to her husband's clients, Mrs. Borgmeier is making enough money to keep the three Borgmeier children from want.

Baby Alice is Mrs. Borgmeier's "partner" in the law office. The baby clings to her mother while the latter types letters. The other day mother and baby went to court and closed two unfinished divorce cases.

"Of course I can't practice law," says Mrs. Borgmeier, "but I'm a good collector of old bills and I can hold many of the clients by explaining the situation to them."

MAKE FINAL TEST ARMY OFFICERS TO

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Final tests of the Albertson gun, said to be powderless, noiseless, springless and non-chemical, will be made by army experts, soon, according to Dr. Albert C. Albertson, inventor of the war weapon for which marvelous qualities have been claimed.

DR. ALBERT C. ALBERTSON

"The mechanism operative in this machine is simple enough," says Dr. Albertson. "I have succeeded in harnessing centrifugal force for a purpose that may become decidedly in warfare. The first machine tested by army officers at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., received the commendation of General Wood."

The gun has the appearance of a wheel, according to the invertor. It has a quadrant attached for fixing the elevation of the projectile, and the wheel has a locking device for releasing a ball at any angle of the quadrant.

Dr. Albertson says the gun can plant fifty balls within a radius of six feet at a range of a mile and a half. He says three-pound balls will be used in the machine now under construction. The power is generated by a three horse power electric motor, and it is said it can be operated by a woman.

Mrs. Katheryn M. Stanton of Whiteside, L. I., helped to finance the inventor's enterprise.

DOING GOOD.

A woman can do a tremendous amount of good when she tries. Here is an instance and there are many such. Mrs. F. F. Smith, Gloversville, N. Y., writes: "I feel it my duty to write and tell you what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me and for many others that I have told about them. For over three years I have been troubled with my liver and have been under the doctor's care most of the time. I have tried many other medicines, but have not found anything that helped me as much as Chamberlain's Tablets." Obtainable everywhere. —Advertisement.

KOVEL IMPORTANT TO RUSSIAN CAUSE

Railroad Center Valuable from Its Strategic Position.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—The National Geographic society's war geography bulletin on Kovel, issued today in Washington, shows why this town in the Russian province of Volhynia is of such great value to the czar's forces. The bulletin says:

"Koval, a town of 30,000 people at the beginning of the war, owes its immense strategic importance to the fact that it is the junction point for railroads which radiate, like the spokes from the hub of a wheel, in five directions. To the northwest, seventy-seven miles distant, is the strongly fortified city of Brest-Litovsk, over whose possession there was a terrific struggle when the Germans were folding the Russians back through Poland after the first Slav drive early in the war. To the southeast, eighty-four miles away, is Rovno, a fortress with a population of 40,000 at the outbreak of the war and at that time the headquarters of the Eleventh Russian army corps. Lublin, with 65,000 inhabitants, running to Warsaw, 209 miles away, is 100 miles due west, on the railroad Then to the south is Vladimir Volynski, thirty-five miles distant, and to the east runs the line which passes through Sarni on its way to Kiev.

In addition to these railway connections, Kovel is situated on the banks of the Turiya, one of the tributaries of the Pripet river, whose extensive marshes lie to the north where forests cover the land. In the neighborhood of Kovel, however, agriculture is well developed and at the beginning of the war fully one-fourth of the land contiguous to the city was devoted to the production of cereal crops. The peasant farmers in the district of which Kovel is the capital, like those of Volhynia generally, are more fortunate than the peasants in most of the Russian provinces, for here they own nearly 50 per cent of the land.

"If the Russians continue their advance beyond Kovel they will soon be in the vicinity of the famous battlefield of Dubienka, almost due west, on the banks of the Bug and ten miles south of Dorochusk, a town on the Lublin-Kovel railroad. It was here that Kosciusko, at the head of 4,000 men with ten cannon, offered a heroic resistance to 18,000 Russians with sixty guns. After holding the superior force in check for five days, the hero of Dubienka retired unmolested to Warsaw. This brilliant achievement took place just nine years after a grateful American congress had offered its public thanks to this Polish artillery officer, conferred upon him the rank of brigadier general, extended him the privileges of American citizenship, and giving him landed estates in appreciation of his distinguished services to this country as adjutant to General Washington during the revolutionary war."

NEW BUILDINGS AT WINONA.

Winona Lake, Ind., July 21.—In connection with the prosperous season that the Winona assembly is now enjoying it is interesting to learn that two large public buildings will be erected on the grounds in the near future. A new auditorium that will set not less than 10,000 people was made possible at the last general conference of the Church of the Brethren. The other building was decided upon during the School of Missions, which met at Winona the latter part of June. The executive committee of this interdenominational school voted unanimously for a woman's building, which will be located at some convenient place on the grounds.

HEADACHE EVERY MORNING, CAN'T EAT, LIVER NOT ACTING?

Wineglassful of Tollo Water Will Start Your Liver and Stop Your Headache in Half an Hour.

Morning headaches come from clogged livers. The bile tubes are choked and force the bile into the blood until the whole system becomes poisoned, which makes the appetite poor, especially at breakfast.

Get a 15-cent bottle of Tollo Water from the drug store and take about a third of a tumberful in a glass of plain water before breakfast. In thirty minutes it will start the liver acting freely, your headache will be relieved at once, because it flushes out the bile, really bathes the liver, leaving it clean and fresh. Then you can eat breakfast and really enjoy it, and there won't be any gas or discomfort afterwards.

Concentrated Tollo Water comes from Dawson Springs, the famous Kentucky health resort. It does not act by irritation, like calomel and other strong drugs that weaken the system, but by dissolving the obstructions and bathing the liver as nature requires. To remove the bile that has been absorbed into the blood you should take a wineglassful every morning for several days. It will clear up the skin, your tongue will lose its furry coat and your natural healthy color will return. Then an occasional glass before breakfast will keep your liver clean, your bowels regular and your appetite good. —Advetisement.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

MOTHER OF 180 (CATS) DIES AT SEA.

Mary, mother of 180, is dead!

Mary was the American liner New York's famous cat whose progeny, presented to travelers by Capt. W. J. Roberts, are now in the best American and English homes.

Born on the New York in mid-ocean eight years ago, Mary became the favorite of thousands of first cabin passengers, and the idol of the New York's crew.

LITTLE YACHT ENDS 100,000-MILE TRIP

Reaches English Port After Two-Years Journey in Strange Seas

London, June 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The little 23-ton yacht "Mana" has arrived safely in an English port after a voyage of a hundred thousand miles. Belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Scoresby Routledge, the vessel left England over two years ago on a scientific mission to Easter Island, in the South Pacific.

The last stage of the little vessel's voyage was from San Francisco which she left five months ago. Altogether there were eleven persons on board, including two men from Pitcairn Island. Mr. Routledge had some interesting details of the voyage.

"After leaving San Francisco," he said, "we came down the Mexican coast. Two hundred miles from land we came upon three islands marked as uninhabited and I decided to land to try and get some meat. But our landing was delayed as the mouth of the cove was occupied by two whales who were feeding and who refused to move until the following day. On landing we found a rough shanty together with a derelict boat and alongside a rough cross evidently marking a grave. In a rift in a cliff we found a sort of cave strewn with old bottles and odds and ends of a camp. Nearby was a piece of wood bearing the names Annie Larsen, which I learned from a shipwrecked sailor who was on the yacht was the name of a vessel engaged in blockade running or contraband. There is no doubt that the remote island had been a dumping ground for Mexican revolutionists.

"There were so many turtles that we got tired of feeding on them. It was curious to see these creatures being regarded by the birds as a kind of floating island, and to see gulls preening themselves on the turtles' backs.

"The 'Mana' visited one small island in the Gulf of Panama, where elephantiasis was rampant among the people. The currents in this region were very difficult and there was one sailing ship that had been drifting in circles for thirteen months and had been unable to get out. The Panama canal was closed to traffic but the American government kindly allowed the 'Mana,' as the vessel of a scientific expedition, to go through.

"Some fifty miles from Jamaica we saw what appeared to be at first a burning ship and afterwards looked like smoke from a naval action. We found it to be a submarine volcano blowing off. The sea flow had been broken and we saw seas breaking in places where the chart showed no land. Under the circumstances no investigation was possible."

Made Him Duck

Everytime somebody came into the office, whenever he wanted to see the clock or look across the room, Mr. Busyman had to duck his head and look over his glasses. When a friend suggested Meigs' Kryptoks, the double glass without seams or lines, his troubles were over—now he sees better for distance and reads like olden times. Meigs, the eyesight specialist, Lyric Theater Bldg.—guarantees these time-savers. Let him fit your eyes today.

MOTION PICTURES REDUCING ARRESTS

New York Magistrate Says He Can See Beneficial Results.

New York, July 21.—One of the New York city magistrates recently said: "In the Second magistrate's district, which includes Queens, Brooklyn and Richmond boroughs in 1907, when the total population of these boroughs was 1,775,000, there were 16,000 arraignments for intoxication. Last year in the same district with a population of 2,267,625 there were only 8,382 arraignments for drunkenness. Every magistrate in this city is commenting upon this remarkable decreaso in intoxication. We magistrates agree in attributing this condition to education and to the publicity given by newspapers showing the general distrust of drinkers by employers, but principally to the moving picture theaters. The working man who formerly went to the saloons as the 'workingman's club' now goes to the picture show and takes his family. This is now the chief amusement of the workingman and not only the magistrates have noticed the effect upon the liquor traffic, but saloonkeepers themselves admit it."

The Better Films Movement.

Interest seems to be growing in a "Better Films Movement," which means, according to those who are sponsoring it, motion pictures which mother, father and children can see together with perfect satisfaction. The national board of review of motion pictures has given a big push to the movement by publishing its "Garden of American Motion Pictures." Nearly 2,500 films, all of which have been reviewed by the volunteers of the board and regarded by them as suitable for the family circle, are listed in the booklet.

Special Performance for Children.

The national board of review of motion pictures has a children's department which helps communities organize these performances and selects films which are especially good for children. Local women's organizations assist in getting the shows going, but they soon become financial successes when properly organized. The national board, which is located at 70 Fifth avenue, New York, writes that it will gladly advise and help any person or organization interested in the matter.

CADOMENE TABLETS LIFT YOU OVER THE WALL OF NERVOUS DISCONTENT AND WORRY

When the structures of the system are in perfect health they work without attracting attention or causing any alarm. The moment that any part of the system has become inefficient in functioning, or cries out in pain, then you know you have been attacked by nerve and tissue weakness.

You become conscious of an unnatural condition, your heart beats wildly after exertion or excitement, you suffer with nervous headaches, the nerves in the spinal cord, on account of their overtaxed, weakened condition, cause pains in the back, drawing at the base of the brain, irritability of temper, uneven mood, sleeplessness, cold clammy feeling, you lack will-power, energy and ambition.

Not only is the nervous system the seat of all intelligence, memory, reason or probably of the very soul itself, but every movement of the various structures of the body depends upon nerve action. Hence, when the nerves suffer from debility or weakness, trouble is instantly felt in one or more of the structures. It is the chronic lack or derangement of function of these various tissues of the body which causes so much alarm, discontent and unhappiness. Close examination may disclose no trace of disease or pain, but nerves and tissues may not be working properly. Like an engine with insufficient fuel, the full supply of nerve force is not forthcoming.

When CADOMENE TABLETS are directed to the nervous system the cause and origin of the disturbance is reached. By the tonic and nutritive action of Cadomene Tablets on the nerve and tissue cells every muscle, nerve and structure of the system are brought up to par and naturally restored to accomplish their normal work.

The mind brightens, muscular tone is increased, all the bodily functions are regulated, sleep is sound and undisturbed, and the excessive wretchedness of nerve and tissue weakness, discontent and worry are things of the past.

Obtain from any live druggist, in sealed tube, with full directions.

WHO'S GUILTY?

COPYRIGHT, 1916, BY MRS. WILSON WOODROW

BY MRS. WILSON WOODROW

NINTH STORY

The Weaker Strain

"In two things," he said, "I am a multimillionaire—in love and hope. As far as actual cash goes, I've nearly seven hundred dollars. As for prospects—a fairly efficient young architect ought to be able to pick up a living, even in a small up-state town like this. All I ask is a chance. And, some day or other, that chance is bound to come."

Perhaps a more mercenary girl than Laura would have hesitated a long time before linking her life to a man of such meager prospects. But Laura Belden was anything but mercenary.

So they were married.

They set up light housekeeping in a tiny house that Laura made very pretty and homelike. And Tom spent eight hours a day (in his cheap little office with its glaring new sign) waiting for the big orders that were to make him rich and famous.

The orders, it is true, seemed in no hurry to arrive. But Tom waited, hopefully. As for Laura, she outdid Tom himself in the art of hoping. It would not have surprised her at all to learn, any day, that her wonderful husband had secured a contract to design a cathedral; or at the very least a pork king's summer palace.

Meantime, Laura went on with the study of music, which she had taken up long before her marriage. She had a really unusual lyric soprano voice. And Professor Sargent, her teacher, prophesied a great career for her.

At last came Tom's longed-for "chance." A small office building was going up at the corner of Temple and Maple streets. And, among fifteen architects' bids for the job, Tom Price's was chosen.

He was radiant with delight.

One morning as the Prices sat at the breakfast table, Laura said, rather wistfully:

"You aren't the only member of this family who has a 'chance,' Tom. Only you can take advantage of yours. And I have to reject mine."

"What do you mean?" asked Tom, looking up, curiously, from some notes he was scribbling on the back of an envelope.

"Yesterday, when I went to Professor Sargent for my lesson," said Laura, "he made me a splendid offer. He wants me to go on a concert tour."

"Concert tour?" echoed Tom, frowning. "Nonsense!"

"I was afraid you'd say so," she sighed. "I told him you wouldn't allow me to. He was ever so disappointed. He said it was one opportunity in a thousand. You know Paul Legrand, the composer?"

"No," snapped Tom, "and I don't want to. He has a name for making love to every woman under fifty and over fifteen. I've no use for lady-killers."

"I mean," she corrected, "you know his work. You like his songs, too. Professor Sargent has given me dozens of them to learn. He says they fit my voice better than any others and that I sing them better than any other soprano."

"You sing everything better than anyone else can, little girl," put in Tom, "and—"

"And yesterday," continued Laura, "Mr. Legrand happened to be at the Sargent studio when I was taking my lesson. Professor Sargent made me sing several of his songs. And Mr. Legrand went wild over the way I sang them."

"The puppy!" grunted Tom. "Of course, he'd—"

"Then he called Professor Sargent aside," went on Laura, "and they whispered together for a long time. Then Professor Sargent came back to me and said that Mr. Legrand is planning to finance a concert tour to push the sale of his own songs and that he has been looking everywhere for the right soprano to sing them. As soon as he heard me, he decided no one can do justice to the songs as I can. And he wants me to make the tour. He's to play the accompaniments himself. The tour starts in two months. Oh, Tom," she finished, in childlike appeal, "can't I go? I want to, so much!"

Tom Price came around to his wife's side by the table. She had risen. He put his arms tenderly around her, as he made answer:

"Sweetheart, I feel like a brute, to refuse you anything in the world. And if it were really for your happiness, I wouldn't stand in your way for one moment. But it isn't, dear. The truly happy woman is the woman with a home and a husband of her own. Not the woman who must knock around the country on stuffy trains and sleep in cheap hotels, picking up a living as a singer or an actress."

"Just as you say, Tom," she agreed, meekly.

Laura looked from the window, watching until he was out of sight. Then she turned back to her household duties. She carried a heavy heart all morning, as she realized the hope she must throw away.

She carried a far heavier heart during the weeks that followed. For, at noon, Tom Price was brought home to her on a stretcher—senseless, inert, terribly injured. The ambulance surgeon, who escorted the stricken man, told Laura the story of the accident.

Tom had been standing on an upper-floor framework, watching the unloading of an elevatorful of brick and mortar when the elevator rope broke.

A workman who was still in the elevator had leaped for the scaffolding to save himself from a fall. Tom had sprung forward to catch him. The workman's convulsively outflung hands had dragged Tom from his precarious balance at the edge of the elevator shaft. Together, the two men had fallen to the ground floor.

Both had been picked up unconscious. Tom had recovered his senses long enough to whisper a demand that he be taken home instead of to the hospital.

The surgeon reported that Price's right leg had doubled under him in the fall, sustaining a compound fracture in two places. Also that he was a mass of contusions and abrasions and might perhaps be injured internally, as well.

Laura installed herself as assistant to the two trained nurses the family doctor brought. Specialists were called in to determine the extent of the internal hurts. And the dreary routine of sick-room life began.

The little nest egg in the savings bank melted as if it had been a snowball on a hot stove.

Two months had passed since the accident. Tom, fully dressed at last (but with his bandaged leg stuck straight before him on a bench and his crutches at his side), sat in the little living room of the flat. It was his first day outside his own room. And he glanced about him in perplexity.

"This room seems, somehow, changed, since I was out here before," he said to Laura. "It's different and—and barer."

She hesitated an instant, then said, very quietly:

"It's the absence of my piano that makes the room look queer."

"Your piano?" he repeated; "that's so. Where is it?"

"I sold it. Last week."

"Sold it? Are you joking?"

"It isn't much of a joke," she replied, "at least, not to me."

"But why did you do such a thing?" he demanded. "Why did you sell it? You were so fond of it. And you needed it so, in your practicing."

"There won't be any more practicing, just now," she told him. "I have stopped my music lessons."

"But I don't understand," he stammered. "They meant so much to you. They and your piano."

"Dear," she said, softly, "they meant nothing to me—nothing at all—compared to your precious self. Our money ran out. You had to have the right food, the right medicine, the right nursing. There was only one thing left to do. So I gave up my expensive music lessons. And I sold my expensive piano. When the piano money is gone I will try to figure out some new way to meet expenses until you are strong enough to work again."

A mist of tears arose in the eyes of the illness-weakened man.

"You sacrificed your beloved piano for me!" he muttered, brokenly. "Oh, darling, how can I ever make up to you for that?"

"By not thinking about it any longer," was her cheery reply, "and by getting well again as soon as you can. The doctor says you will be able to walk in another month or so. Isn't that splendid?"

"In a month or two," he supplemented, "I shall have to go limping around in search of work. For, Doctor Sprague tells me, the Stuytoff Construction company went, last week, into the hands of a receiver, and the Lord alone knows when I'll get any money on what they owe me for designing that miserable building for them."

Tom recognized the older of the two visitors as Professor Sargent, his wife's singing teacher. The younger was a strikingly handsome man, scarcely thirty years old; and with a graceful, self-assured manner which jarred on Price.

Laura welcomed the newcomers cordially. Professor Sargent was warmly sympathetic in his greeting to the invalid. Laura introduced the stranger to Tom, as "Mr. Paul Legrand."

Professor Sargent came at once to the object of the visit.

"Mrs. Price," he began, "this is probably no sort of time to come here talking business. But Legrand badgered me until I consented to. His tour starts in a week. He still declares that no soprano but yourself can do justice to those songs of his. And he seems to think I have enough influence over you to make you change your mind. He also authorizes me to add twenty-five per cent to the terms he offered you before and to promise you, as a bonus, a percentage on the receipts."

"I'm afraid it's no use, professor," said Laura, her sweet voice vibrant with a regret that did not escape Tom. "My husband does not—"

"Mr. Price!" broke in Legrand, impulsively, "perhaps you don't realize what this means to your wife. As a mere business man, you may not know that I am just now one of the most popular music composers in America. The concert tour is to exploit my songs; sung as I intended them to be sung. I, myself, shall be at the piano. That, by itself, insures the success of the tour. I am offering your wife an opportunity for which many lyric sopranos of established reputation would be humbly grateful. I am conferring a high honor on your wife by asking—"

"The highest honor a man can confer on another man's wife," interposed Tom, "is to let her alone. At least, that is the way I regard such things. I may be hopelessly old-fashioned. But—"

"You are," Legrand assured him, quite untouched by the snub, "and, let me tell you, if she sings in these concerts of mine, and if she scores a success in them, her fortune is made. She will be besieged by offers from managers. She—"

"That is true, Mr. Price," said Professor Sargent. "It is stated rather less modestly than you may care to hear it. But it is entirely true. Mrs. Price will not only receive far higher terms for the tour than ever I have known an untried singer to get, but she will also have a chance to make a name for herself. A name that she can coin into money. With a voice like hers—"

"She has already made a name for herself, sir," retorted Tom. "She made it at the altar. The name of 'Price.' Not an exalted name, perhaps. But I believe and hope she is quite content with it. She needs no other."

"You misunderstand me," answered Sargent. "I meant to say—"

But Legrand cut him short, by interrupting:

"Look here, Mr. Price, let's speak plainly. I've made inquiries about you. I learn that you're flat broke, that you've got nothing laid by—in short you're up against it, and with no hope of going out to make a living for some months to come. I—"

"That is my affair!" snapped Tom.

"It isn't," contradicted Legrand. "It's your wife's. It's she who suffers by it, a long shot worse than you. All this smug old-fashioned talk about a wife's place being in the home may be correct enough, as long as her husband has a fairly comfortable home to give her. But you can't give her anything. Sargent says she has even had to sell her piano to keep you from starving. If you were a musician you'd understand what that means to her. It's like giving up her right hand. You can't give her anything. She'll starve to death with you. Yet you refuse her a chance to make a living and a reputation."

"You are mistaken," said Tom, coldly. "I am giving her a chance to keep her reputation. As for my not being able to provide for her, that is no concern of yours."

"Tom!" protested Laura, troubled at her husband's rudeness to their guest.

Price's eye met hers. He saw, in her face, the sharp disappointment involved by his refusal. He recalled all she had done for him—all she had suffered and sacrificed on his account—all that this "chance" meant to her.

Moreover, he reflected, what right had he to refuse her the opportunity to make a livelihood, now that he could no longer earn one for her?

"How long is the tour?" he asked, hesitatingly.

"Ten weeks," replied Legrand, with sudden eagerness. "We open next Monday night in Galveston. We close in New York just ten weeks later."

"Tom!" cried Laura, joyous incredulity bringing a flush to her cheeks and a new light to her eyes, as she read Price's expression. "Tom! Do you mean you are really going to let me go?"

Tom nodded, in silent wretchedness.

"Good for you, old man!" applauded Sargent.

"I congratulate you on coming at last to your senses, Mr. Price," added the delighted Legrand. "You will never be sorry for this. I thank you with all my heart."

"I don't want your thanks," growled Tom, ungraciously. "I'm doing this on her account. Not on yours. I owe it to her. And I pay my debts."

Three days later Laura Price set forth from home to join the Legrand Concert company at Galveston.

Tom could hobble painfully around the flat by this time. The funds from the piano's sale would provide for him, for the present, and for the wages of an elderly woman who had been hired to keep house for him in his wife's absence.

Before the ready money should be gone the family exchequer would be re-enforced by such sums as Laura could forward to him from her salary.

Laura was jubilant. Her life-dream had at last come true.

"It's for Tom! It's all for him! It will be his success as well as mine."

As for Tom, once having made up his mind, he said not a word to indicate the heartbreak that was his.

* * * * * * * *

From the outset the concert tour scored a genuine success. And the success piled up as the tour continued and as its fame preceded it from city to city.

The bulk of the honors went to the hitherto unknown young lyric soprano, Laura Price.

Before the tour was half ended, she was overwhelmed by offers from managers and agents. Her name and fame and fortune were made.

Owing to her personal success the tour's receipts swelled beyond Legrand's most airy hopes. Laura's percentage of the profits assumed a size that dwarfed the memory of all the money she and Tom had ever possessed. Her month's salary alone, apart from percentages, was more than poor Tom Price had earned in a year.

Throughout she did not let victory go to her brain or make her other than the charmingly girlish and simple woman she had always been. Her daily letters to Tom were full of innocently vain accounts of her triumphs, but they were also full of the almost maternal love she bore the invalid, and of her longing to be with him once more.

One cloud alone—apart from absence from Tom—marred the sunshine of the trip. From the outset Legrand had assumed toward her an air of half-protective tenderness, that was so subtle as to render it difficult to prevent and still more difficult to resent.

He was always at Laura's side, under some pretext or other, always guarding her welfare and looking out for her comfort, beyond that of the other members of the troup.

Legrand's manner toward her was wholly deferential, but it was proprietary, too. Laura felt that the other singers and the manager must certainly draw erroneous conclusions from it. Yet she could do or say nothing to deter her admirer.

Legrand was a shrewd student of womankind, and a pastmaster in the art of love-making.

He said nothing—he did nothing—that could give her cause for anger or for reproof. Yet always he wove about her a subtle web of attentions that was daily becoming stronger and less easy to escape from.

Vaguely she felt this. But she could do nothing until some overt word or deed should bring the man within the reach of her scorn.

3—Her Fingers Closed Convulsively About It.
4—"I Did It, I am Ready to Pay."

As for writing a word of all this to Tom she was far too sensible to do such a fatal thing. She knew his jealousy and that a mere hint was enough to fan it into murderous flame. So, sorely puzzled to what she ought to do, she kept her own counsel—and waited.

"It's that chuckle-headed husband of hers who keeps us apart," Legrand once told his chum, the manager. "If I could get him to give her up she'd marry me in a minute. I know she would. I don't believe she loves him."

The tour was nearing an end. On the morning after the first concert in Boston, Legrand sent for Laura and the contralto to come to his suite of rooms in the hotel at which the company was staying. He wished, he said, to go over new songs with each of them.

"Did you see the papers?" he asked them as they came into his sitting room. "They've given us the best notices we've had yet. At this rate we'll carry New York by storm. As usual, Mrs. Price, the critics are crazy over your singing. And, by the way, would you care to glance over these press notices for the New York engagement while Mrs. McDonald and I run over this encore song of hers?"

In remarkably short time the contralto had sung the encore song to the composer-accompanist's satisfaction. Pleading a shopping appointment she went out, leaving Legrand and Laura together.

Of late Laura had begun to notice people seemed to have a habit of going out and leaving them alone together. She perplexedly wondered why.

As soon as the contralto had gone Legrand arranged a sheet of manuscript music on the piano.

"It's a florid, melodramatic thing," he told her. "I call it the 'Dagger Song.' I picked up a queer old dirk at a curio shop the other day. And it suddenly occurred to me that, though there are dozens of 'Sword Songs,' no one ever wrote a 'Dagger Song.' So I wrote this. Here," picking up an antique knife from the table, "is the dagger that inspired it."

He handed her the weapon. She looked shudderingly at its rusty blade.

"I like to think those dark stains on the hilt are of blood!" he said.

She tossed the handkerchief down on the piano, and bent over to read the music, as Legrand began to play the prelude.

After a time she departed to her own rooms, taking the song with her. She had not been gone two minutes when the outer door of Legrand's sitting room was flung violently open.

Tom Price stood on the threshold.

"Where is my wife?" he demanded, without other form of greeting, his angry eyes searching the sitting room. "At the office desk they said she wasn't in her rooms. I met your manager in the lobby. He told me I would probably find her in your suite."

"She just stepped out," answered Legrand, a sudden idea flashing into his mind. "But if you care to wait, she'll be back again in a few minutes."

"You seem pretty sure of it," said Tom, pugnaciously.

"Why shouldn't I be?" was the careless rejoinder. "I ought to be by this time."

A false note in the elaborate carelessness caught Tom's attention, though he only in part translated it.

"I don't believe you," he declared. "I don't believe my wife comes to your suite at all. I believe you're lying. I—"

"When I talk to a drunkard or a crazy man," scoffed Legrand, "I don't resent things he says. But if you want any proof," his insolent gaze roved over the room, "that's a handkerchief of hers lying on the piano yonder."

Tom swooped down upon the handkerchief, shaking it out and holding it to the light. In one corner it bore Laura's familiar monogram. The husband let it flutter to the floor.

"What are you doing here, anyway?" asked Legrand, well pleased with the impression he had created. "She told me you were still too lame to walk."

"The doctor told me my leg was sound again three days ago," said Tom. "I didn't write her about it. I ran on here instead to surprise her. She—"

"It'll surprise her," assented Legrand, with a sneering grin, "though maybe not quite in the way you were fool enough to hope. She counted on your being tied by the leg in your own little rube town for another two weeks at the very least. She said she was counting on that much more vacation anyhow."

"She did not say that," said Tom, lifting his head and staring dazedly at his tormentor. "You lie."

"I told you I pay no attention to lunatics' ravings," returned Legrand. "But now you're here there is something I do want to say to you, if you have sense enough to understand me."

"I want to hear nothing from you. I—"

"But you'll have to hear it just the same," resumed Legrand. "It concerns your wife. I love her. She loves me. We want to marry. You stand in our way. In the way of her happiness. Have you manhood enough to set her free so she can be happy?"

Tom gaped dully at him, scarce comprehending. Legrand, raising his voice a little, as though addressing a deaf man, continued impatiently:

"Will you set her free? Or are you cur enough to go on for life, living on her earnings? We are willing to pension you if you insist on such blackmail. But—"

The composer crashed to the floor like a felled ox, and lay quivering and senseless at Price's feet.

With scarcely a glance at his foe, Tom strode from the suite. Along the corridor he reeled, his brain afire. Around a corner he went blindly, aimlessly, then around another. Presently he found himself at a stairhead. Without waiting for the elevator he lurched down the two flights of stairs to the lobby. There he sank into a chair and tried to think clearly.

It was a long time before his brain could be forced into normal reasoning. Then, bit by bit, he began to review the scene he had just enacted with Legrand. And on cooler reflection, Tom was more and more impressed with the belief that the composer had been lying to him.

None of Price's memories of Laura bore out Legrand's vile hints. She loved her husband. She had solemnly promised to be true. She would not break her pledged word. For some purpose of his own Legrand had tried to blacken her in Tom's eyes.

"That man needs a good deal wose thrashing than I gave him," muttered Price at last, getting to his feet. "And I'm going back to give it to him. I'll hammer him into confessing the truth about Laura, even if I go to jail for it."

"Come in," he answered.

"Where is—who?" he evaded.

"Where is Tom? I met the manager in the hall just now. He says Tom is here and that he came to your suite to find me."

Legrand was doing some rapid thinking, despite his brain's jarred condition. He had lost his carefully planned game. Tom's arrival had spoiled everything. And more than probably when Laura should hear what had passed between her husband and himself, she would abandon the tour. Unless—unless she really loved Legrand. And that must be decided at once.

"Where did Tom go?" she was asking.

Without answering, Legrand caught her in his arms, and held her there despite her struggles. He sought to raise her face to his. She pushed him back, but he grasped her the more closely to him.

Her outflung hand fell by chance upon the hilt of the dagger that lay on the piano. Her fingers closed convulsively about it.

Scarcely realizing what she did, and thinking only to fend off the hateful face that pressed so fiercely toward her own, the frantic woman struck out wildly at the man who had seized her.

Legrand's grip relaxed. He gave a coughing gasp, then collapsed in a lifeless heap at her feet.

Laura, still holding the dagger whose keen edge had severed Legrand's carotid artery, looked down blankly at the dying man. Seeing the blood on the blade she shrieked—again and again, until the whole corridor re-echoed with her cries.

Tom Price, nearing the suite door, was first of fifty running people to reach the spot. As he entered the room Laura dropped the dagger and ran toward him with arms outstretched.

"Tom!" she wailed hysterically, "oh, Tom! I have come back to you at last. You were right when you said this was no life for me. Take me home!"

"Here!" rasped the house detective, rushing into the room at the head of a dozen guests and servants, "what's the trouble?"

"Who did this?" he demanded, whirling about to face Tom. "Was it you?"

"Yes," answered Tom evenly, "I did it. I'm ready to pay. It was worth—"

"He did not!" screamed Laura. "It was I! I killed him."

"Come along, both of you," ordered the house detective, pulling handcuffs from his pocket. "It's up to the court to decide which of you is going to the chair. All I've got to do is to turn you over to the cops. Come along!"

HAS WAGED A WINNING WAR AGAINST TYPHOID

California is Proud of Its Record in Combating the Disease.

Sacramento, Cal., July 21.—California is waging a fight to the death with typhoid. After years of battling, she has the enemy on the run and threatened with complete rout. The dream of a typhoidless state is approaching reality.

Medical forces in every county, city, town and hamlet throughout the state are fully prepared for the final campaign against this foe of humans. The story of their fight in the past and their plans for the future has its thrill of encouragement for those in other states who are pitting their strength against this same dread disease.

"California sends a message of hope to any community burdened with the hard task of warding off typhoid, for what we have done others can do," says Dr. Wilbur A. Sawyer, executive officer of the state board of health. "We no longer consider it a serious disease in this state. Deaths from this cause have decreased 70 per cent in ten years and the rate dropped 30 per cent in the last year alone."

Ten years ago, when the fight was taken up seriously and science was pitted against typhoid, there were only three states with a death rate from this cause higher than that of California. In 1913 the rate had been reduced to 13.6 for every 100,000 population, and by 1915 to 9.7. Such a gratifying result was not reached by haphazard methods, but by the hardest sort of work and by the hearty co-operation of every medical officer, big and small, in the entire state.

Briefly summarized, the chief factors which have aided in freeing California of this phase of pestilence are the following:

Chlorination of water to assure a pure drinking fluid to citizens.

Careful inspection of summer resorts and camping grounds.

Strict laws concerning the sale of milk, requiring pasteurization and the greatest care in handling.

Registration of all typhoid cases with the state board of health, affording an opportunity for investigation and assistance.

Control of quarantine by typhoid carriers.

Sanitary engineers of the state board of health tackled the important problem of pure drinking water as one essential feature of the fight. Although citizens at first objected, chlorination of drinking water was authorized and is now being adopted generally.

Liquid chlorine is most generally used in the process of chlorination of water, although other forms are sometimes used. The chlorine is placed in the public water supply near the source by competent officials in a ratio of about one grain of chlorine to eighteen gallons of water.

When the chlorine joins the water a chemical action takes place, liberating oxygen and destroying the chlorine. The oxygen attacks harmful bacteria in the water, purifying it. Since the chlorine is lost in the process, it does not affect the taste of water, as citizens in some parts of the state have imagined.

The detection and control of typhoid carriers proved not only a surprisingly efficient means of putting down the number of sick cases, but developed some interesting facts about the spread of typhoid.

State medical officers discovered a sailor who was fairly sowing the disease among his fellows on shipboard. In three years he had transmitted it, quite unconsciously, to thirty others. His vessel became known as the "fever ship" and was a terror to seamen. This human typhoid machine was placed in quarantine and is still under the control of medical officers.

Another instance of a typhoid carrier was a woman, who, like the sailor, was unaware of her dread ability to scatter disease. Investigation showed that she had infected ninety persons at one meal through the medium of her cooking. She was also placed in quarantine to prevent the possibility of new cases.

By the control of such carriers as these two, medical men point out that hundreds of cases annually are eliminated and that the fight is being made vastly easier as a result.

Train Your Hair as an Actress Does

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and naturally no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry among them develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. Instead they have studied to find the finest preparation made for shampooing and bringing out the beauty of the hair. The majority of them say that to enjoy the best hair wash and scalp stimulator that is known, get a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. It costs less than three cents for this amount. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

NO ROOM FOR EITHER ROADHOG OR JOYRIDER

Detroit, Mich., July 21.—Due to the heavy traffic which the Lincoln highway is carrying this year, certain elementary road regulations are urged by the National association for the mutual benefit of the tourists and the communities through which they pass.

Motorists from every state in the union are using the great transcontinental road and in the course of the journey across the country are encountering new conditions and situations which call for careful driving judgment.

The principal requisite on the part of the driver is a spirit of fair-mindedness and willingness to do his share in going half way to accommodate his fellow traveler. There is no room on the Lincoln highway for the road hog and the joy rider.

The journey from coast to coast can be made without encountering grades that cannot be easily made with any standard make of automobile, but all cars should have properly adjusted brakes and good brake linings. The car to be used in a transcontinental trip should be in the best of condition before starting.

Careful driving will pay, and the right hand side of the road should be followed, especially on turns.

It is advisable to have a reliable horn and use it freely when necessary. Oncoming cars are frequently hidden by trees and turns in the road.

The lighting system on the tourist's car should be absolutely reliable as it is very essential on a strange road at night.

H. C. Ostermann, Field Secretary of the Lincoln Highway association, who has traveled the route more than any other man, finds that these simple precautions will carry the tourist safely and pleasantly from one coast to the other.

OBLIGING FRIEND IS JAILED WITH FORGER

Young Man Who Impersonated Officer Gets the Maximum Sentence.

Howard Metcalf, 20, was in wrong because he had forged a check for $10 to F. J. France, concession man at Robison park, on the Old National bank and had overdrawn his account at the Hamilton National bank. Police were hunting him.

In his moment of stress he turned to his tried friend, John Christlie, 21. He sounded John and John rang true. Christlie said that there were tears in Metcalf's eyes and Christlie has a weakness for tears. He told the court he agreed to the "stall" which Metcalf had figured out.

Most of Wednesday night was spent in perfecting a plan. Mrs. E. Heplinger, Metcalf's aunt, was the victim. The young man appeared before her Thursday morning. Christlie held Metcalf with a heavy hand.

"I am a Fort Wayne detective," Christlie said, and his coat collar was turned up to impress the fact. "Howard is in trouble and it will take $25 to save him from jail." Christlie testified that Metcalf had told him that was no lie.

The aunt wavered, so the young man pulled a "stunt," as Christlie called it. Metcalf tried to escape. Christlie caught him and handled the prisoner rough. This was the last straw for the aunt. She went after the money.

"I hope Howard will brace up now," she said as she handed Officer Christlie the money.

"I gave the money right to Metcalf as soon as we left and then I came down and told the chief all about it," Christlie told. Police Chief Lenz testified that Christlie had related the story to him and that the whole plan was a sacrifice on the part of Christlie to save Metcalf.

Metcalf also appeared before the police and tried square his trouble by giving Detective Immel the $25. Both young men were jailed.

Metcalf was bound over to the circuit court from police court Friday morning. He is held under $1,000 bond. Christlie was fined $100 and costs. He does not have the money, he says, and will spend 120 days at the state farm.

Held Under Peace Bond.

Clarence Osterman, 18, was placed under $300 bond to secure his keeping the peace. His mother, Mrs. Harriet Osterman, 815 Superior street, testified that her son had threatened to take her life.

A long-barreled, 38-caliber revolver which Osterman has been wearing about town in a hosler and which his mother says he had threatened to kill her with, was confiscated by police. Osterman had only recently returned from a term in the state reformatory. Any attempt of his to cause trouble with his mother will mean a prison term for him, Judge Kerr said.

Cannot Go Home.

George Klug, carpenter, does not dare to return to his home at 114 Erie street before August 1 or he will be locked up. Judge Kerr told him. All the time he is absent from his wife and children he must support his family. An officer went to the home with Klug after court while Klug removed his tools from the house.

The order was called forth when Klug was brought before Judge Kerr Friday morning charged with disorderly conduct for the fourth time this year. Klug gets drunk and goes home to start trouble with his family, it was brought out. Thursday night he threatened his wife with a beer bottle, the wife said.

Other Police Court Cases.

Harry Gower, clerk, Dayton, was intoxicated and was standing on the steps of a Calhoun street drug store trying to preach when arrested Thursday afternoon. He had gathered a crowd of 150 people about him, the officer testified. He was well dressed, but his sermon was incoherent. Gower was saved the embarrassment of making a further spectacle of himself by being removed to jail. He was fined $1 and costs in police court on a drunk charge.

Orange Fredrick gave bond in the sum of $300 to secure his payment of $5 a week towards the support of his child.

HOLLAND CENTER OF ESPIONAGE INDUSTRY

Rotterdam, Netherlands, June 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Besides being the medium through which the war news of the belligerents, and much else, is exchanged, Holland is apparently the principal center whence the respective espionage organizations send out their agents into the enemy's country and, moreover, an important spy recruiting ground.

Many Dutch citizens, even members of the nobility, have, according to a contributor to the Nieuwe Rotterdam Courant, entered this dangerous but lucrative service, and not a few are now racing the day in foreign captivity, not to mention those who have paid the penalty with their lives. There are, it appears, two known espionage quarters in Rotterdam, directed by men commading extensive staffs. Even an innocent visit to such offices may have the most unpleasant, if not dangerous consequences, for the eyes and the cameras of the opposing party are ever on the watch and several Rotterdam men have long been incarcerated in foreign prisons merely on such a ground.

Significant in this connection is the recent dismissal from the police service of two detectives on the staff of the chief police bureau of Amsterdam, for having entered into well-paid clandestine relations with the German secret service. Their "side line" included, among other jobs, the watching of persons of different nationalities who had applied for passports to enter Germany, but concerning whom the German authorities entertained misgivings. Investigations are now afoot to ascertain whether other police officials in the chief cities of Holland may not have yielded to German temptations.

GERMAN REPRISAL BY AIRCRAFT PLAN

The Anglo-French offensive in northern France is being vigorously pushed. Today's reports show the French holding tenaciously to ground gained and the British fighting their way further into the German line. Driving north from Bazentin and Longueval toward Bapaume, Gen. Sir Douglas Haig's troops have advanced as far as the Foreaux wood. The British rush even cleared this wood, but subsequently the Germans were able to win back a part of it.

South of the Somme, the French have been able to hold trenches captured in their drive along a five mile front on Thursday withstanding a vigorous counter attack. South of Soyecourt, on the French right, according to the French war office, the Germans were driven back in disorder, sustaining serious losses.

Special dispatches from Copenhagen to London, report the capture by a German warship of the American sailing vessel Prins Valdemar, bound from an American port to Sweden with a cargo of oil. The British steamers Ysor and Grangemoor, both vessels of some 3,000 tons, are reported sunk.

Vienna announces that two submarines, one of them Italian, have been destroyed in the northern Adriatic by Austrian torpedo craft.

London, July 21.—(1:55 p. m.)—The British line north of Bazentie and Longueval has been pushed forward to Foureaux wood the war office announced today. The British drove the Germans from the wood but lost part of this position subsequently.

FORCE RUSSIANS TO RETIRE.

Teutonic Gains Reported from the Volhynian Front.

Berlin, July 21.—(By Wireless to Sayville.)—A retirement of Russians in one sector of the Volhynian battle front is reported in the Austro-Hungarian army headquarter's report of July 20, which says:

"In Volhynia, the Germans pushed the enemy back west of the Zuiniacze (Sviniusky?) lowlands toward the north.

German Attempt to Regain Lost Ground Is Failure.

Paris, July 21.—(Noon).—Positions captured yesterday by the French south of the Somme were subjected to a vigorous counter-attack during the night. The Germans charged the French lines south of Soyecourt, but, the war office announced today, suffered heavy losses and were driven back in disorder.

Between Soissons and Rheims the French penetrated a German trench, clearing it of its defenders.

On the Verdun front the artillery was active on both sides in the vicinity of Chattancourt and Fleury. French aeroplanes successfully bombarded stations at Conflans, Mars-la-Tour, Longuyon and Brieulles.

MAY ATTACK OPEN TOWNS.

Germans Threaten Retaliation for Unfair French Tactics.

Berlin, July 21.—(Via London, 11:25 a. m.)—Threats of air raids on open French towns, as measures of reprisal, are made in an official statement issued here today.

The statement says that the French airmen have bombarded towns in the Black forest, which are outside the zone of field operations, while the German air attacks have been up to now directed exclusively against fortresses or field

Sam W. Greenland, general manager of the Fort Wayne and Northern Indiana Traction company, was in Logansport, Thursday, where he attended a conference of business men held in Mayor Frank V. Guthrie's office, and at which time he refused to submit the controversy between the company and the striking car men to the public service commission for arbitration. He says there is nothing to arbitrate.

The Logansport business men, after a discussion of the matter, unanimously voted that arbitration is the method which will end the controversy satisfactorily to all parties concerned. After the vote had been taken, Mr. Greenland was asked if his company would consent to submit the matter to the state public service commission. He rose to his feet slowly, according to a dispatch from that city, and in decisive tones, which left no doubt as to what he meant, declared that the company would not arbitrate. He declared that the company will have nothing more to do with the strikers; that they had lost their positions by striking and the company will not take them back.

RECRUITING TRIPS TO CEASE, COMFORT SAYS

Advertising trips which have been taken one day each week to nearby cities to recruit for the United States navy must be discontinued, according to an order received by Joseph C. King, officer in charge of the Fort Wayne navy recruiting station. The order comes from Lieut. Commander J. N. Comfort, navy recruiting officer for Indiana, whose offices are at Indianapolis.

Trips have been made each week to cities including Angola, Warsaw, Decatur, Marion and Columbia City, and one day was thus taken from recruiting work in Fort Wayne. The results on these one-day trips were not always satisfactory. It is urged on the navy recruiting officer that a hard effort be made to add navy recruits. The army recruiting has taken from the percentage of navy recruits, but the order from Lieut. Commander Comfort is not construed as being in opposition to army recruiting.

MELCHI FINED FOR HIS CAR COLLISION

J. W. Melchi was fined $1 and costs for assault and battery Friday morning in the court of Justice Henry J. Grabner, the prosecuting witness being Miss Marie Bowser, who alleged Melchi, driving an auto, ran into her automobile as she left the entrance to Robison park, June 25. Melchi was on the wrong side of the road as he passed the park entrance, it was alleged. Both cars were damaged in the collision.

A charge of failing to report an accident also placed against Melchi, was dismissed on motion of Deputy Prosecutor Hayes, Friday morning, in the court of Justice Grabner. It was shown that at the time of the accident Melchi left his car and gave his auto number and residence address to Miss Bowser.

LOCKET THIEF IS SOUGHT BY POLICE

A negro purchased a cheap pair of cuff buttons at the Wayne jewelry store three weeks ago and while the clerk was engaged in placing the buttons in a box the customer lifted a $75 gold locket, police say. The locket was found by Detective Immel in a Fort Wayne pawn shop, Thursday afternoon. The pawn broker was the looser as the jewelry was returned to the Wayne store.

Police claim to have a good description of the colored man who stole the locket, both from the jewelry clerk and the pawnbroker. Detectives say they know who the man is but have been unable to locate him in the past two weeks. He is thought to be in another state.

AUTO DAMAGED IN ACCIDENT.

The auto belonging to A. T. Riggs, 2517 Broadway, was damaged Friday when it was struck by an automobile belonging to the traction company, near the corner of Harrison and Main streets. Riggs claims his machine was standing at the curbing and was struck in the rear by the Traction company car.

FOOD SHORTAGE IN FLOODED SECTIONS

Victims Face Starvation Unless Relief Comes Quickly.

Asheville, N. C., July 21.—Food shortage in many of the more remote sections of western North Carolina which were swept by last Sunday's floods will be reported today and information here was that at some places, notably Collettsville, near Hickory, the population actually faced starvation unless speedy relief was forthcoming. Federal aid already has been asked for the people in Germantown and vicinity and Wilkesboro.

Latest reports today told of great destruction by the floods in parts of Wilkes, Ashe, Watauga and Alexander counties and it was in those counties that the greatest suffering among the people existed. In many places the people were said to be living on potatoes alone, all other foodstuffs having been carried away by the flood waters.

Seven additional fatalities were reported over night and the toll of deaths now stands at from 80 to 90. Reports yesterday that ten persons had met death at Alta Passare were denied, and if there were no fatalities there the known toll of life is 80.

DEUTSCHLAND MAY TAKE BIG GOLD CONSIGNMENT

Baltimore, Md., July 21.—Negotiations said to be pending between the Eastern Forwarding company and "one of the largest American banking institutions" for a big consignment of gold to be sent back to Germany on the submarine merchantman Deutschland were given as the cause of the delay in the undersea liner's departure from Baltimore according to an official of the submarine's American agency.

Paul G. L. Bilken, the junior member of the Eastern Forwarding company, has been absent from his office here for more than 48 hours and it was said he was representing his company in th negotiations for the gold. The amount could not be learned.

ADDITION TO LAOTTO SCHOOL BUILDING

Plans are under way for a four-room addition to be built to the present high school building at Laotto. The present structure, which was built several years ago, has been found inadequate to accommodate the number of pupils.

The new addition, which will cost approximately $10,000, will be built of brick. Griffith & Fair are the architects for the building. Extensive remodeling in the old part will also be commenced at once in order to have it finished by the time the school opens this fall.

Quincy, Ill., July 21.—Within ten days work will begin on a dye factory in this city. The plant will be in operation by Oct. 1, and will manufacture all standard colors.

The plant, it is said, will be the only one manufacturing raw materials for dyes west of Buffalo, N. Y.

Burning of Barn Causes Sudden Death of Woman

The large barn on the farm of Louis Rapp, on the Huntington road, was struck by lightning and burned to the ground Thursday afternoon. All the contents were consumed, the total loss exceeding $2,000. The excitement proved too much for Mrs. Elizabeth Rapp, 57 years old, wife of Louis Rapp, and at 11:40 Friday morning she toppled over unconscious in the diningroom of her home and in a few minutes was dead. Heart trouble is given as the cause. For some time she had not been well. She was known to have had a weak heart and the excitement caused by the burning of the barn was directly the cause of her death. Such is the opinion of Coroner J. E. McArdle, who made an investigation Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Rapp's husband was in the room at the time. He noticed that she had been extremely nervous and excited since the fire. Without a word she fell to the floor before he had time to catch her. He called to Mrs. Pauline Corcoran, who lives across the road, and the two worked with her and did everything they could to bring her back to consciousness. She died while they were trying to revive her.

Last week the Rapp family lost a valuable cow, which caused Mrs. Rapp to worry. The Rapp family seems to have had more than its share of misfortune.

HANLY, 440; SULZER, 181

WINS NOMINATION ON FIRST BALLOT

St. Paul, Minn., July 21.—J. Frank Hanly, former governor of Indiana, was nominated for president of the United States on the first ballot of the national prohibition convention this afternoon. Hanly received 440 votes against 181 for William Sulzer, former governor of New York, his nearest contender.

The New York delegation cast 13 votes for Sulzer and 37 for Hanly. Several states changed their votes after completion of the roll call, most of the changes being in Hanly's favor. A number of delegates were absent, but about 340 votes were sufficient to elect.

Finley C. Hendrickson, of Cumberland, Md., received 51 votes; James Gilbert Mason, 10; W. P. F. Ferguson, 4; Sumner W. Haynes, Indiana, 2; Henry Ford, 1.

A motion to adjourn was defeated and the roll call of states for nominating speeches for vice-president proceeded.

The roll call of states for nominations was completed at 1:30 o'clock and the voting began. When Pennsylvania had been reached in the balloting, Hanly had 366 votes.

Demonstration for Hanly.

Nominating speeches, begun after the adoption of the party platform, were still in progress this afternoon. A demonstration lasting nearly fifteen minutes during which delegates paraded the aisles of the convention hall shouting, singing and throwing hats and banners in the air followed the nomination of Mr. Hanly by Sumner W. Haynes, also of Indiana, who took occasion to announce that he had withdrawn from the race in favor of Mr. Hanly.

Another demonstration broke out when Eugene W. Chafin, of Arizona, placed in nomination the name of William Sulzer, former governor of New York, who came to St. Paul yesterday and addressed the convention.

FEAR FIVE MEN FELL VICTIMS OF SHARKS

Search Abandoned for Army Engineers Missing Since Saturday.

Honolulu, July 21.—The navy tug Navajo and the lighthouse tender Columbine have abandoned search for the five enlisted men of the engineer corps from Fort Shafter, who put to sea last Saturday for a pleasure cruise in a fifteen foot whale boat. The missing men are:

Corporal William O'Reilly, of Mount Vernon, Ind.

Private Raymond W. Rinker, San Diego, Cal.

Private Michael Clarke, San Francisco.

Private Silas P. Birdsall, California.

The whaleboat was equipped with auxiliary power in addition to sail. The waters off Oahu where the missing soldiers were cruising, are infested with sharks, and if the launch capsized, as the military authorities expresses fears it did, the men will have had little chance of saving themselves.

Washington, July 21.—The naval bill reached its last stage toward passage in the senate today with opponents of the naval building program ready with a fire of amendments for reduction. NOTED TELEGRAPHER DIES OF PNEUMONIA

"Fat" Waugh Had Remarkable Career on Associated Press Wires.

New York, July 21.—W. L. Waugh, known to telegraph operators throughout the country as "Fat" Waugh, died from pneumonia here last night. Mr. Waugh was born in Fulton, N. Y., in 1860, and began his telegraph career as a messenger boy at the age of twelve. He was graduated as an operator for the Western Union at the age of 14, and after a few years of varied employment entered the service of the Associated Press. Owing to ill-health he was placed on the retired list of the Associated Press a few weeks ago.

Waugh's beautiful "Morse" is a tradition not only in the Associated Press service but among telegraphers everywhere. For many years he was the sending operator in New York on the first main trunk circuit between New York and Chicago and on all special occasions, such as national conventions, he was the sender on what is known as the "Bulletin wire." Ill health prevented his detail to the national conventions just ended and for the first time in twenty years the Associated Press was without the services of one who, in the past, had flashed to the world the nominations of half a dozen presidents and vice presidents and the candidates who had opposed them.

BOATS ARE CARRIED UNDER BARGE; 3 DIE

New Albany, Ind., July 21.—Carried by the high wind and the current under a fleet of barges in the Ohio river here yesterday afternoon, Miss Hattie Deeble, 19 years old, a daughter of William Deebie, of this city; Miss Callie Schaefer, 19, a daughter of Paul Schaefer, of Bethlehem, Ind., and L. Godfrey, 22, who lives in Kentucky, were drowned while boat riding.

Edward Davidson, 21, of this city, who also was a member of the party, managed to swim ashore, landing almost exhausted eight squares below the place where the accident happened.

Miss Deeble was still struggling in the water when John Groce started to swim to her rescue, but she was going down for the last time when he reached her and was dead when they reached the shore. The other bodies have not been recovered.

MINE-LAYER PRIZE IS PLACED ON EXHIBITION

London, July 21.—The German mine-layer, which is one of the U-35 class, one of the latest prizes of the British navy, was visited by an Associated Press representative today prior to its being placed on public exhibition in the Thames.

The prize, flying the German naval ensign surmounted by the British ensign, lay in a naval dock yard on the east coast. The vessel is designed purely for mine-laying. The entire forward part is composed of wells, six in number, each containing two powerful mines, which can be released by levers. The ship has no torpedo tubes or other armament except small arms for the crew and is only 100 feet in length.

Thirteen blue jackets and five officers comprise the crew of the submarine. According to one of the seamen she made, prior to her capture, nineteen trips from her base in Germany to the British coast and laid over two hundred mines in routes frequented by merchant vessels. She was on her twentieth trip when she was captured by the British patrol boat.

The sailors said that when the submarine was sighted and chased by a patrol boat the crew tried to get rid of her remaining mines, but had not sufficient time. Seeing that capture was inevitable, the officers ordered the abandonment of the ship, destroyed the log and other records and virtually demolished the six-cylinder Diesel engine of approximately 240 horse power. All of the crew and officers were taken prisoners.

The hull of the submarine is in good condition, but shows a number of dents where it struck obstacles in its underwater voyages. The craft shows signs of rapidity of construction, but appears well fitted for short trips across the North sea. British naval officers pointed out that the mines carried no apparatus for rendering them harmless, if they broke loose from their moorings, as required by the Hague convention.

FURTHER PROTESTS ARE FULLY EXPECTED

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Further protests by the British and French embassies against American recognitionof the German submarine Deutschland as a merchantman were considered a possibility today by state department officials. Clearance of the vessel, it was thought might draw from the allies a more definite objection than the informal complaint lodged at the department on the submersible's arrival.

So far the embassies have suggested only that the Deutschland is a potential warship. Additional representations, it is believed would suggest that the vessel lacks many characteristics essential to a merchant ship and might even attempt to hold the United States liable for damage the submarine might do to allied shipping after she leaves American waters.

LOSES HER GLASSES.

Miss Violet Wilson, reported to the police Friday that she lost her glasses, valued at $6, while in bathing in Delta lake, Thursday afternoon. She laid her glasses on the bank while she went swimming and they were gone when she came out of the water, she said.

BREWERY MEN CALL STRIKE

Two Hundred and Fifty Workers Walk Out at Berghoff Plant.

Early Adjustment of Differences Predicted by Both Sides.

A strike was declared by 250 brewery workers at the plant of the Berghoff Brewing company Friday morning. When the men reported for work at 7 o'clock pickets had been established, and with the exception of six or eight men employed as engineers and in the cellars, none of the force started work. Working conditions in alleged violation of union agreement, not wages, led to the strike, according to a statement of M. C. Norton, general manager and secretary of the Berghoff Brewing company. It is charged foremen of the brewery assisted in loading in the yards.

No adjustment of the differences was reached at a conference Friday morning in the offices of the brewing company between a committee of the brewers' union and Mr. Norton. A meeting was held Friday afternoon in the bartenders' hall, 610 Calhoun street, when further consideration of the trouble was taken up by the strikers and employers.

Complaint Was Made.

For the last month, according to Mr. Norton, complaint has been made at various times by the brewery workers that plant foremen were helping loaders during a rush period. Mr. Norton says the foremen were instructed not to assist in the loading, knowing that it was in violation of the union agreement. Two weeks ago a committee of the brewery workers waited on Mr. Norton, setting forth the same grievance over which the present strike is called. There was no walkout at that time and it was understood that the foremen would have nothing to do with the loading.

Meeting Was Held.

Thursday night a meeting of the union of Local brewers was held and

POSTMASTERS PRAISE ADMINISTRATION WORK

Washington, July 21.—Resolutions commending the national administration for efficiency and economy in postal management, recommending specific reforms and praising President Wilson for maintaining the United States in peace were presented to the national association of presidential postmasters at its final session today.

Under the administration of Postmaster General Burleson, the resolution recited, the present system by which each postmaster is "the directing force of his office and his duties are not delegated to subordinate officials," has been introduced. The postmaster general and his assistants were commended for reforms.

It was recommended that additional early morning train schedules be established whenever possible about the larger cities. One resolution suggested changes in the method of settling claims for damage or loss under the insurance feature of the parcel post system, so that adjustment may be made for minor claims by the postmaster at the office concerned. Legislation providing for retirement of superannuated employes was favored.

EXPIRED ON WAY TO THE HOSPITAL

Russel Pettit, aged 20 years, who was caught between a large truck and a trailer Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the Berghoff Brewing company, died from the injuries before the ambulance reached the hospital.

Coroner J. E. McArdle stated that death was due to a ruptured abdominal aorta. A post-mortem examination revealed that this was what had caused death. He was caught between the two vehicles and the pinching of his body was sufficient to cause the aorta to burst.

This Was a Fizzle.

Finley D. Hendrickson, of Cumberland, Md., whose candidacy was given strength at several eleventh hour conferences, was placed in nomination. The Maryland delegation made futile efforts to start a demonstration in his behalf.

Leaders of the Hanly forces held several hurried conferences shortly after noon and predicted the nomination of their candidate on the second ballot.

The party platform, over which a lively fight was expected, was adopted with but one change. A plank was added declaring in favor of the initiative, referendum and recall.

Business of the Day.

The national convention resumed work shortly after 1 o'clock. Names of new members of the national commission were confirmed. The nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates was the next order of business. Nominating speeches were limited to ten minutes and seconding speeches to five minutes. Alabama yielded to Indana and amid an outburst of applause Sumner W. Haynes began his speech nominating J. Frank Hanly.

As he concluded a demonstration began. Delegates waved flags and banners and stood on their seats and shouted. The Indiana delegation began marching through aisles and over the platform, singing patriotic songs. Other state delegations joined in the procession and the demonstration for Hanly lasted twelve minutes.

The Prihibition Platform.

The platform adopted by the prohibition party today included E. W. Chafin's plank endorsing the initiative, referendum and recall.

The platform expresses opposition to the "wasteful military programs of the democratic and republican parties" but favors "preparedness for peace." It suggests a "compact among nations to dismantle navies and disband armies," but until "such court and compact are established we pledge ourselves to maintain an effective army and navy and to provide coast defenses entirely adequate for national protection."

Declares for Americanism.

Favors uniform marriage and divorce laws and complete suppression of white slavery.

Opposes "pork barrel" legislation.

Favors a single presidential term of six years. Favors public grain elevators, owned and operated by the federal government and abolition of speculation on markets.

REPUBLICAN CITY COMMITTEE MEETS

The republican city committee met last night on call of Chairman Stults, at headquarters on East Berry, with a large number present. Dr. Stults called attention to the necessity of early action in securing a poll, not only for use on election day, but also for the guidance of the committee in securing a full registration. Those who did not register in 1914 and those who have moved from the precinct in which they then voted must register this year, October 9, in order to vote. The chairman urged the committee to appreciate the value of a close organization, saying the conditions favor republican success as never before.

District Chairman Hogan addressed the meeting, saying that he had spent the day in Dekalb county and found a reunited party filled with confidence that the republicans would carry that county this year. He urged the necessity of winning in Indiana this year, so that both candidates for United States senator will be elected—thus making the senate republican. He said unless both Watson and New were elected from Indiana Hughes would not have the support of both branches of congress without which, he said, he would be seriously hindered in effecting a change to republican tariff policies.

Arrangements were made for meetings in each precinct and ward to secure the poll.

Registration Day.

Under the new registration law passed by the general assembly of 1915, the registration of voters preceding the election next November will fall on October 9. Only those who have moved out of the precincts in which they lived at the election two years ago, or those who were not registered preceding the 1914 election, will be required to register October 9. The republican and democratic state central committees have sent out instructions to precinct committeemen and other workers over the state and both parties will endeavor to get their full vote registered.

it was decided to call the strike, it is said. The secretary of the brewers' local was to meet with Mr. Norton Friday morning to seek an adjustment of the trouble. A committee from the union waited on Mr. Norton Friday morning and it was thought a satisfactory agreement might be reached during the day. There was no disorder among the brewery workers and police officers and an attache of the office of sheriff were unnecessary in their capacities.

Some Men Still Work.

By the fact that several engineers and cellar keepers at the brewery were allowed to continue at their posts under an agreement with the union, Mr. Norton did not consider the strike hostile. If the engineers and cellar keepers had been called out the brewery would have been tied up so far as business was concerned. Mr. Norton said the brewery could not afford to let its cellars get warm.

Foremen Make Denial.

William Breuer, jr., and Curtis Robinet, respectively, assistant superintendent of the brewery and foreman of the yards, according to Mr. Norton, are the men whom the striking workers say assisted in loading in the yards during a rush period. The men did not remember of having assisted in loading unless it was at odd times, Mr. Norton declared. Under the union rule the foremen are not allowed to touch the cases as they come down the purveyor and loading is not allowed. Mr. Norton said the foremen must have in some way done work outside their rights with the union. "The Berghoff brewery is not opposed to organized labor and I anticipate the trouble will be adjusted satisfactorily," said Mr. Norton.

In the rush of business for the last week it has been hard to get help, Mr. Norton states, and if the foremen did assist in loading it was to aid in carrying the plant over a rush period when there was a shortage of men.

The brewery workers had nothing to say concerning the strike and the committee would give out nothing prior to entering the conference.

REMOVE NERVES FROM FACE.

Serious Operation is Performed on Payne Man at Hospital.

A serious operation was performed on Joseph Cassanovia, of Payne, Ohio, Friday, at the St. Joseph hospital by Dr. Maurice Rosenthal. Several nerves were removed from his face. For years he has been a great sufferer from cancer of the face. He has been treated by many physicians and surgeons and last year went to Chicago, where he was operated upon by Dr. Murphy, a famous surgeon. Since then he has been taking treatment in Toledo, but his suffering has been so intense again that another operation was deemed necessary.

ITALIAN DECREE PUTS BAN AGAINST GERMANS

Says Allies of Austria Are Now to Be Treated as Enemies.

Rome, July 20.—Via Paris, July 21. —1:55 a. m.—A ministerial decree was issued today placing the persons and property of Germans on the same footing as those of Austrain and Hungarians. The decree does not directly mention Germans, but states that allies of Austria are to be treated as enemies, and their subjects and goods are liable to sequestration.

Prior to the war German interests in Italy were estimated to be worth $250,000,000. Their value is now placed at about $150,000,000. There are only a few German subjects now in Italy and these will be either placed in concentration camps in Italy or sent across the Swiss border.

There has been a strong agitation in Italy for some time for the breaking off of all relations with Germany. The curious situation caused by Italy being at war with Austria, while nominally at peace with Germany, was emphasized by an agreement between Rome and Berlin, wherein all rights of the citizens of one country domiciled in the other, were to be respected. On July 16 this agreement was denounced by Italy on the ground it was not being observed by Germany.

At the great council of the entente powers held in Paris last February the Italian representatives were pressed for an explanation as to why Italy had not declared war on Germany. On February 23 Italy requisitioned thirty-four German ships which were interned in Italian ports. As a similar action by Portugal had promptly called forth an ultimatum from Berlin, which was followed by a declaration of war, it was confidently expected that the same sequel would follow in regard to Italy. As far as is known, however, Wilhelmstrasse did not even make a protest. If war is now declared, Italian troops may be sent to the western front, according to the expectations expressed in London and Paris.

ment the Bethlehem Steel company's argument against a government armor plate plant. When Senator Reed returned and learned of it he denounced the action as a shameless proposition and outrage and declared the company's statements were false and misleading.

Senator Oliver challenged Mr. Reed to show the statements he referred to. "The senator from Pennsylvania," Senator Reed replied, "had the cool assurance, after admitting that he owned steel stock, to stand up here and attempt to vote money into his own pocket by supporting a bill which would help the Bethlehem Steel company. If the senator were a judge he would not be permitted to vote on this issue."

Oliver Denounces Statement.

Senator Oliver denounced the statement, asserting that Senator Reed was attempting to avoid his challenge.

"I say," continued Reed, "that the senator from Pennsylvania on this floor admitted he owned a large amount of steel stock and that this stock was in a concern that was the parent company of a concern engaged in the manufacture of armor plate. The senator knows that whatever might defeat the construction of a government armor plate plant will increase the price and profits for private armor plants, that the profits will be distributed among its stockholders and that some of those profits will emit a musical jingle in the pockets of the distinguished senator from Pennsylvania."

Senator Gallinger suggested that Senator Reed was overstepping a senatorial rule and Vice President Marshall also intervened. Senator Reed then read from the record another passage between himself and Senator Oliver on the same subject when Senator Oliver told the senate he owned United States Steel stock valued at $117,000.

Senator Cummins' amendment to reduce the number of dreadnoughts to be constructed in three years from ten to two and battle cruisers from ten to four was rejected 60 to 14. Three democrats, Lane, Thomas and Vardaman voted for it.

BATTERY D MEMBERSHIP SLOWLY INCREASING

Peace Strength of 133 Men May Be Reached This Week.

Recruiting officers for Battery D of Fort Wayne are still busy in small towns near Fort Wayne. The membership is gradually nearing peace strength of 133 men and five officers. Capt. John C. Scheffer sent word to the local office stating that he would return to Fort Wayne Friday evening and that he was having good success on his present trip.

Orders for mobilization from the adjutant general are expected to arrive just as soon as peace strength is reached. It will only require a few hours to have all the men at the local recruiting station and by the following day they will be ready to entrain for some fort where, after a few weeks' drill, they will be called to the border.

Those who have been mustered into service in Battery D have been requested to meet at the court house Friday evening, when arrangements for the funeral of Private Floyd Welf will be made. All patriotic organizations have been asked to attend. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon and will be military in every respect.

works. In one of the French raids it is said that a woman and four children were killed.

"We shall now be forced," says the report, "to use our strong battle squadrons for the purpose of reprisal. A great number of peaceful French towns outside the zone of field operations are within the reach of our air squadrons."

FRENCH MORE CONFIDENT.

Paris, July 21.—The resumption of the battle of the Somme in the French sector has greatly enhanced the general confidence in the situation. The protracted halt of operations on more than a minor scale was beginning to make the public fear that the first result would have no morrow and that, as in the case of the Champagne offensive a year ago, there might be a reversion to the old trench warfare. Yesterday's bulletin effectually removed this impression.

A particularly fine piece of work, from the French point of view, was accomplished in the new sector attacked south of the river. East of the old French fort, which ran from the east of Herbeville to half way between that village and the Fouques Court-Verdman-Devillers road, the Germans had constructed, by months of patient toil, an underground fortification in a star-shaped wood and on the slopes of a hill. There were ninety trenches in the wood with two series of underground shelter, in which the soldiers lay snug during the hottest bombardments. The Germans here, as in the Barleux and Soyecourt region, wherein positions formed an inextricable maze of trenches, offered a stouter resistance than elsewhere on the long line of attack. But the French troops, carefully prepared for their work and skilfully led, not only won through everywhere, but held on to their gains and were preparing last night to attempt to still further extend them. It now develops that yesterday's effort was due several days ago, but that the artillery reparation was delayed by heavy weather. The French commander's report that the preliminary bombardment was so effective that the losses of the attackers were comparatively light.

Contrary to expectations the Germans have made no attempt to follow up the smashing blow delivered against the northern Verdun defenses a week ago. The French counter attacks, according to the official accounts, are gradually winning back the ground gained by the Germans at heavy cost in the vicinity of Thiaumont and Fleury. This inactivity on the part of the crown prince is interpreted by French military opinion as evidence that the Germans are finding increasing difficulty in concentrating troops at any one point on the front. The French officers say that each fresh assault on Verdun is requiring longer and longer time to prepare. They claim that the Germans took no less than eighteen days in preparation for the attack of July 12.

RUSSIA SERVES NOTICE.

Will Disregard Hague Rules as to Turk Hospital Ships.

London, July 21.—(9:17 a. m.)—A Reuter's Petrograd dispatch says the Russian minister of foreign affairs has informed the Turkish government through the ambassadors of the United States and Spain that Russia will henceforth disregard the principles of The Hague convention as far as Turkish hospital ships are concerned.

The Russian hospital ship Portugal was sunk by a submarine in the Black sea last March. There were a large number of wounded on board at the time and 115 lives were lost. It was at first stated that the ship had been sunk by a German submarine but Turkey later accepted the responsibility, in declaring that the ship did not fly the Red Cross flag and was mistaken for a transport. On July 9 the Vperitode, which took the place of the Portugal, was torpedoed and sent to the bottom while on her way to Batum to embark wounded soldiers. The official report of the disaster made no mention of loss of lives or of the nationality of the submarine.

AMERICAN BARK CAPTURED.

London, July 21.—(9:15 a. m.)—The American bark Frins Valdemar has been captured by a German warship while on its way from San Francisco to Sweden with a cargo of oil, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company quoting the Copenhagen Politiken. The schooner was taken into Swinemunde. She left San Francisco February 24.

JUNE ACCIDENTS IN INDIANA TOTAL 3,414

More Numerous Than in Any Previous Month Reported to Board.

Indianapolis, July 21.—The number of accidents reported to the state industrial board in June was larger than in any month since the organization of the board, according to the monthly report which was compiled yesterday. A total of 3,414 accidents was reported.

The report shows that the automobile manufacturing industry in Indiana is running a close race with the steam railroads in causing injury to employes. The number of accident in automobile factories was 267, while the number of employes injured on steam roads of the state in the month was 274.

The report shows that employers of Indiana paid a total of $20,779.23 as compensation in closed cases in the month under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law operated by the board. Of the total number of persons injured, 3.87 were temporarily totally disabled, 107 were partially disabled, 95 were dismembered, two were disfigured, and twenty-three were injured fatally.

Wage Average Increases.

Of those injured the highest salary paid to any one individual was $54 a week, the lowest $3 a week, and the average wage was $14.90 a week. It is noted by the board in this connection that since the establishment of the industrial board the average wage of persons injured has steadily increased.

Injuries to the eyes of workmen by flying particles were numerous. One hundred and thirty-eight workmen were injured when hit by chips from breaking wires and 135 workmen were injured when struck by emery particles. In practically all of these cases the men suffered injuries to the eyes.

Three workmen in the state suffered the amputation of an arm each and thirty-nine suffered the loss of one finger each. Thirty-eight persons were injured by train collisions and twelve were injured by the explosion of bottles.

That a large number of accidents occur when workmen are struck by failing objects, is shown in the report. It shows that 284 persons were injured from that cause in June. One hundred and twenty-nine persons were injured by handling heavy objects, and 448 were injured by dropping heavy objects.

Of the workmen injured, the report says that 92.3 per cent show disability of fourteen days or less, 4.3 per cent fourteen to twenty-one days, 1.9 per cent twenty-one to twenty-eight days, and 1.5 per cent, twenty-eight days and more.

Seventy-Nine Women Hurt.

In the list of accidents to women engaged in industrial pursuits, the report shows that seventy-nine women workers were injured. Eleven women employed in laundries suffered injuries. This is the largest number of women victims of accidents reported from any one industry.

The highest wages paid to women workers injured in accidents was $17 a week, the lowest $3 a week, and the average $7.43 a week.

The report shows that in the list of fatal accidents to men the highest wages paid was $30 a week, the lowest $11 a week, and the average was $16.95 a week. The age of those injured fatally ranged from 19 to 65 years. The report does not give the age of one person who was injured fatally.

The report shows that at the present time 1,342 cases are under compensation, the total amount paid being $9,579.00 a week, or an average of $7.14 a week for each person.

CATTLE ADD TO FARM INCOME.

Help Much in Corn Belt, Says Department of Agriculture.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Investigation has convinced the department of agriculture experts that cattle generally add to the farm income in the corn belt. Although direct profit from raising calves is said to be small, other factors are declared to make it highly advantageous. The inquiry was a part of the department's general study of the meat situation.

Keeping of live stock is recommended particularly on farms that have large quantities of cheap roughage or that have land that best can be used as pasture.

READY FOR HEARINGS.

Strike Leaders to Be Arraigned on Murder Charge.

Duluth, Minn., July 21.—The eleven range strike leaders charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff James C. Myron and Thomas Ladvalla, expected to have their preliminary hearings today.

Attorney C. N. Hilton has been retained by the I. W. W. to defend those whose cases go to the grand jury.

MILFORD HOMES ARE ENTERED BY ROBBERS

They Were Frightened From One Residence and Then Entered Another.

Milford, Ind., July 21.—Within a few minutes after being driven away from the home of Mrs. Catherine Bartholomew, two men entered the residence of Milton Groves, where they secured $10 in money. After entering the Bartholomew home they were heard by a daughter of Mrs. Bartholomew, who frightened them away before any valuables were taken.

They walked about one-half block down the street and entered the Groves home and after searching a clothes closet they secured $10, which had been placed in some old clothing. Members of the Groves family heard them prowling about the house and summoned the night policeman. When he arrived on the scene the men dashed from the house and ran north along the interurban track.

BOY INSTANTLY KILLED.

Clyde Rice Meets Death When Gun is Accidentally Discharged.

Monroe, Ind., July 21.—Clyde Rice, 16, son of George Rice, a farmer residing a mile east and a mile and a half north of here, was killed yesterday when climbing a fence with a loaded shotgun. The gun was carried on an arm, partially paralyzed. It fell and a load of shot entered the boy's head. A younger brother was with him when the accident occurred. Dr. Rayl, of this pace, was called, but found that the boy had met death instantly.

BIRD MANSION.

Columbia City, Ind., July 21.—The lovers of birds and those that fancy the martins can enjoy quite a pleasant time any evening should they be invited to the home of Frank Vanderford, on South Elm street. The well known citizen has been paying special attention to the named bird for the past two years, and has built a special house where they have congregated and increased in numbers. He built a house fourteen inches square, two stories high with an attic that has ten rooms seven inches square, each accommodating the male and female and two youngsters, the latter now being old enough to leave the home. The first year there was a scarcity of birds, but this year the home is crowded to the utmost, and Wednesday evening 82 martins that could not gain admission to the home were perched upon the electric light wires near the home until the sun went down and they left for some roosting place.

SUE TO RECOVER LOSSES.

Bluffton, Ind., July 21.—Two suits have been filed in the Wells circuit court by George Shepherd and Robert Sparks, formerly in the hardware business at Ossian, against the Aetna Insurance company and the German-American Insurance company, to recover $1,000 from each company alleged to be due on two fire insurance policies. The plaintiff sustained a fire loss in the Ossian store last February, and, it is alleged, the defendants have failed to make full settlement.

HUSBAND ATTACKS WIFE.

Kendallville, Ind., July 21.—Mrs Will Wagner is lying at her home on Burnam street suffering with a bruise on her chest, a badly strained back and is in a semi-lucid and delirious condition the result of blows she received from her husband. Her husband was arrested on a charge of assault and battery following the altercation and yesterday appeared in the city court, drawing a fine of $1 and costs and a ninety day jail sentence, which has been suspended pending his good behavior.

TAUGHT TO SAVE THROUGH BABY BONDS

At least a score of local young men and women have eliminated their former extravagant habits by determining that a certain sum from their earnings of each week was to be set aside and invested in Baby Bonds. After they secured their first one they found a new pleasure in the accumulation of these securities and today they are finding no difficulty in saving what seemed to be an impossible amount before the Baby Bond habit got them.

Baby Bonds come in $10 denominations, are secured by first mortgages on local real estate, and bear six per cent interest. There are also some $500 bonds with the same security and the same rate of interest. For further details see the Wildwood Sales Company, Shoaff building.

HARRISON HILL REMARKABLY LOCATED
Most people are surprised to find on inquiring the distance to Harrison Hill that this addition, located on Calhoun street, [illegible] south of Dwight avenue, can be reached more quickly than many of the other resident districts of the south side. The actual distance traveled from the court house to Harrison Hill is less than the distance from the court house to the best part of Wildwood avenue, and this is one of the reasons which accounts for the exceedingly rapid development of this addition. Full details regarding Harrison Hill may be secured from Hilgemann & Schaaf, North American building.

This Was a Fizzle.

Finley D. Hendrickson, of Cumberland, Md., whose candidacy was given strength at several eleventh hour conferences, was placed in nomination. The Maryland delegation made futile efforts to start a demonstration in his behalf.

Leaders of the Hanly forces held several hurried conferences shortly after noon and predicted the nomination of their candidate on the second ballot.

The party platform, over which a lively fight was expected, was adopted with but one change. A plank was added declaring in favor of the initiative, referendum and recall.

Business of the Day.

The national convention resumed work shortly after 1 o'clock. Names of new members of the national commission were confirmed. The nomination of presidential and vice presidential candidates was the next order of business. Nominating speeches were limited to ten minutes and seconding speeches to five minutes. Alabama yielded to Indana and amid an outburst of applause Sumner W. Haynes began his speech nominating J. Frank Hanly.

As he concluded a demonstration began. Delegates waved flags and banners and stood on their seats and shouted. The Indiana delegation began marching through aisles and over the platform, singing patriotic songs. Other state delegations joined in the procession and the demonstration for Hanly lasted twelve minutes.

The Prihibition Platform.

The platform adopted by the prohibition party today included E. W. Chafin's plank endorsing the initiative, referendum and recall.

The platform expresses opposition to the "wasteful military programs of the democratic and republican parties" but favors "preparedness for peace." It suggests a "compact among nations to dismantle navies and disband armies," but until "such court and compact are established we pledge ourselves to maintain an effective army and navy and to provide coast defenses entirely adequate for national protection."

Declares for Americanism.

Favors uniform marriage and divorce laws and complete suppression of white slavery.

Opposes "pork barrel" legislation.

Favors a single presidential term of six years. Favors public grain elevators, owned and operated by the federal government and abolition of speculation on markets.

REPUBLICAN CITY COMMITTEE MEETS

The republican city committee met last night on call of Chairman Stults, at headquarters on East Berry, with a large number present. Dr. Stults called attention to the necessity of early action in securing a poll, not only for use on election day, but also for the guidance of the committee in securing a full registration. Those who did not register in 1914 and those who have moved from the precinct in which they then voted must register this year, October 9, in order to vote. The chairman urged the committee to appreciate the value of a close organization, saying the conditions favor republican success as never before.

District Chairman Hogan addressed the meeting, saying that he had spent the day in Dekalb county and found a reunited party filled with confidence that the republicans would carry that county this year. He urged the necessity of winning in Indiana this year, so that both candidates for United States senator will be elected—thus making the senate republican. He said unless both Watson and New were elected from Indiana Hughes would not have the support of both branches of congress without which, he said, he would be seriously hindered in effecting a change to republican tariff policies.

Arrangements were made for meetings in each precinct and ward to secure the poll.

Registration Day.

Under the new registration law passed by the general assembly of 1915, the registration of voters preceding the election next November will fall on October 9. Only those who have moved out of the precincts in which they lived at the election two years ago, or those who were not registered preceding the 1914 election, will be required to register October 9. The republican and democratic state central committees have sent out instructions to precinct committeemen and other workers over the state and both parties will endeavor to get their full vote registered.

it was decided to call the strike, it is said. The secretary of the brewers' local was to meet with Mr. Norton Friday morning to seek an adjustment of the trouble. A committee from the union waited on Mr. Norton Friday morning and it was thought a satisfactory agreement might be reached during the day. There was no disorder among the brewery workers and police officers and an attache of the office of sheriff were unnecessary in their capacities.

Some Men Still Work.

By the fact that several engineers and cellar keepers at the brewery were allowed to continue at their posts under an agreement with the union, Mr. Norton did not consider the strike hostile. If the engineers and cellar keepers had been called out the brewery would have been tied up so far as business was concerned. Mr. Norton said the brewery could not afford to let its cellars get warm.

Foremen Make Denial.

William Breuer, jr., and Curtis Robinet, respectively, assistant superintendent of the brewery and foreman of the yards, according to Mr. Norton, are the men whom the striking workers say assisted in loading in the yards during a rush period. The men did not remember of having assisted in loading unless it was at odd times, Mr. Norton declared. Under the union rule the foremen are not allowed to touch the cases as they come down the purveyor and loading is not allowed. Mr. Norton said the foremen must have in some way done work outside their rights with the union. "The Berghoff brewery is not opposed to organized labor and I anticipate the trouble will be adjusted satisfactorily," said Mr. Norton.

In the rush of business for the last week it has been hard to get help, Mr. Norton states, and if the foremen did assist in loading it was to aid in carrying the plant over a rush period when there was a shortage of men.

The brewery workers had nothing to say concerning the strike and the committee would give out nothing prior to entering the conference.

REMOVE NERVES FROM FACE.

Serious Operation is Performed on Payne Man at Hospital.

A serious operation was performed on Joseph Cassanovia, of Payne, Ohio, Friday, at the St. Joseph hospital by Dr. Maurice Rosenthal. Several nerves were removed from his face. For years he has been a great sufferer from cancer of the face. He has been treated by many physicians and surgeons and last year went to Chicago, where he was operated upon by Dr. Murphy, a famous surgeon. Since then he has been taking treatment in Toledo, but his suffering has been so intense again that another operation was deemed necessary.

ITALIAN DECREE PUTS BAN AGAINST GERMANS

Says Allies of Austria Are Now to Be Treated as Enemies.

Rome, July 20.—Via Paris, July 21. —1:55 a. m.—A ministerial decree was issued today placing the persons and property of Germans on the same footing as those of Austrain and Hungarians. The decree does not directly mention Germans, but states that allies of Austria are to be treated as enemies, and their subjects and goods are liable to sequestration.

Prior to the war German interests in Italy were estimated to be worth $250,000,000. Their value is now placed at about $150,000,000. There are only a few German subjects now in Italy and these will be either placed in concentration camps in Italy or sent across the Swiss border.

There has been a strong agitation in Italy for some time for the breaking off of all relations with Germany. The curious situation caused by Italy being at war with Austria, while nominally at peace with Germany, was emphasized by an agreement between Rome and Berlin, wherein all rights of the citizens of one country domiciled in the other, were to be respected. On July 16 this agreement was denounced by Italy on the ground it was not being observed by Germany.

At the great council of the entente powers held in Paris last February the Italian representatives were pressed for an explanation as to why Italy had not declared war on Germany. On February 29 Italy requisitioned thirty-four German ships which were interned in Italian ports. As a similar action by Portugal had promptly called forth an ultimatum from Berlin, which was followed by a declaration of war, it was confidently expected that the same sequel would follow in regard to Italy. As far as is known, however, Wilhelmstrasse did not even make a protest. If war is now declared, Italian troops may be sent to the western front, according to the expectations expressed in London and Paris.

ment the Bethlehem Steel company's argument against a government armor plate plant. When Senator Reed returned and learned of it he denounced the action as a shameless proposition and outrage and declared the company's statements were false and misleading.

Senator Oliver challenged Mr. Reed to show the statements he referred to. "The senator from Pennsylvania," Senator Reed replied, "had the cool assurance, after admitting that he owned steel stock, to stand up here and attempt to vote money into his own pocket by supporting a bill which would help the Bethlehem Steel company. If the senator were a judge he would not be permitted to vote on this issue."

Oliver Denounces Statement.

Senator Oliver denounced the statement, asserting that Senator Reed was attempting to avoid his challenge.

"I say," continued Reed, "that the senator from Pennsylvania on this floor admitted he owned a large amount of steel stock and that this stock was in a concern that was the parent company of a concern engaged in the manufacture of armor plate. The senator knows that whatever might defeat the construction of a government armor plate plant will increase the price and profits for private armor plants, that the profits will be distributed among its stockholders and that some of those profits will emit a musical jingle in the pockets of the distinguished senator from Pennsylvania."

Senator Gallinger suggested that Senator Reed was overstepping a senatorial rule and Vice President Marshall also intervened. Senator Reed then read from the record another passage between himself and Senator Oliver on the same subject when Senator Oliver told the senate he owned United States Steel stock valued at $117,000.

Senator Cummins' amendment to reduce the number of dreadnoughts to be constructed in three years from ten to two and battle cruisers from ten to four was rejected 60 to 14. Three democrats, Lane, Thomas and Vardaman voted for it.

PLANNING MARATHON RACE.

Grand Haven, Mich., July 21.—Grand Haven athletes are planning a Marathon race to be run on the east shore of Spring lake Aug. 5. A cup for the big event, which will be run in connection with several smaller ones, will be presented by the association of commerce.

The runners will start at the Muskegon city hall and run over a twenty mile course to Grand Rapids. The runers will detour through Fruitport.

ENGINEER IS BANKRUPT.

A petition in voluntary bankruptcy has been filed in United States district court by William F. Blenz, a railroad engineer of Elkhart. He lists assets of $66 and liabilities of $522.52. Edward B. Zigler is the petitioner's attorney.

BATTERY D MEMBERSHIP SLOWLY INCREASING

Peace Strength of 133 Men May Be Reached This Week.

Recruiting officers for Battery D of Fort Wayne are still busy in small towns near Fort Wayne. The membership is gradually nearing peace strength of 133 men and five officers. Capt. John C. Scheffer sent word to the local office stating that he would return to Fort Wayne Friday evening and that he was having good success on his present trip.

Orders for mobilization from the adjutant general are expected to arrive just as soon as peace strength is reached. It will only require a few hours to have all the men at the local recruiting station and by the following day they will be ready to entrain for some fort where, after a few weeks' drill, they will be called to the border.

Those who have been mustered into service in Battery D have been requested to meet at the court house Friday evening, when arrangements for the funeral of Private Floyd Welf will be made. All patriotic organizations have been asked to attend. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon and will be military in every respect.

works. In one of the French raids it is said that a woman and four children were killed.

"We shall now be forced," says the report, "to use our strong battle squadrons for the purpose of reprisal. A great number of peaceful French towns outside the zone of field operations are within the reach of our air squadrons."

FRENCH MORE CONFIDENT.

Paris, July 21.—The resumption of the battle of the Somme in the French sector has greatly enhanced the general confidence in the situation. The protracted halt of operations on more than a minor scale was beginning to make the public fear that the first result would have no morrow and that, as in the case of the Champagne offensive a year ago, there might be a reversion to the old trench warfare. Yesterday's bulletin effectually removed this impression.

A particularly fine piece of work, from the French point of view, was accomplished in the new sector attacked south of the river. East of the old French fort, which ran from the east of Herbeville to half way between that village and the Fouques Court-Verdman-Devillers road, the Germans had constructed, by months of patient toil, an underground fortification in a star-shaped wood and on the slopes of a hill. There were ninety trenches in the wood with two series of underground shelter, in which the soldiers lay snug during the hottest bombardments. The Germans here, as in the Barleux and Soyecourt region, wherein positions formed an inextricable maze of trenches, offered a stouter resistance than elsewhere on the long line of attack. But the French troops, carefully prepared for their work and skilfully led, not only won through everywhere, but held on to their gains and were preparing last night to attempt to still further extend them. It now develops that yesterday's effort was due several days ago, but that the artillery reparation was delayed by heavy weather. The French commander's report that the preliminary bombardment was so effective that the losses of the attackers were comparatively light.

Contrary to expectations the Germans have made no attempt to follow up the smashing blow delivered against the northern Verdun defenses a week ago. The French counter attacks, according to the official accounts, are gradually winning back the ground gained by the Germans at heavy cost in the vicinity of Thiaumont and Fleury. This inactivity on the part of the crown prince is interpreted by French military opinion as evidence that the Germans are finding increasing difficulty in concentrating troops at any one point on the front. The French officers say that each fresh assault on Verdun is requiring longer and longer time to prepare. They claim that the Germans took no less than eighteen days in preparation for the attack of July 12.

RUSSIA SERVES NOTICE.

Will Disregard Hague Rules as to Turk Hospital Ships.

London, July 21.—(9:17 a. m.)—A Reuter's Petrograd dispatch says the Russian minister of foreign affairs has informed the Turkish government through the ambassadors of the United States and Spain that Russia will henceforth disregard the principles of The Hague convention as far as Turkish hospital ships are concerned.

The Russian hospital ship Portugal was sunk by a submarine in the Black sea last March. There were a large number of wounded on board at the time and 115 lives were lost. It was at first stated that the ship had been sunk by a German submarine but Turkey later accepted the responsibility, in declaring that the ship did not fly the Red Cross flag and was mistaken for a transport. On July 9 the Vperiode, which took the place of the Portugal, was torpedoed and sent to the bottom while on her way to Batum to embark wounded soldiers. The official report of the disaster made no mention of loss of lives or of the nationality of the submarine.

AMERICAN BARK CAPTURED.

London, July 21.—(8:15 a. m.)—The American bark Prins Valdemar has been captured by a German warship while on its way from San Francisco to Sweden with a cargo of oil, according to a dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company quoting the Copenhagen Politiken. The schooner was taken into Swinemunde. She left San Francisco February 24.

Algiers, Algeria, July 21.—(Via London, 1.08 p. m.)—The British steamship Grangemoor, 3,198 tons gross and owned by the Moor line, of Newcastle, has been sunk by a submarine. Her crew was landed.

JUNE ACCIDENTS IN INDIANA TOTAL 3,414

More Numerous Than in Any Previous Month Reported to Board.

Indianapolis, July 21.—The number of accidents reported to the state industrial board in June was larger than in any month since the organization of the board, according to the monthly report which was compiled yesterday. A total of 3,414 accidents was reported.

The report shows that the automobile manufacturing industry in Indiana is running a close race with the steam railroads in causing injury to employes. The number of accident in automobile factories was 267, while the number of employes injured on steam roads of the state in the month was 274.

The report shows that employers of Indiana paid a total of $20,779.23 as compensation in closed cases in the month under the provisions of the workmen's compensation law operated by the board. Of the total number of persons injured, 3.87 were temporarily totally disabled, 107 were partially disabled, 95 were dismembered, two were disfigured, and twenty-three were injured fatally.

Wage Average Increases.

Of those injured the highest salary paid to any one individual was $54 a week, the lowest $3 a week, and the average wage was $14.90 a week. It is noted by the board in this connection that since the establishment of the industrial board the average wage of persons injured has steadily increased.

Injuries to the eyes of workmen by flying particles were numerous. One hundred and thirty-eight workmen were injured when hit by chips from breaking wires and 135 workmen were injured when struck by emery particles. In practically all of these cases the men suffered injuries to the eyes.

Three workmen in the state suffered the amputation of an arm each and thirty-nine suffered the loss of one finger each. Thirty-eight persons were injured by train collisions and twelve were injured by the explosion of bottles.

That a large number of accidents occur when workmen are struck by falling objects, is shown in the report. It shows that 284 persons were injured from that cause in June. One hundred and twenty-nine persons were injured by handling heavy objects, and 448 were injured by dropping heavy objects.

Of the workmen injured, the report says that 92.3 per cent show disability of fourteen days or less, 4.3 per cent fourteen to twenty-one days, 1.9 per cent twenty-one to twenty-eight days, and 1.5 per cent, twenty-eight days and more.

Seventy-Nine Women Hurt.

In the list of accidents to women engaged in industrial pursuits, the report shows that seventy-nine women workers were injured. Eleven women employed in laundries suffered injuries. This is the largest number of women victims of accidents reported from any one industry.

The highest wages paid to women workers injured in accidents was $17 a week, the lowest $3 a week, and the average $7.43 a week.

The report shows that in the list of fatal accidents to men the highest wages paid was $30 a week, the lowest $11 a week, and the average was $16.95 a week. The age of those injured fatally ranged from 19 to 65 years. The report does not give the age of one person who was injured fatally.

The report shows that at the present time 1,342 cases are under compensation, the total amount paid being $9,579.90 a week, or an average of $7.14 a week for each person.

CATTLE ADD TO FARM INCOME.

Help Much in Corn Belt, Says Department of Agriculture.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Investigation has convinced the department of agriculture experts that cattle generally add to the farm income in the corn belt. Although direct profit from raising calves is said to be small, other factors are declared to make it highly advantageous. The inquiry was a part of the department's general study of the meat situation.

Keeping of live stock is recommended particularly on farms that have large quantities of cheap roughage or that have land that best can be used as pasture.

Strike Leaders to Be Arraigned on Murder Charge.

Duluth, Minn., July 21.—The eleven range strike leaders charged with the murder of Deputy Sheriff James C. Myron and Thomas Ladvalla, expected to have their preliminary hearings today.

Attorney C. N. Hilton has been retained by the I. W. W. to defend those whose cases go to the grand jury.

They walked about one-half block down the street and entered the Groves home and after searching a clothes closet they secured $10, which had been placed in some old clothing. Members of the Groves family heard them prowling about the house and summoned the night policeman. He built a house fourteen inches square, two stories high with an attic that has ten rooms seven inches square, each accommodating the male and female and two youngsters, the latter now being old enough to leave the home. The first year there was a scarcity of birds, but this year the home is crowded to the utmost, and Wednesday evening 82 martins that could not gain admission to the home were perched upon the electric light wires near the home until the sun went down and they left for some roosting place.

TAUGHT TO SAVE THROUGH BABY BONDS

At least a score of local young men and women have eliminated their former extravagant habits by determining that a certain sum from their earnings of each week was to be set aside and invested in Baby Bonds. After they secured their first one they found a new pleasure in the accumulation of these securities and today they are finding no difficulty in saving what seemed to be an impossible amount before the Baby Bond habit got them.

Baby Bonds come in $10 denominations, are secured by first mortgages on local real estate, and bear six per cent interest. There are also some $500 bonds with the same security and the same rate of interest. For further details see the Wildwood Sales Company, Shoaff building.

HARRISON HILL REMARKABLY LOCATED

Most people are surprised to find on inquiring the distance to Harrison Hill that this addition, located on Calhoun street [illegible] can be reached more quickly than many of the other resident districts of the south side. The actual distance traveled from the court house to Harrison Hill is less than the distance from the court house to the last part of Wildwood avenue, and this is one of the reasons which accounts for the exceedingly rapid development of this addition. Full details regarding Harrison Hill may be secured from Hilgemann & Schaaf, North American building.

1 Corinthians 6:1-8.

1. Dare any of you, having a matter against another, go to law before the unjust, and do not before the saints?

2. Do ye not know that the saints shall judge the world? and if the world shall be judged by you, are ye unworthy to judge the smallest matters?

3. Know ye not that we shall judge angels? how much more things that pertain to this life?

4. If then ye have judgments of things pertaining to this life, set them to judge who are least esteemed in the church.

5. I speak to your shame. Is it so, that there is not a wise man among you? no, not one that shall be able to judge between his brethren?

6. But brother goeth to law with brother, and that before the unbelievers.

7. Now therefore there is utterly a fault among you, because ye go to law one with another. Why do ye not rather take wrong? Why do ye not rather suffer yourselves to be defrauded?

8. Nay, ye do wrong, and defraud, and that your brethren.

Jesus' teaching is stronger than Paul's, and remember who Jesus was. He not only taught His disciples to love their enemies, but he practiced what He preached. "Father, forgive them, for they know not what they do," was His prayer for those who nailed Him to the cross.

The Action of the Progressives.

There were but three hundred delegates in attendance at the Indiana progressive state convention, but there can be no questioning of either their enthusiasm, which was in inverse ratio to numerical representation, or their fidelity to the principles which four years ago led them to sever old party ties and align in a new movement for the governmental program which they believed to be right.

Nor is it to be assumed that the party strength on voting day is to be correctly gauged by the showing at the convention. That there have been wholesale desertions of the moosers' cause is everywhere recognized, but that the party has either passed out of existence or has lost its fighting spirit is disproven by the courageous and determined course of the Indiana leaders.

They have adopted a state platform and placed in nomination a complete state ticket. They have preserved the integrity of the party in Indiana, and the effect will be to give heart anew to thousands of Indiana progressive voters who have been literally stunned by the attempt of many of their original leaders to deliver them over to Mr. Hughes. They do not expect to win, but they have given splendid emphasis to the courage of their convictions and of fidelity to the tenents of their party faith. They are demonstrating the fact that they are enlisted in a cause, and are not to be accounted as mere blind followers of a personal idol who has toppled from the pedestal upon which he was once enshrined.

Those Farm Loan Bonds.

Interest in the new rural credits bill, just signed by President Wilson is not confined to agricultural sections. There is one side of the land loan act which must interest the small investor of the city as well as the country.

This is the provision made for issues of farm loan bonds in denominations of $25, $50, $100, $500 and $1,000, in series of not less than $50,000. Farm loan bonds are to be exempt from taxation and are to bear interest not to exceed 5 per cent.

The law provides for the formation of local farm loan associations composed of prospective borrowers. Each association is to have a limited liability for the loans made its members, therefore each will assure itself of the character of its security. The farm loan bonds are to be issued against the collective security of all the real estate on which the individual loans are made. It is therefore expected that they will prove desirable investments.

The bond of small denomination is approved by experienced financiers as a means of increasing the working capital of the country. There is a certain financial romance in bond buying which many persons do not find in a savings account, and it is reckoned that small sums which are usually wasted will seek an find satisfactory investment in farm loan bonds.

The rural credits bill will operate under the treasury department. Its machinery will be set in motion a soon as the president has appointed and the senate approved the appointment of the four members of the board who will co-operate with the secretary of the treasury.

Repeated complaints continue to reach The Sentinel regarding the practice of autoists in turning South Calhoun street into a speedway during the evening hours. Scarcely an evening passes but that from one to a dozen narrow ecapes from accidents are reported from this section, and citizens there declare it unsafe for pedestrians to attempt to cross the street after 8 o'clock in the evening on account of motorists who seize upon the long stretch of straight-away street near the suburbs to put their machines at top speed. There is opportunity here for the police department to teach an impressive and very valuable lesson by making a few arrests under the anti-speeding laws.

It is said that at least half a hundred aspirants are already lined up in watchful waiting for the official shoes of Trutee Scherer, and that even this number is likely to be increased by the time the county commissioners take up the task of making an appointment to the Wayne township place. History is merely repeating itself. In every crisis this land of the free is always able to produce the man of the hour, and in the present instance a good many of him appear to be conveniently near enough to be quickly summoned in case he is needed.

The refusal of the war department to permit Indiana regiments to preserve the state historical sequence in numbering, is perhaps a bit rough on state sentiment, but it in no wise adversely affects the fighting qualities of the Hoosier lads who have been called to border duty.

Meanwhile, a list of eminent Indiana republicans are now engaged in rehearsing the rather difficult role of taking back most of the things they have been saying about Mr. Beveridge in the past four years.

LEATHERLESS SHOES A REALITY.

(Indianapolis Star.)

The extent to which substitutes are taking the place of leather is the striking feature shown at the National Shoe and Leather Fair now being held in Boston. The war has precipitated an enormous demand on a leather supply that was none too ample. The automobile industry has added very materially to the leather requirements of the country. The problem rapidly was becoming very perplexing with no apparent likelihood of improvement, when the manufacturers of substitutes took a hand.

Manufacturers report that they are finding ready sale in Cuba and some other Latin-American countries for shoes in which there is very little leather. The artificial leather is cheaper than the genuine, which is one feature that appeals to customers in the Caribbean and South America. Some of the fibers that are being utilized in the manufacture of imitation leather are said to be very durable. It is contended that one artificial sole material is being turned out that is superior to leather.

The display is interesting to those who had feared what might be the ultimate result of continued increase in demand and decrease in supply of leather. It serves further to illustrate the old adage that necessity is the mother of invention. While leather dealers have no fear that the demand for their product will disappear, or be seriously diminished, even they are pleased with the progress that is being made along the line of producing satisfactory substitutes.

This is the simp that stands on a corner with a crowd, or at the beach, or park, and makes cute, clever remarks when the frails go by.

He stands with his hands in his pockets, every move a picture, rattling what is supposed to be coins, but in reality are stock-room keys.

He has his legs far apart like a thoroughbred horse and when a doll comes tripping along, he spills something clever like this: "Oh! how do you do!—In a case like that, George?"

Then he'll snap his fingers and do some soft shoe dancing. Yes, Neil, Italy is the only place where they don't believe in capital punishment.

FAVORS PUBLICITY OF INCOME TAX RETURNS

BY BASIL M. MANLY.

Washington, July 21.—"I never could see any sense in keeping the income tax returns secret, any more than any other tax!"

So declares Senator John Sharp Williams, chairman of the sub-committee of the senate committee on finance, which has just been appointed to consider the income and inheritance taxes. The other members of this sub-committee are Senators Gore and James.

The endorsement by Senator Williams of publicity for the income tax returns is worth that of any other two senators not only because of the position that he occupies as the democrat in charge of the income tax bill in the senate, but also because he is one of the majority leaders and one of the strongest debaters in the United States senate.

Senator Williams said he thought the rates in the Kitchin bill were about right, although he had not given them thorough consideration. When it was pointed out that the Kitchin bill increases the rate on incomes of from $3,000 to $20,000, a whole 100 per cent, and only increases the super tax on incomes over $500,000 60 per cent, Senator Williams said:

"Well, percentages are dangerous things to fool with. This may be like the case of the orator that pointed to the great republican achievements in Mississippi, because the republican vote had increased 200 per cent, and when they looked up the facts they found that it had—it had increased from 2 to 6! The main thing to look at in this Kitchin bill is that it takes six times as large a proportion of the millionaires' income as it does of the income of the man making $5,000 a year."

SNAPSHOTS AGAIN.

I sigh and shudder strangely, and sometimes I hold my breath, for of the happy summertime I'm frightened half to death. The summer is the season when the deadly snapshot fan is taking pictures of his house, his barn, and garbage can. He's taking pictures of his car, his baby and his wife, and he'll be showing them to friends throughout his pesky life. He'll get a mighty album, and he'll take a trip to Maine, and then to hear him talk awhile you'd think he'd been to Spain. He'll pack his album down to work and show it off next fall until w'll have to tell him that he'd better rent a hall. He'll lecture on those snapshots far into the autumn nights; he'll show us pictures of the lakes, the bay, the Northern Lights, and photos of his cousin's pal, supposing all the time that all this stuff appeals to us, and makes our lives sublime.

The only way to fight a fan who goes on snapshot tours is just to get an album full and loudly show him yours! —Charles B. Driscoll.

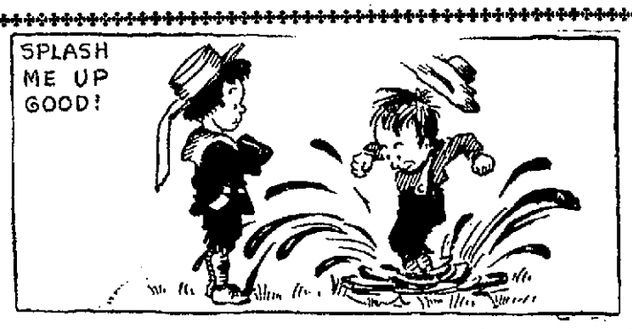
MEET THE TEMPERATURE HALF WAY.



"Keep cool," "Don't get so hot," we say to an angry man, thus showing that we know very well the relation between temperature and temper.

And we take it for granted that children are going to get cross in hot weather. And they do but it is usually some adult's fault.

But they are only reducing their temperature instinctively. They are only doing for themselves in the easiest and handiest way what their guardians should manage in a better way—if they can find one.

In July, the demand for little white coffins is heavier than in any other month of the year. Hundreds would not be required, if parents would take care to meet the temperature half way.

Don't be afraid that if you take off the children's petticoats they are going to take cold. Unless they are already below the normal physically, and ready to catch anything, the children will have a hard time taking cold when the thermometer climbs above 90.

Make it a rule that they may go barefoot in the hottest hours of the day. Put on sandals if the premises are not assuredly raked nail clean.

Let the small folks, even the baby, have plenty of cool but not iced water.

The offensive is supposed to have the advantage of any battle. It is good strategy, therefore, to meet any hot spell in a valiant and conquering mood.

DECLARES WILSON RIGHT ON MEXICO

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Continuing his sensational speech on the naval bill in the senate, Senator LaFollette, of Wisconsin, a radical republican, unqualifiedly indorsed President Wilson's Mexican policy and predicted the president would be re-elected in November if that policy is made the chief issue of the campaign.

The out and out declaration of the republican senator for the policy of the democratic president toward Mexico was elicited by an inquiry from Senator Lewis, of Illinois. Interrupting LaFollette, Senator Lewis said:

"I understand that the senator approves the policy of President Wilson in not entering upon a course of military intervention in Mexico under the circumstances?"

Voices Plea to Hughes.

"I do, I do most emphatically," answered LaFollette decisively. "I sincerely hope that the standard bearer of the republican party in this campaign will not feel himself constrained and will not under any circumstances take the position that it is the duty of this government to put the flag of the United States behind the investments of speculators in Mexico or elsewhere.

"President Wilson declared in his speech at Detroit that he would not stand for that policy, that he would not 'become the collecting agent of investors in Mexico.' The American people, if that issue is made between the republican candidate for the presidency and President Wilson, will, in my opinion, overwhelmingly stand with President Wilson."

Recalls Vera Cruz.

"I should like to ask," inquired Senator Norris, "in connection with the senator's idea that the army should not be used in Mexico for the benefit of speculators, whether he believes that the army or the navy of the United States should be used in Mexico for the purpose of having some discredited bandit salute the American flag?"

"No," most emphatically not!" said Senator LaFollette, "and I was one of a very limited number of senators who voted against indorsing President Wilson when he ordered the troops to Vera Cruz. I could not bring myself to do it. I did not believe it was warranted. I know perfectly well, I am satisfied in my mind, that the matter of the salute to the American flag had nothing to do with the ordering of the troops to Vera Cruz. Why, Mexico at that time offered to fire a salute to the American flag."

Washington, July 21.—The state department today received from Austria-Hungary, through Ambassador Penfield, at Vienna, a request for additional details regarding the attack by an Austrian submarine upon the American tank steamer Petrolite.

Mr. Penfield's dispatch gave no indication as to whether the Vienna government intended to comply with the American demands for an apology, punishment of the submarine commander and reparation for the damage done by the submarine's shell fire.

Officials of the department declined to divulge the nature of the information sought on the ground that negotiations at this time were confidential. A reply will go forward shortly.

The Austrian claim has been that the submarine commander fired on the Petrolite by mistake and that later the master of the tanker voluntarily furnished the submarine with provisions. The Petrolite captain swears, however, that he was shelled without provocation and compelled over vigorous protests, to surrender a part of his supplies which were sufficient only to take him to port.

TEXAS GIRLS FORM MILITIA COMPANY

Fort Worth, Texas, July 20.—With frivolity cast aside, forty young society women, all earnestly and seriously interested, gathered at Lieut. Kate Lahane's residence and organized Fort Worth's first company of girls' militia as a branch of the Girls' National Honor Guard, one of the first to be organized in Texas.

Representatives of four young women's clubs were present, bringing with them enlistments of all the girls in their respective organizations. When the girls from these organizations are finally enlisted in person the company will have a roster of eighty members.

Contrary to the ancient tradition, a majority of the interested young women were present when "assembly" was sounded and but two or three were tardy in making their appearance.

After the company was mustered in Lieutenant Lahane spoke briefly on the purposes of the organization and outlined the three branches of service.

The one thing that probably caused the most enthusiasm was the announcement that a training camp will be organized within the near future and will be held in Galveston. The camp will be conducted along the same lines as those which prevailed at Chevy Chase, Washington, and will be attended by all girls who are members of the organization in Texas.

Lieutenant Lehane was able to announce that she has been appointed a member of the staff which will command at the Galveston encampment, and promised that Fort Worth members would not be overlooked in any detail.

TENNIS FOR THE BEGINNERS

(The second of a series on tennis posed especially for The Sentinel by Miss Florence A. Ballin, of Bryn Mawr college, the 1916 sensation of tennis, hockey and basketball star.)

In selecting your racquet get one weighing about 13 ounces, for a heavier one will quickly tire the forearm and slow up play. Pay particular attention to the size of the grip and see that it has a comfortable handle. If your hands perspire wind the handle with tape as a firm grip cannot be had unless the handle is dry.

Grip the racquet at the extreme end, resting the butt against the palm of the hand. Girls who grab the handle half way up never are able to control the ball. At first this may seem awkward, but you'll soon become accustomed to it.

In gripping for the forehand stroke close the hand around the handle with the thumb across. A firmer grip is required for the backhand. Here you move the thumb out parallel with the pressing against the handle.

If you grip the handle with the same firmness throughout the whole game you will tire. Relax the grip between strokes and close firmly only when you swing for the ball.

The foot fault is a part of the game to be avoided. In serving rest the weight on the right foot, with the balls in your left hand and the racquet swinging at your right side. Study the position of your opponent, toss the ball in the air, swing the racquet down hard on the ball and at the same time going forward with the body so you will end the stroke resting on your left foot.

Thus you will add the weight of your body to the strength of your arm. Be sure you are perfectly balanced before serving.

IN POLONAISE EFFECT

COULD anything be softer and cooler for the hot summer days than this frock of printed voile, which is made in polonaise effect. While the voile is well covered with a design, it does not allow itself to grow tiresome, but takes unto itself an underslip of white organdie. This is visible from the neck to the hem in front and acts as an underskirt beneath the rest of the frock. A puffed band and a frill of the organdie are used successfully to outline the waist and scalloped bottom of the overskirt. Since lavendor is the prevailing color of the voile, velvet ribbon of the same color is used to encircle the waist as far as the front panel of white and to fall in streamers. Fine tucks, lace and organdie are combined to form a collar, which falls into a deep point in back.

Surely this pattern should prove helpful to one contemplating the combination of two materials to form a frock.

TRIMMING YOUR HAT

WOMEN are more impressed than ever this season with the fact that the scantier the trimming the better looking is the hat. This knowledge makes it possible for them to buy their own smart shapes at nominal cost and trim them at a correspondingly low expense. The vogue of hand painting on hats proves very economical for the girl who has a supply of paints on hand. However, the girl who can't do the work has the opportunity of using ribbons showing splashy floral designs.

There is a stunning hat of black lisere which is trimmed solely with a crown of stub ostrich confined by a band of narrow black velvet ribbon. Any one could copy it for less than half the price asked for it.

The felt hats which are gaining so much prominence show either a band of ribbon as trimming, or around the crown at intervals embroidered medallions are tacked. Others have heavy white wool couched down on the brim. The smartest of sports hats show a lavish use of worsted trimmings, so that the woman who is handy with her needle can add individual touches to her hats.

In spite of the glaring sun there are occasions in the middle of summer when the small hat is a necessity. A very effective and simple way to trim one of the round, small, close-fitting hats is to tack one long quill around the top of the crown, along the edge.

If the novice at hat trimming will observe the rule of pinning all trimming before sewing it, her success is almost certain. The pins can be easily readjusted until the trimming is placed at the most becoming angle.

FASHIONGRAMS

AN ADAPTABLE sports veil has a wide border of very wide vertical stripes. This border may be allowed to hang around the shoulders when the veil is draped to a large hat, or may encircle a small toque, or be draped gracefully at the back of a sports hat. The veil is a white silk mesh and the border is chiffon with stripes of sports colorings.

SUMMER BEDSPREADS

SOMETHING cool, in spreads, you say? Yes, indeed, there are plenty of summery spreads to be had. Dimity and dotted swiss are especially good and can be had made up very simply to insure successful laundering, with deep ruffles to finish the hangover. Some have dainty flower sprays in delicate colors.

Other spreads, made in more substantial materials use bleached or unbleached muslin, of cotton poplin. One set is especially pretty. It has an embroidered design in colors, which fits the center of the spread, with sprays to outline the edge. With those you can have envelope pillow cases with a spray to effectively outline the flap.

To get the effect of grandmother's quilt without the work that grandmother had one can buy a spread that has an ornate design of purple or pink grapes, with graceful green leaves printed in bright colors.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS

Protecting the Face

How can I make a bathing cap to protect the face? Would you make a brim to it? The only trouble is that it is in the way when swimming. N. B.

Why not make a detachable brim to the bathing cap, of rubberized silk, satin or taffeta sewed on a wire frame and bound with silk tape? This can be worn over the colored cap on the beach and detached when you wish to bathe.

Summer Wrap

I notice in the shops that they are selling summer wraps made of white chiffon. I have some white silk net. Would that be appropriate? How would you trim it? ESTELLE.

The silk net would be very good. Make the wrap rather full, and finish, if you wish, with a triple cape collar. The edge of the wrap and the collar as well as the sleeves may be finished with a marabou in white or colors, or else a ricoon quilling may be used.

A NOVEL COLLAR

AMONG the newest collars is one which has been given the name vestal, because of its resemblance to the collars worn by nuns of a particular order. Of course, the broad opening in the front and the use of the ribbon modifies the model so that it is quite different from its original inspiration. There is a noticeable use of black ribbon, either satin or taffeta, on many of the new collars. A collar of this type worn on a smart one-piece frock would add to its attractiveness and give it a charming prim coyness.

Collars of this design can be procured in velvet and satin. When made of the latter materials they are lined with silk or flowered chiffon.

EXPERIMENTS MADE TO FIND MALARIA CURE

Exhaustive Investigations to Be Made in Arkansas for Two Years.

Little Rock, Ark., July 21.—Investigation of malaria being conducted at Crossett and Lake Village by the state board of health, the United States public health service and the international health board are to be the most exhaustive and systematic ever prosecuted.

Near Lake Village four groups of tenant houses along the shores of Lake Chicot were chosen for the experiments, which are to extend over a period of two years.

In Group A, the houses are perfectly screened and quinine administered. In Group B, the houses are screened, but no quinine is administered, and in Group C, the program is just reversed, quinine being administered but no effort being made toward screening. In the fourth group there is neither screening nor the administration of quinine.

Strict account is being kept of the illnesses in the four groups, the cost of treating the cases, the loss of time from work, and the cost, in the first three, of the preventive measures. At the end of two years the comparison will demonstrate the results of screening and administration of quinine, and the cost compared to the price paid for not preventing the malarial mosquito from pursuing its activity.

BANK EMPLOYE VACATIONS—WHY.

Comptroller Williams Would Examine Books During Their Absence.

Washington, July 21.—Because most national bank defalcations are by employes retained on a single set of books continually, Comptroller Williams is trying to induce all banks to grant yearly vacations so that records may be examined during the employe's absence. Many small banking institutions do not allow annual leave, it was discovered by replies to a query in the latest call for bank statements. The comptroller said today that he was interested primarily in preventing falsifying of records and embezzlement by this means, rather than in exercising a paternal supervision of employes' welfare.

Serge and Silk Continue Popular

BY BETTY BROWN.

It's so practical and proper in the matter of style the serge-and-silk suit is likely to remain forever. It is perfect for traveling.

But there are new variations, as this sketch from Fashion Art League of America will show.

London, June 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The facility of the Japanese in turning successfully to the various forms of highly skilled manufacturers is illustrated by samples received of their work in making sports requisites. They have made a beginning with tennis racquets and footballs, but soon are expected to be able to provide a complete outfit for the golfer, the cricketer and the angler.

News of the new efforts of the Japanese in the latter lines is of especial interest to the English, who have regarded them as peculiarly their own. As one newspaper points out, however, in reflecting the general view here, "nothing calling for ingenuity and subtle craftsmanship seems to be impossible with our eastern ally." In the trade some polite opposition to the new invasion, however, may be discerned. Thus one expert points to the fact that football is absolutely a British game and British manufacturers are able to provide all that is required in the line.

One dealer in sporting goods waxed enthusiastic over a tennis racquet from Japan at $1.82, declaring that the value and workmanship were marvelous. It was the highest price of the Japanese products, ranging from sixty cents to $1.82.

"They are going about it just as the Germans did, and their cleverness and cheap labor are fast bringing them to the top," he said. "There seems to be nothing they cannot copy and copy well." The same dealer called attention to the fact that the Japanese are getting away from the "Japanese touch" or earmark of their goods, pointing out that while formerly one could tell at a glance that a thing was Japanese, now the finish is such that it might be German, French or that of any other country.

GIVEN MODEST TOTAL OF FIFTEEN NAMES

Son of Heir to Austro-Hungarian Throne is Well Supplied.

Vienna, June 25.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The latest son of the heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne was formally christened with great pomp at Schoenbrunn on June 8, and given the modest total of fifteen names to carry.

The young man probably will be called Felix for short, but officially he is now Archduke Felix, Frederick August, Maria vom Siege, Francis Joseph, Peter, Karl, Anton, Robert, Otto, Pius, Michael, Benedict Sebastian, Ignatius, Marcus d'Aviano.

His sponsor or godfather was King Frederick August, of Saxony, who made a special trip to Vienna from Dresden. As representative of the godmother there officiated Countess Lucchesi-Palli, nee Princess of Parma. The solemn service in the Maria Therese room of the palace at Schoenbrunn was conducted by Cardinal and Princely Bishop Dr. Piffl.

BY BETTY BROWN.

And now her sports coat comes in plaids—Scotch plaids and cubist plaid, any plaid will do, if the colors are gay enough.

BY BETTY BROWN.

If you would be truly, really stylish and dressed up this summer you must—if you are a small person—have a touch of black velvet on your dress.

It's just as quaint and old-fashioned as it sounds, but nevertheless pretty, as you will see from this picture of the child in velvet trimmed frock.

The dress is Roman striped handkerchief linen with the velvet bands set on the shoulder sleeves and banding the bottom of the skirt. Flat little bows are tacked on every six inches or so. The big poke bonnet of fine straw shows the trend of fashion, for most little girls will be bonneted this season—and the saucy bonnet streamers are black velvet!

TWO BARNS STRUCK.

Lightning Does Some Damage in Allen County Thursday.

Two barns were struck by lightning Thursday afternoon in Allen county. The big barn on the Rapp farm, five miles from the city on the Huntington road, was burned to the ground, a cow and two calves, the only live stock in the stable at the time, being consumed. The total loss will approximate $1,000, with no insurance to cover it.

A barn on the Kammeyer farm on the upper Huntington road, was also struck by lightning and burned to the ground. The season's crop of hay was destroyed, together with the farm implements. The farm was rented by Louis Rapp.

FALL HAT—SUMMER DAY.

BY BETTY BROWN.

You may think it rather early for velvet hats, but Madame the Milliner thinks differently.

She has decided that a lingerie frock never looks so delicate and cool as when crowned by a stunning black velvet hat—and if all black velvet hats have the same chic, the same good lines that this Tam O'Shanter—a Fashion Art sketch, by the way—then I'll agree with Madame the Milliner.

On with the fall hats for summer wear!

Indianapolis, July 21.—The Star this morning prints expressions from a number of prominent Indiana republicans over the return of ex-Senator Beveridge, one of the most prominent figures in the progressive movement, to the republican party. Some of the expressions follow:

Charles W. Fairbanks—"It is with great pleasure I observe Senator Beveridge's purpose to support Mr. Hughes. It must have a very favorable influence upon the progressive vote in Indiana and elsewhere."

Will H. Hays—"We are of course immensely pleased that Senator Beveridge will support our candidate. It is a source of satisfaction to all well-wishers of good government that his great ability will be directed to that end. He is essentially a constructionist, and in the important campaign before us and the crisis of the next four years, his aid will be invaluable. The solution of the entire matter is certainly now a question of patriotism and Senator Beveridge has taken the only course consistent with his known ideals, his real Americanism and his habit of thought and action as a constructionist and not an obstructionist. Republicans welcome him again to their fighting force, where he so certainly belongs, and where he has striven so well, just as they are welcoming the hundreds of other patriotic Indianians who voted other tickets in 1912 and 1914, but who are now aiding so splendidly in an effort for the victory which means so much for the country's future."

James E. Watson—"That Albert J. Beveridge is a thorough student of publ affairs will be acknowledged by all; that he is a most accomplished orator will be disputed by none. Nor will it be denied in any quarter that he has a large and earnest following in Indiana and throughout the land. These elements of personal and political strength make his advocacy of any cause most desirable and I am heartily glad that he has announced his intention of supporting the republican ticket in this campaign."

Harry S. New—"I am very glad indeed to see Mr. Beveridge back, and know that he will be of great value and assistance to the republican party in the next campaign. He will take an active part in the election of Mr. Hughes and the general republican ticket. I had no doubt but that such a move would be forthcoming at the proper time. The progressive party accomplished that purpose for which it was organized and has long since ceased to be a real factor in the field. This fact has been recognized by its real leaders, Mr. Roosevelt and others. Mr. Beveridge's help will be valuable and his return to the party will be welcomed. I am heartily glad to see him back."

William Dudley Foulke—"Of course we are glad to know that Beveridge will be with us for Hughes in this campaign. For myself I never doubted this a moment. He has always the faculty of acting on the right side of important questions. No one should have thought it possible he could support such a weather-vane as Wilson, backed by such a pork-barrel party as now controls congress nor ought any one else do this who realizes the fatal consequences which may follow the unpreparedness into which they have suffered the country to remain so long by their silly pacifisms while the whole world was tumbling about our heads. Hughes' record is straight and he ought to have the support of all patriotic men."

Will R. Wood—"Beveridge supporting Hughes signifies that the most ultra-progressives who really stood for principles in their own party are satisfied that the republican platform and candidates now stand for the best interests of our country. He should be commended for his action."

WILSON IN PERSONAL APPEAL FOR POLAND

Washington, July 21.—Personal messages were sent by President Wilson today to European rulers uring their cooperation in getting food supplies from the United States to the starving people of Poland.

Efforts in the same direction sent through the state department to the foreign offices of the countries involved have met with failure. The president desires that France, Great Britain and Russia allow the passage of the foodstuffs and that Germany and Austria-Hungary guarantee that the food will be given to the civilian population and not seized by the army of occupation.

PREDICTS HIGHER YIELD.

Crop Returns from Kansas Indicate Early Estimates Too Low.

Topeka, Kan., July 21.—Based on threshing returns from a number of counties of the state, J. C. Mohler, secretary of the state board of agriculture, today predicted that the state yield of wheat may exceed his previous estimate of ninety million bushels.

With a tremendous corn acreage, 6,990,000 acres, the report shows the condition for the state indicates 75 per cent of a full yield.

The yield of oats is indicated at 21.6 bushels to the acre, or a crop of 32,000,000 bushels.

The quality of the wheat this year is much better than in 1915, Secretary Mohler says.

WASHINGTON WILL MAKE NO COMMENT

Mexican Version Not Identical With Official Carranza Note.

Washington, July 21.—While it was admitted at the state department today that a note had been received from the de facto government of Mexico under date of July 11, proposing the appointment of a joint commission to settle borment of a joint commission to settle borment upon the statement given out at Mexico City last night purporting to present the text of the communication.

It was learned from an authoritative source, however, that the Mexico City text, though substantially similar, is not identical with that presented by Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate.

Mr. Arredondo saw Acting Secretary Polk before the latter went to today's cabinet meeting. The general impression prevailed that a tentative agreement has been reached along the general lines of the Mexican proposal, although the scope of the discussion may differ somewhat from the suggestions of the Carranza note.

It was indicated after the cabinet meeting that no statement could be expected today. Mr. Polk's only comment was to reiterate that the negotiations were "progressing favorably." He is understood to have told Mr. Arredondo that he is not prepared to give a reply to the Mexican note.

War department officials today interpreted the action of Gen. Calles, the Carranza commander in Sonora, in returning the Nacozari railroad to American managements, indicating a favorable change of sentiment on the part of the Mexican military officials on the western part of the border.

WEATHER ALSO WAITS DEUTSCHLAND DIVE

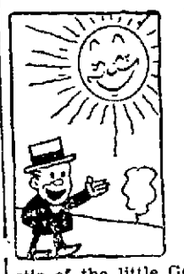
Even the weather hung breathless Friday in anticipation of the hazardous plunge of the brave Deutschland it seemed. There was a pause in the fretful program of burning days and black thunder storms which gave the weatherman to understand that the elements were also pausing to listen for the first stir of the little German craft in the Baltimore harbor.



The hottest part of the day only boosted the thermometer to 83 degrees. Heat of the prohibition convention did not carry as far as Fort Wayne. The coolest part of the day was shortly before sunrise and was 72 degrees.

The future looks as regular as the present congress session. It may be a little warmer Saturday. Sunday should be fair.

Maj. Gen. Bliss in Report on Guardsmen's Camps in Texas.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Another report today from Major General Bliss to the war department on his inspection of national guard camps on the Mexican border said he found the encampments at Llano Grande, Donna, Mercedes and Harlingen, Texas, in an excellent state of health, with sanitary condition ranging from good to excellent. The dispatch follows:

"Finished inspection of Minnesota and Indiana infantry brigades and two regiments of Nebraska infantry and auxiliary troops from these states, all stationed at Llano Grande and portions of Texas infantry brigade stationed at Donna, Mercedes and Harlingen. The date for the hearing of the men before the United States commissioner here will be set at that time.

The men were arrested on affidavits sworn out by Harry Wallace, a deputy revenue collector, and the charge is in two counts. The first charges Dr. Patton with illegally issuing a prescription calling for morphine unmixed with other drugs, and Randel with filling the prescription. Both men engaged attorneys today and issued statements denying any criminal intent, although Dr. Patton admitted writing the prescription in the course, he said of his treatment of the drug user, in attempting a cure.

HEAT EXPANSION WRECKS STREET

Bridge is Damaged When Sun Causes Pavement to Blow Up.

"The Clinton street bridge is falling down," was the message police received over the telephone at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon. Mayor Hosey, City Engineer Randall, Frank Singrey and Henry Hilgeman, of the board of works, and two patrolmen hastened to the scene in the board of works automobile.

They found the street across the top of the bridge blocked by a heap of bricks, much resembling the crest of battle breastworks. Continued heat wave of the past week and the beating sun Friday had caused the bricks in the street to expand until they could no longer fit together in order. The street blew up with a bang which startled pedestrians for half a square from the bridge. The sharp report had caused some one to think the bridge was wrecked.

The bricks, which had been thrown into the air when the strain along the ridge became too great, were piled in disorder across the bridge. Superintendent of Streets Strodel was ordered to have the bridge repaired at once. Two lines of brick will be taken out in order to take up the slack from the expansion. Layers of elastic coating will be placed between the bricks.

Rousch has a one year contract and McKeechnie for two years. Mathewson will take charge of the Reds in the game with Philadelphia this afternoon.

VILLA PERSONALLY DIRECTING FIGHT

San Antonio, July 21.—Corroboration of the reports that Francisco Villa is personally directing a campaign that has for its immediate object the capture of Torreon was contained in a report from Gen. Pershing to Gen. Funston today. The message, which was filed yesterday at Columbus, appeared to have been written the day before.

Information that had reached Gen Pershing at that time was that Villa had 1,800 men with him and was planning an attack on Torreon. He referred to the defeat on June 30 of the Carranza forces at Corralitos, placing the casualties at 300. He added that it had been definitely ascertained that Villa was still suffering from the wound in his right leg. No orders have been sent to Gen. Pershing to resume operations against Villa.

MORAL DEFEAT FOR BANDIT.

El Paso, Texas, July 21.—Passengers arriving here today from Parral say that Villa's ineffectual attempt to take that town a week ago Sunday was a far greater moral than military defeat, so far as the bandit's cause is concerned.

Before the attack Villa was regarded with awe by the populace of the Parral district, the arrivals said, but now the natives pride themselves on their loyalty to the de facto government. They also are proud of their part in humiliating the bandit leader. The shipment of 250,000 rounds of small arms ammunition from Columbus to the punitive force, which gave rise to sensational rumors here, is explained today by the military authorities as merely the usual supply for target practice.

Rumors to the effect that Gen. Pershing intends to move south and re-occupy Namiquipa and other abandoned points, have been current here, but they find no support among the army men or government officials.

Infuriated Animal Doesn't Take Kindly to the Automobile.

Federalsburg, Md., July 21.—Twiford Williams, a farmer living near here, had a thrilling experience with an infuriated bull. Williams ran his motor car into a field to look over the bull, which he was contemplating buying. The bull became frightened at the machine and made a dash for it. Williams quickly turned on all the power the car contained and the machine shot away at a 50-mile-an-hour clip, but when it reached the gate leading out of the field Williams could not make the turn at such high speed.

The bull chased him around the field repeatedly and made desperate attempts to head off the car, but Williams, by carefully manipulating the steering wheel, managed to elude the beast, which finally became tired and gave the frightened man a chance to escape through the gate.

Unrelenting war was declared on weeds by Mayor Hosey Friday. His sweeping ultimatum says that the noxious, germ-gatherers are to be slaughtered everywhere that they raise their dust-begrimed heads along alleyways and about vacant houses. If property owners do not cut their weeds before the week end they will be prosecuted.

Police were ordered to arrest all property owners on whose land weeds are growing. There is an ordinance providing a fine for the offense and Mayor Hosey says he will only insist on the enforcing of the law. He has made both the board of works and board of health responsible for weed cutting in Fort Wayne.

"Now is the logical time to cut the weeds short," Hosey said. "Early in the spring there is little use to cut them for they grow out again. Now there will be little growth this fall. I expect no delay in having all weeds cut. There will be no partiality. Those who neglect their weed cutting need not be surprised when they face Judge Kerr."

Scherer, Wayne township trustee, convicted by a jury in circuit court of misappropriation of township funds, cannot be appointed unspecial trial judge, has entered judgment specia ltrial judge, has entered judgment on the verdict. Before judgment on the verdict is entered the defense will exercise its right of making a motion for a new trial, Harry Hilgemann, of counsel for the defense, said Friday.

The county commissioners, who have the appointive power in the matter of naming Scherer's successor, returned from Cleveland Friday. If judgment is finally entered on the verdict removing Scherer from office the county commissioners are required to make an appointment immediately. The law makes no provision for anything other than a definite successor in office at once.

SAYS PARTY BREACH IS HEALING RAPIDLY

Bridgehampton, N. Y., July 21.—Charles E. Hughes today told callers that he considered the break between republicans and progressives and between republican factions in various localities to be healing fast and that he looked forward with gratification to having a virtually reunited party behind him by the time his campaign opens in Detroit, August 7.

No attempt was being made to bring pressure on progressives to join the working forces for his election, Mr. Hughes said, the program being to appeal to their judgment. Nearly every one, the nominee added, seemed to be responsive to the sentiment of the necessity for co-operation. The republican party he continued had a perfectly straight and clear course to steer; it wanted to crowd no one, to urge no one to join it, but to appeal to all.

Mr. Hughes expressed the opinion that the situation in Illinois and other places where republican and progressive leaders supported him were in process of adjusting differences of opinon was a relatively minor phase of the national situation that probably had been accepted and unquestionably would be settled permanently.

VICTIM OF PLAGUE IN CRITICAL STATE

Physicians hold out little hopes of recovery for the eight-year-old victim of infantile paralysis in Fort Wayne. The child is Berlina Suttles, colored, 1217 Thayer street. The left side of the little sufferer is completely paralyzed. Her throat is contracted so that it is necessary to furnish her with nourishment through a tube. Fever is raging.

Strict quarantine has been maintained since Thursday afternoon, when Drs. H. O. Bruggeman and J. H. Gilpin, representing the city health board, assured themselves that the case was one of the dread disease. Members of the family are not allowed to leave the house.

Dr. J. Frank Dinnen is attending the case. Financial condition of the family will not enable them to engage continued medical service. Dr. Dinnen is doing all in his power for the girl. All he can do is not very much, he states, as science has evolved no strenuous methods for the strange plague.

Dr. Tinkham First Called.

Dr. M. W. Tinkham was first called on the case. That was Wednesday. The girl had been ill for two days, Dr. Tinkham was told. He found the child partially paralyzed. The girl complained of intense pain on the right side of her neck, at the base of the brain. Her spine was also affected. Dr. Tinkham said he was convinced at once that the patient was suffering from infantile paralysis and he summoned Drs. Gilpin and Bruggeman. Dr. Gilpin says there can be no question about the disease. He doubts if the girl will survive.

No other cases have shown up in the city. Parents of the Suttles girl can think of no association with children coming from eastern cities from whom the disease might have been contracted. They have no idea where germs of the disease were picked up. The child has not suffered from a fall lately, which sometimes is given as a direct cause.

Other Families Frightened.

The Suttle family lives at the juncture of Thayer and Oliver streets, near the Pennsylvania railroad. Other families living in the neighborhood are frantic since the nature of the girl's illness has been posted and a quarantine sign tacked on the door. Families living as far as two squares away have sent their children to other parts of Fort Wayne to stay with relatives for several days.

Dr. Gilpin thinks that her case will be safeguarded sufficiently that there will be little danger of a general outbreak in the city.

Members of the health board are continuing their practice of attending trains which may bring families from New York and other infested eastern cities into Fort Wayne.

No Improvement at Garrett.

The condition of Margaret, the fourteen-months-old daughter of Rev. and Mrs. G. Bloedel at Garrett, still remains very critical and no hopes are entertained for the child's recovery. A strict quarantine of the Bloedel home is being maintained.

Colonel Foster Just Refused to Be Scared

(From the Indianapolis News).

Although D. N. Foster, of Fort Wayne, admitted that he was a candidate on the republican state ticket for contingent elector-at-large, he refused to vacate his seat as a member of the progressive convention committee on credentials Wednesday night, even after he had been requested to leave and had been expelled from membership. Threats were made to call a policeman and put him out, but even this did not worry him. He had anchored himself to his chair.

Only two men had attended the Twelfth district delegates' meeting at the state house earlier in the evening. They were Foster and R. W. Vaughn, of Auburn. They did not organize a meeting, nor elect a chairman. The two decided that Vaughn should be a member of the resolutions committee and Foster should go on the credentials committee.

Foster Not "Scared."

At the committee meeting, Will Newsom, of Elizabethtown, asked Foster if it were true that he was a candidate on the republican ticket for contingent elector. Foster said it was true. A growl ran around the room, and Newsom moved that Foster be requested to resign from the committee, and that if he refused to leave, he should be ejected by force.

Foster's hair and whiskers bristled when he heard the motion.

"Oh, now, gentlemen," he said, "I did not fight three or four years for Uncle Sam to be scared by any man. I am going to stay right here. I was elected by the unanimous vote of the Twelfth district meeting, and here I am."

Motion Changed.

Newsom's motion was split, and the forcible ejectment part was dropped. The first part was carried. Still Foster refused to get out. Thomas A. Daily, of Indianapolis, urged that a policeman be called to eject Foster, but this was not done. But Daily made a motion, which was carried, that Foster be expelled as a member of the committee and that his credentials as a delegate to the state convention be canceled, but Foster remained, and voted on every question as long as the committee was in session. Foster said he was for Hughes and that he was opposed to a state ticket.

F. E. Watson, of Goldsmith, in the Ninth district, voted with Foster all the way through. He voted against the motions to oust him. All other members voted for the motions to oust and cancel and fire and dump and all the rest.

Spooning in Court Room.

There was much excitement in the DeKalb circuit court the other day, all because of two loving couples that could not refrain from spooning even while court was in session. The Auburn Star tells about it in the following language:

"The loving, confiding attitude of the two couples on the rear seats attracted the attention of the sober judge on the bench and soon the members of the jury caught sight of the attractive picture and lost the thread of the argument the lawyers were making. The pretty picture lasted until court adjourned for the noon hour. The court house is a sympathetic place for spooning."

NOTED AUTHORITY WRITES OF SHARKS

Washington, July 21.—The tragic depredations of man-eating sharks along the Atlantic seaboard lend an especially timely interest to a communication from Dr. Hugh M. Smith, the foremost American authority on fishes, addressed to the National Geographic society and released today as a bulletin.

"When giant fishes are mentioned most people will at once think of the shark, among which, indeed, are found the largest fish now existing," writes Mr. Smith. "Of the many species of sharks noteworthy on account of their size there are about half a dozen which are prominent. These differ much in their disposition, some being as harmless as doves and others the incarnation of ferocity.

"The sleeper shark (Sommiosus microcephalos), whose scientific name fits it so admirably, appears to have developed its body at the expense of its brain, for it is a sluggish, stupid glutton, about six times as long as an average man. At home in the Arctic regions it sometimes makes visits as far south as Cape Cod, the British Isles and Oregon. It is most often observed lying quietly on the surface, apparently dozing and easily approached, but at times, when hungry, it rouses itself and fiercely attacks whales, biting huge pieces out of their sides and tails, and when feeding on the carcass of a whale which has been killed by hunters it is so voracious that it permits spears and knives to be thrust into it without seeming to take any notice.

"One of the most prodigious and perhaps the most formidable of sharks is the 'man-eater' (Carcharodon carcharias). It roams through all temperate and tropical seas and everywhere is an object of dread. Its maximum length is 40 feet and its teeth are three inches long. While there are few authentic instances of sharks attacking human beings (prior to the recent tragedies), there have undoubtedly been many cases where sharks simply swallowed people who had fallen overboard, just as they would swallow any other food. How easy it would be for a man-eater to devour a person whole may be judged from the finding of an entire hundred-pound sea-lion in the stomach of a 30-foot shark on the California coast. A certain man-eater 36 1-2 feet long had jaws 20 inches wide, inside measure, and teeth 2 1-2 inches long. This may have been the 'great fish' of the scripture narrative, and it is possible that at that time much larger man-eaters existed than are now known, as shark teeth with cutting edges five inches long have been found on the sea-bottom and these are believed by naturalists to have belonged to sharks not long dead. The phosphate beds of South Carolina yield very large fossil teeth of a shark which was related to the man-eater of the present day, judging from the comparative size of these teeth. Prof. Goode thought that sharks 70 or 80 feet long must have been common.

"Many years ago a Norwegian bishop in a learned paper brought to the attention of the scientific and theological worlds a shark which he attempted to prove must have been the 'great fish' that swallowed Jonah. This was the basking shark (Cetorhinus maximus), known also as the elephant or bone shark, which is an inhabitant of the polar seas, but occasionally strays as far south as Virginia and California, and in former years was not rare in the United States and British coasts. The species has the habit at times of collecting in schools at the surface and basking in the sun with its back partly out of water. It reaches a maximum length of 50 feet and is exceeded in size by only three or four animals extant. Provided with small teeth, it feeds on fishes and floating crustaceans, and is not of a ferocious disposition. It is dangerous only by virtue of its great bulk and when attacked its powerful tail easily demolishes boats. In former years the basking shark was hunted for its oil on the coast of Norway and Ireland; it was also harpooned on the shore of Massachusetts in the early part of the last century, and as many as 12 barrels of oil were sometimes obtained from the liver of one shark. There are many records of basking sharks 25 to 38 feet long from the coast of New York, Massachusetts and Maine, but the species has not been common in our waters in recent years.

"The largest of all fishes, the largest of all cold-blooded animals, and the largest of all existing animals, with the exception of a few species of whales, is the whale shark (Rhincodon typicus), originally described from Good Hope but now known from India, Japan, South America, Panama, California, and various other spots. The species is stated to attain a length of 70 feet and is known to exceed 50 feet. Notwithstanding its immense size, however, it is harmless to man unless attacked, and feeds on the small creatures for which its teeth are adapted. Years ago it was reported that the sperm-whale fishermen at the island of Saint Denis, in the Indian ocean, dreaded to harpoon a whale shark by mistake, and stories are told of a harpooned fish, 'having by a lightning-like dive exhausted the supply of rope which had been accidentally fastened to the boat, dived deeper still, and so pulled a pirogue and crew to the bottom.'"

"Down the Street, But ---It Pays to Walk"

BY LEON STARMONT.

Piedras Negras, Coahuila, Mexico, July 20.—Senorita Oralia Salinas y Carranza has gone to Monterey to forget a certain gringo.

She is a niece of First Chief Carranza, and he is Sherwood Moe, son of a wealthy resident of Gary, Ind., and brother of the pretty senorita's college chum at Notre Dame.

A few days ago Senorita Oralia danced with glee and read to her brother Alberto's wife this telegram:

"Will be in Piedras Negras in July.
"SHERWOOD."

A few days later Senora Alberto Salinas y Carranza read this headline in La Democrata of Piedras Negras:

"EL PRESIDENTE WILSON YA HA LLAMADO LOS SOLDADOS DE LOS ESTADOS!"

"President Wilson has called out the state militia," remarked the senora to the senorita. "Pues! Didn't you tell me your Senor Moe was a member of the state militia?"

"Yes," said Senorita Oralia; "yes."

And then a thought struck her, and her eyes flashed.

"Is that the way he's coming to Piedras Negras!" she exclaimed. "Well, he will be lucky if he reaches Piedras Negras—and he won't meet me!"

So this will explain to Mr. Moe why he is persona non grata just now with the senorita—although he didn't expect to be called out and really he didn't mean it that way at all.

"Just think!" said Senorita Oralia to her sister-in-law, "he might come here to shoot down Alberto—my brother—your husband: the wretch! 'Will be in Piedras Negras in July.' Well, I'll just bet he won't!"

This is not the only international romance threatened by the possibility of war. All through the border states are families that will be split if war comes—brothers serving in the Texas or New Mexico national guard while another brother's sympathy is with Mexico. And many are the Mexican girls in the United States torn by love for their native land and for some tall "Yanqui" in the border states' militia who may be called upon at any time to shoot down their kinsmen.

NO MAINTENANCE EXPENSE IN HARRISON HILL

One of the details of the plans for Harrison Hill, the new addition located in the angle formed by Calhoun street and Rudisill boulevard, which is worthy of consideration from all promoters of new additions, is the provision for five years' maintenance of the property. This provision not only includes the cutting of weeds of vacant lots, but the clearing of snow from the walks in the winter, and many prospective purchasers of lots for immediate building have been attracted to Harrison Hill through their appreciation of this feature.

Despite the fact that this feature as well as the scores of others which are unique to this addition, Harrison Hill lots are not sold at prices that could be considered as high. The price of $22 per front foot prevails throughout the addition and can be regarded as reasonable when you realize the features included in this price. Other details concerning this tract may be secured from Hilgemann & Schaaf, North American building.

SHAVE ONLY THING THIS BURGLAR TOOK

Chicago, Ill., July 20.—A collection of stiff, red whiskers is the only clew to Windsor park's baffling burglar mystery.

Mrs. Martin Lynch locked all the doors and windows when she left her home the other afternoon and went down to the beach. When she got back three hours later the house was in disorder. There were marks of a jimmy on one of the back windows.

Mrs. Lynch rushed to her bedroom and opened her jewel case. Nothing missing. She rushed to the dining room and jerked out the drawers of the silver chest. Nothing missing. She rushed to the kitchen, she rushed to the library, she rushed to the bathroom and—

The floor was strewn with towels. The wash bowl was dirty. The walls were splashed. Mr. Martin's shaving kit was out. And on his shaving stand were the shorn remnants of a stiff, red beard.

Now come bullet-proof bedrooms!

With red ink on the hotel stationery he shouts to the world the comforting message that his guests' anatomies are safe from perforation while they slumber at this hotel.

It is a safety first idea all right, and the progressive proprietor believes his preparedness will save him many dollars which ordinarily would be paid out in damage suits to guests injured by bullets from bandits' guns.

WITH DUM-DUM BULLETS.

Anderson Police Frustrate Robbery of Two Stores by Arrest.

Anderson, Ind., July 21.—The police frustrated the robbery of two local stores when they arrested Howard Hartzell, who was found to have in his possession a flashlight, automobile key, pair of knucks and a 32-caliber revolver loaded with dum-dum bullets. The police claim that Hartzell has confessed that he an danother boy planned to rob two local stores, steal an automobile and make a get-away.

Quickly adjusted molds for concrete steps have been patented by a Missouri inventor.

KILLS FOUR, THEN HIMSELF.

Newark, N. J., July 21.—Four passers-by in the street opposite his locksmith shop were shot and seriously wounded here last night by Salvatore Castronova, 54, an inventor, who had gone suddenly insane, before he set fire to his clothing and burned to death.

Armed with four revolvers and a double-barreled shotgun, Castronova shot into the street until policemen began firing at him through the windows on the second floor of the building in which he lived.

REFUSES TO INDICT.

EVERYTHING READY FOR BIG EXCURSION

Final arrangements have been completed for the Fort Wayne Box company excursion to Detroit tomorrow, and if present indications can be taken as a criterion, it will attract one of the greatest crowds that have ever left the city on a trip of this kind. Irman Ruf is the head of the committee which has the affair in charge and no pains have been spared to make the excursion a success. The first train will leave this city at 5 o'clock and will be followed by the second section after an interval of fifteen minutes.

One of the most enjoyable features of the trip for those who are contemplating a three day stay in Detroit will be the boat ride from Detroit to Buffalo. All the tickets for this trip have already been disposed of, and those who were not fortunate enough to secure them early will lose the opportunity of making this trip.

An arrangement which will surely meet with favor with those who are going on the excursion was made with the traction company, whereby special car service will be furnished on all the lines except the Jefferson short line. Cars will leave all terminals at 4:15, giving plenty of time to reach the Wabash station before the trains leave.

There has been a great demand for tickets during the past few days and it is thought that the crowd will reach a thousand people. The train, which returns to this city on Saturday night, will leave Detroit at 8:30, and that on Monday night at 6 o'clock.

AUTO BANDIT CLUB WORKING OVERTIME

Three more automobiles were reported to police Friday night to have been stolen in northwestern Ohio, since Thursday afternoon. One car was taken from a barn near Bluffton, O., fifty miles across the state border. The machine was followed by its tire marks in the road, for five miles. It came towards Fort Wayne. Police here were the first notified as it was believed that the automobile was brought to this city. The two other cars were stolen from Detroit and Toledo.

Fifteen machines have been reported to Fort Wayne police as having been stolen in this section of the country this week. Some of the postcards received bear names of small towns that police here never heard of before.

TOOK 151 BULLETS TO KILL BIG SHARK

Man-eating shark stories which Theodore Titus, 1306 Buchanan street, read in The Sentinel have brought Mr. Titus to bat with a story of a fish he saw while wintering in Miami, Fla., the past winter. Mr. Titus insists it is not a "fish story," but a story with a fish in it. As Mr. Titus has been a reader of The Sentinel for thirty years, Mr. Titus' fish story is welcome.

While in Miami, Mr. Titus saw a fish 45 feet long and weighing 30,000 pounds. It was caught near Knights Key, Fla., and required 39 hours in its catching. Five harpoons and 151 bullets were necessary to subdue the fish.

W. J. Bryan inspected the fish, calling it a curiosity, and it is preserved by the Smithsonian Institute, Washington, and the exhibit is recommended by it.

CRYPTIC MESSAGE IN BIBLICAL REFERENCE

New York, July 21.—A cryptic message by which an American missionary nurse in Turkey got information of famine and pestilence past the Turkish censor is described in a bulletin issued today by the American board of commissioners for foreign missions. The message written on the postcard follows:

"We shall very soon have to test the first part of the twentieth verse of the fifth chapter of Job and still sooner, even now, of the last of Psalm 91:3. What a blessing to have a God who is true and able. Lots of love to you all. Dr. Hamlin's famous mixture in demand here."

The last part of the third verse of the ninety-first psalm follows the expression: "For He shall deliver thee from the snare of the fowler," and it is added, "and from the noisome pestilence."

The mixture referred to is a medicine used in cholera cases. The board of commissioners interprets the reference to the mixture to mean that cholera is raging in that part of Turkey.

THE DAY ON WALL STREET.

New York, July 21.—Recoveries in marines, the weak features of the preceding session, marked today's early dealings with strength in other specialties. Marine preferred soon rose three points, with one for the common and as much for the United Fruit. Industrial Alcohol advanced almost two, with a substantial fraction for Distillers. Munitions, equipments and motors were represented by Crucible, Lackawanna and Republic steels, Baldwin Locomotive, General Electric, Pressed Steel Car, Studebaker and Maxwells, all at improved prices. Continental Can and the zinc shares also showed upward tendencies. Rails were again dull but steady.

Except for a moderate setback due to profit taking, the list made further upward progress. Equipments and munitions were especially prominent. Crucible making an extreme gain of three, with 1½ to 2½ for the locomotives. Marine preferred dominated the market in point of activity but relinquished part of its rise with the common. Reading, with a small fractional advance, was almost the sole feature of the inactive rails. Coppers and other metals displayed greater activity and strength towards midday, with Mexicans and U. S. Steel. Bonds were irregular.

Gabet—Vachon.

A very pretty wedding took place at St. John's Catholic church at New Haven on Wednesday morning when Miss Teresa Vachon became the bride of Mr. Joseph Gabet, Rev. Father Wedieu officiating. Special music was rendered by the choir. Messrs. Robert and Leo Vachon were ushers. The bride was very beautiful in her gown of white satin and veil. She carried an arm bouquet of bride roses and swansonia blossoms. She was attended by her cousin, Miss Agnes Vachon, of Fort Wayne, who wore pink taffeta and carried a large bouquet of pink roses. Alphonso Vachon, of Bluffton, a brother to the bride, was groomsman. After the marriage ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. The out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. George Vachon and family, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Roy and family, Mr. and Mrs. William Vachon and family, Henry Jordan, Lawrence Offerle, Clement Minnich, all of Fort Wayne; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Vachon and family and John Schuler, of Sheldon; Mr. and Mrs. Louis Nusbaumer, Mrs. J. J. Nusbaumer, grandmother of the bride, Misses Loretta and Agnes Nusbaumer, of Keystone, and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Vachon and family, of Smithville, Tex.

NETTING SUBMARINE AN IMPOSSIBLE FEAT

By Frederick M. Kerby.

Washington, D. C., July 18.—The British and French have a right to drop submarine nets off the Atlantic coast outside the three-mile limit, to catch the German submarine merchantman Deutschland, when she starts on her return trip.

But they probably won't. It would be prohibitively expensive if not physically impossible.

Such is the view of state and navy department officials to whom I put the question.

"The belligerents may do anything they like outside the three-mile limit," said Frank L. Polk, acting secretary and solicitor of the state department.

"Can they drop floating mines?"

"Oh, no!"

"Aren't nets as dangerous to our own submarines?"

"We will worry about that when someone invents a net that can be placed and kept outside the three-mile limit!"

"A submarine can run under water 50 miles," he said. "Therefore it would be necessary to place nets 50 miles each way from the point of departure—100 miles in all.

"At that rate a mile of net would cost $500,000, and 100 miles would cost fifty million dollars!

"Supposing cost to be no object, there isn't that much submarine net in the world, nor could it be manufactured!"

Japan's gold holdings now amount to $254,235,000. The bulk of this amount is kept abroad.

PAUL AT CORINTH.

LESSON TEXT—Acts 18:1-22.
GOLDEN TEXT—Be not afraid, but speak, and hold not thy peace.—Acts 18:9.

I. Paul's Companions. (vv. 1-6.) Paul's coming to this city after his experiences in Athens is significant when we read I Cor. 2:1, 2. He found a home as usual at first among his Jewish countrymen. Aquila and Priscilla were not only fellow Christians but fellow craftsmen (v. 3). Paul supported himself, as Jesus did for 30 years, as a carpenter. This gave opportunity to reach the people naturally as one of them. At the same time he set them the example of doing good (I Cor. 10:31; I Cor. 9:6-12; II Thess. 2-9). Paul did not think it a lack of faith to do manual labor or secular work for his own support because God had called him to preach. In the midst of his labors (v. 5) Silas and Timothy came to him from Philippi and Berea. The Philippians had sent him aid and brought news of the abundant harvest of faith and love in that church. Paul was weak and sick and dejected in spirit (II Cor. 2:3), probably bodily sickness. He was also in want (II Cor. 11:9). As he meditated on the word, it had so got hold on him that he could not keep still. It overpowered him with joy. He thought that Jesus was the Christ and that he must tell it out, but the Jews were not willing to receive his testimony. "They opposed themselves and blasphemed," (v. 6). The good news these helpers brought encouraged him in his conflict (v. 6).

II. Paul's Compulsion. (vv. 7-11). The opposition of the Jews did not prove his testimony to be untrue or that it had been unwisely presented, but rather it revealed the iniquity of the hearts of the men who were the religious leaders. To their faces Paul could exclaim, "I am clean," (v. 6). It is a great thing for any man to be able to say this, and it is the privilege of every believer (Acts 20:26). Then we can say with Paul: "I shrank not from declaring unto you the whole counsel of God." (R. V.) If we do not declare unto men the way of life, then their blood is upon us (Ezekiel 33:4, 8, 9), but are we indeed clean of the blood of all in our own homes, in our churches, in our Sunday school classes, in our communities and in the lands beyond the sea? This compulsion disconnected Paul from the false religionists of his day. "From henceforth I will go unto the Gentiles." The advantage of the house of Justus was (a) that the owner was a proselyte, not a born Jew. (b) The place was close to the synagogue so that his preaching would be a standing invitation to the Jews, and (c) Justus was evidently a Roman citizen, and Paul would gain access through him to the more educated people of the city. Moreover he would have greater advantage of the Romans than of the Jews for protection of the Christian converts. We do not infer that he left his lodgings in the home of Aquila and Priscilla nor ceased his work of tent making.

Paul's testimony after Athens was based only on the cross (I Cor. 2:1, 2) and it was that which turned "impure, sinful souls into pure brides whom he conducted to Christ," (See I Cor. 6:9-11). This vision kept Paul in the city where he founded one of his strongest classes (vv. 11, 18).

III. Paul's Contest, (vv. 12-17). Gallio, the brother of Seneca, listened to the charges, but threw the accusations out of court (vv. 14, 15). Sir William Ramsey calls this decision the "charter of Christian freedom." Freedom of religious speech was granted over the entire Roman empire so far as Roman authorities were concerned, and the door was open for Paul to make his way throughout the civilized world. Thus we have further evidence that all of Corinth was no match for Christ. The Lord had people there who must be called by the spoken word, and Paul was the one to speak the word. The Lord only allows us to be hurt when both we and the work can be helped thereby. He never really allows us to be hurt (Rom. 8:13; Isaiah 54:17). Christian workers in this land are confronting the same Corinthian evils in every great city; intemperance, crime, graft, dishonesty, white slavery, oppression of the poor and other works of the flesh.

It is the business of every preacher and Christian to pray and teach and work and live to save men from these evils and to convert them to righteousness.

There are also Corinthian evils in the heart, and in order to overcome them we must put on the whole armor of God, and be filled with the Spirit of Christ.

Summary: At Corinth Paul worked at his trade, converted his fellow workmen, preached to Jews and Gentiles, founded a strong church, wrote letters to the Thessalonians, had two helpers, Silas and Timothy, accepted aid from the Philippians, received a vision in the night from God, was delivered by the Roman governor, stayed nearly two years and used the city as a strategic center.

Headquarters of the Italian Army in Austria, June 18.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The use of caves as hiding places for cannon is one of the curious aides to artillery work in these mountains. Both Austrian and Italian artillery officers have exercised the greatest ingenuity in finding the proper caves for their cannon, since once well located the pieces are comparatively safe from discovery. The damage done on both sides by such hidden pieces has been severe.

On one occasion the correspondent of The Associated Press while near the Isonzo river witnessed an artillery duel between an Italian battery so hidden and three Austrian batteries which were seeking to protect the mouth of a cavern until an Austrian piece could be dragged into it. Several of the Italian regiments and those of the Austrians as well knocked off their daily business for a time to watch the duel.

The Austrians had for some days been attempting to plant a cannon in a cavern, the mouth of which was plainly visible from the Italian lines, but the Italian battery from its cavern on the opposite side of the Isonzo kept up such a hot fire day and night that the Austrians had not yet succeeded in their attempt. On this particular morning they had kept up a steady fire from several heavy guns on the Italian battery and, under cover of this fire, had almost dragged their piece, apparently one of 149 millimeter calibre, inside the cavern's mouth, a line of trenches having been thrown up to the mouth of the cavern to protect the soldiers dragging it.

As the piece was slowly turning inside the mouth of the cavern, the Austrian troops set up a mighty roar, mocking the Italians, throwing their caps high into the air. The Austrian cannon also threw shell after shell across the intervening valley of the Isonzo, each shell exploding seemingly at the mouth of the cavern used by the Italian battery or else inside it. One series of shell shots from an Austrian 305 exploded almost every two minutes about the Italians' hiding place, wreathing it in a dense smoke.

Just as the Austrian piece seemed at last to approach safety within the cavern, a shell from the Italian gun fell upon it, knocked it over, and scattered the soldiers pulling on its ropes and shoving on its blocks.

Thin People Can Increase Weight

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "stay there" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First weigh yourself and measure yourself. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and the tape measure will tell their own story, and many thin men and women we believe can easily add from five to eight pounds in the first fourteen days by following this simple direction. And best of all, the new flesh stays put.

Sargol does not of itself make fat, but mixing with your food, it aims to turn the fats, sugars and starches of what you have eaten, into rich, ripe fat producing nourishment for the tissues and blood—prepare it in an easily assimilated form which the blood can readily accept. Much of this nourishment now passes from your body as waste. But Sargol works to stop the waste and do it quickly and to make the fat producing contents of the very same meals you are eating now develop pounds and pounds of healthy flesh between your skin and bones. Sargol is safe, pleasant, efficient and inexpensive. Meyer Bros. Drug Co., Dreier Drug Co., D. & N. Pharmacy, The Family Drug Store and other leading druggists in this vicinity, sell it in large boxes—forty tablets to a package—on a guarantee of weight increase or money back as found in each box.—Advertisement.

London, June 30.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—"Movie" theaters in saloons are one of the innovations made by the government liquor board in its experiment in direct management of saloons in the south of Scotland and the north of England, where there are large munition making areas. Heavy drinking has necessitated the step. By remodeling and rebuilding these saloons the government hopes to increase the comfort of the workers.

The picture palaces—under the same roof as the saloons—are so arranged that the men who formerly frequented the saloons in search of amusement, will be able to take their wives, and whether they desire to have drinks or not matters little. The man who does not approve of saloons can find a part set aside for the consumption of tea, coffee and other soft drinks. The theater will also be used for concerts and lectures.

The experiment is being watched critically, not by the liquor trade but by temperance reformers and prohibitionists. In Edinburgh for instance it has been noticed that the saloons in the experimental area had doubled their receipts since private control and management had been displaced by the government board, and the local religious leaders are contending that the more "model" and club-like a drinking-shop is made the more drink it will sell. Another criticism made by the reform element is that as the new model houses are understood to be exemplary they are not under the same strict police supervision as the ordinary saloons.

Pesky Bed Bugs

A MILLION BED BUGS. Just think, a 25c package of the new golden chemical P. D. Q. (Pesky Devils' Quietus), is enough to make a quart and enough to kill a million bed bugs, no matter how large they may be, where they came from, their age, color or sex, and at the same time leaves a coating on their eggs and prevents hatching.

CUT THIS OUT. This new chemical can be had at any first-class drug store. A 25c package makes a quart of P. D. Q., and will go farther than a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer. Don't let anybody impose upon your intelligence by offering you something else. Insist on what you ask for, then you'll have what doctors prescribe.

KILLS FLEAS ON DOGS. It's fun to see the fleas drop off your pet dogs.

Your druggist has it, or can get it for you. Owl Chemical Co., Terre Haute, Ind.

New York Dental Man Intends to Keep on Taking New Medicine Tanlac.

What J. H. Murray, well known employe of the New York Dental office, in this city, who lives at 125 East Tabor street, has to say about the celebrated new medicine, Tanlac, will prove of surprising interest to hundreds of people, for he has tried the Master Medicine and knows exactly what it can do for a person.

"I was bothered with inflammatory rheumatism in my limbs for three years," Mr. Murray said recently. "It was especially severe from the knees down. My limbs would itch and burn and become swollen, causing me severe pain. I was nervous and couldn't sleep at night. I was also troubled slightly with kidney trouble, experiencing occasional pains across the small of my back.

"I noticed a change in my condition four or five days after I started taking Tanlac. The pains gradually began to leave and now they are practically gone. I sleep fine at night now and the pains in my back are practically gone. I believe this one bottle of Tanlac has given me relief from my troubles. I want another bottle, however, as I intend to take this medicine for some time longer."

Tanlac, the Master Medicine, is especially beneficial for stomach, liver and kidney trouble, catarrhal complaints, rheumatism, nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of appetite and the like and has proven a fine tonic and system purifier.

LITTLE ATTENTION GIVEN AMERICAN NOTE

London, June 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Surprisingly little attention has been given in this country to the American note on seizures of the mails. When published in America only brief and rather exaggerated summaries were sent by the British correspondents. The note was published in full only by the Times on the nineteenth of June, several days after the American paper which printed it had arrived in England. On Saturday the foreign office issued the text as an official paper for publication on Tuesday (June 27th).

Almost the only important editorial reference to the note is made by the Economist in its issue of today. It points out that "owing to lack of information the public in this country has failed to understand the constant references by President Wilson and by leading newspapers in the United States to the question of 'Freedom of the Seas.'"

"It will be seen that a good deal of feeling has been evinced, and that great care and discrimination are required in order not only to meet the susceptibilities of friendly neutrals, but also to avoid the establishment of precedents which, under different circumstances, we should not tolerate ourselves as neutrals in a future naval war. Supposing, for example, there were a war between Spain and Sweden, and the belligerents claimed the right to intercept mails between London and Paris or London and New York, and to open all private letters, would that pass? The summing up of the note is very strong. It declares that the rights of neutrals are as sacred as the rights of belligerents, and must be as strictly observed, and concludes: 'Only a radical change in the present British and French policy, restoring to the United States its full rights as a neutral power, will satisfy this government.' Fortunately we have an arbitration treaty with the United States, which Germany has not."

THE BEST DIARRHOEA MEDICINE.

"A customer came into my store the other day and said to one of my clerks, 'Have you anything that will cure diarrhoea?' and my clerk went and got him a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and said to him, 'If this does not cure you, I will not charge you a cent for it.' So he took it home and came back in a day or two and said it was the best medicine he ever used," writes J. H. Berry & Co., Salt Creek, Va. Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

Catches Monster Man-Eating Shark

Capt. Parker, of the Beach Haven, N. J., Yacht club, recently captured a monster man-eating shark weighing 400 pounds, and 10 feet in length. It was at Beach Haven that several bathers were bitten by sharks that are terrorizing folk all along the Atlantic coast.

Computing the population of European and Asiatic Russia at 120,000,000, and allowing five bushels a head for food and seed, the consumption of wheat in that region would amount to 900,000,000 bushels a year.

Most people do not realize that tooth and hair brushes are breeding places for disease germs. Many a case of bad teeth and sickness can be traced to the use of an infected tooth brush; and many a bald head would have its natural supply of hair if it were not for the unsanitary hair brush. Brushes can easily be kept antiseptic by placing them at intervals in water containing a small quantity of Zonite, which is one of the most powerful germicides obtainable. There are 100 vital uses in every home for Zonite, fully explained in illustrated booklet with each bottle.

—COMPARISONS.—

Peroxide is known to have no germicidal value; Carbolic acid is poisonous and very dangerous; Creosote products have an offensive taste and odor, besides many are poisonous.

Zonite is more powerful than any of the above, yet has none of their disadvantages. Zonite is absolutely the most effective and practical antiseptic and disinfectant for household use, and has a wider scope of uses than ever before attained by any similar preparation. Zonite has no equal as a deodorant.

Zonite is the most economical product of its kind. Full pint, 25c; quart, 40c; gallon, $1; at all drug stores.

Almost everywhere you go to make a purchase you hear the same old phrase, "It's gone up on account of the war!" Merchants are all frank in admitting that they have been required to advance the prices of their wares because they have cost them a large percentage more than a year ago. Except where we have been foresighted enough to anticipate the advances we have paid advanced prices too. Refrigerators should be sold for almost 25 per cent. more. But during July we are going to experiment. Business is always dull in the furniture line then—and still we have to pay the same rent, light, clerk-hire and other costs. Instead of advancing the retail cost of Refrigerators in the same proportion as the wholesale cost has advanced, we believe that by keeping the price the same we can increase the total amount of our sales over what it would otherwise have been. As the total volume of our sales increases, the amount of rent, light, clerk-hire, etc., apportioned to each sale decreases. In this manner we justify these old prices on Refrigerators, and if the public is wise enough to take advantage of them—then our reasoning will be correct. If not, our reasoning fails and after July those who purchase Refrigerators will pay the advanced prices.

You can only get a general idea of the real value of these Refrigerators from the illustrations. To fully appreciate them, you will have to examine their construction and the minor details which pictures cannot show, but which are the points you should really consider in making a selection.

"Side Icer" Refrigerator As Pictured

As long as there is ice in these Refrigerators, a continuous stream of cold dry air flows over the contents of the food compartments, carrying away all the odors and removing all possibility of contamination. There is absolutely no chance of your milk or butter being flavored with odors from onions, fish or any other food that might be with them.

The rust-resisting tinned ware shelves are a feature seldom found except in the higher priced refrigerators. They can always be kept perfectly clean; they do not hinder a free circulation of air and they cannot absorb odors from food. Easy to clean by opening and reaching inside and washing off any dirt the ice may have left. Throw in a dipperful of clean water and the job is done.

CHANGES AT ARGOS.

Argos, Ind., July 21.—Postmaster Wickizer has been advised by the department of two changes to be made in the course of local rural routes, same to become effective August 1. Route twelve, L. B. Ervin, carrier, will continue west from the Jacob Galbraith corner direct to the J. C. Shaw corner, thence south one mile, east one and three-quarters miles and continuing north, east and otherwise as before. This change will accommodate seven or eight patrons, but removes the service about one-fourth mile from Harry White's home. Route thirteen, Isaiah Hess, driver, will turn west at the J. C. Coveted Chance of Colored Team Has Come at Last Says Manager.

The Fort Wayne colored Giants, under the guidance of Manager Wilson, have received their coveted chance to play the Blackbirds at League park. The date of the game has not been decided as yet but will be made public in the near future. The Giants have been hot after Mart Cleary's bunch for some time and as many fans thought the Giants might give the Blackbirds a run for their money they took them up. Oliver Dupee will do a little loading for the game as they have star tossers in view at Indianapolis in the A. B. C.'s colored champions of Indiana.

MANAGER SPRINGER SMILES OVER LINE-UP

Chicago Nickel Plates Have List of the Best Semi-pros in Chicago.

Manager Springer, of the Chicago Nickel Plates, thinks he has a huge surprise stuck up his sleeve as he handed in his lineup last night, and thinks that it could clean the Cleveland Indians should they want an exhibition game. He is carrying thirteen men with him and they are all stars, having played ball long enough to know how to make things interesting.

Three of the thirteen are first-class pitchers, while the rest are utility men besides the regular team. The lineup is as follows: [illegible], shortstop; Broo, second base; Crashaw, third base; Lutz, left field; Mox, center field; Swanson, right field; Carlson, first base; McCoy, catcher; Gollings, Bass and Roos, pitchers; Garrity and Springer, utility men. The play will be called at 3 o'clock.

EVANS CONGRATULATED BY LORD NORTHCLIFFE

Chicago, July 21.—Charles (Chick) Evans, who recently won the national open golf championship at Minneapolis, today exhibited a note from Lord Northcliffe, editor of the London Times, congratulating him on his victory. The English editor wrote: "I cannot tell you with what pleasure the news of your victory was received in England. Some of us who are over 50, still play golf and I happened to be at a club when the news came of your splendid win. The members could not have been more delighted had the open championship been won by an Englishman over fighting age.

"Your bearing and conduct at Sandwich two years ago were recalled by all. Your extreme good temper in face of the extraordinary luck against you, made a marked impression."

GOTCH RESTING EASY.

Kenosha, Wis., July 21.—Frank Gotch, world's champion wrestler, is still at the Kenosha hospital as a result of his accident Tuesday, when he broke his leg. He will remain here indefinitely. His wife will join him here today. Gotch declared he was "hot, but comfortable," last night.

DODGE, WINNER AMERICAN DERBY, AND SCENE AT FINISH OF RACE.

(Staff Special.)

Chicago, July 21—Hawthorne racetrack, darkened for twelve years, is again the scene of the sport of kings. But it's a "betless meeting" which started a run of thirteen days and drew 25,000 to the opener when the bay colt Dodge, from the Weber and Ward stable, romped off with the American derby.

No money was flashed by the "insiders" but anyone who wanted to make a small wager on the horses could have his wish gratified provided he waited until he got downtown to get paid off and had his credit established.

For several days prior to the start of the meet the bookies were busy instructing their regular patrons how to bet at Hawthorne. They were told to establish their credit in advance, get O. K.'d on the amount of money they wanted to wager and carry credentials in the way of markers which will be totaled up after the day's program.

There were nearly 200 Pinkertons and deputy sheriffs present in charge of Sheriff Traeger, watching for betting and to see that no money passed.

"Men who bet on races get action today the same as any other day," he said. "If the Chicago meeting was not in progress they would wager just as they always do when the horses are running at Empire City, Fort Erie or Latonia. The local meeting simply makes it more interesting for the latter as it enables them to see their horses carrying their money."

Interest in the races slumped, however, after the first day and the fans fell off in numbers to such a marked degree that the management of the meeting is preparing to face a heavy loss.

SHAFER THROUGH WITH BASEBALL

New York, July 21—Tillie Shafer, former star infielder of the New York Giants, has quit baseball for good. He motored here from San Francisco, taking twenty-four days for the trip, and after viewing a double-header on the Polo grounds, declared he was through with the game.

"I went out on the field not long ago," said Shafer, "and tried to hit a ball. I would have met with greater success throwing handfuls of rice at the Pacific ocean."

One Minute Talks with Ballplayers

"Ty Cobb showed New York fans the other day why he is the wonder of the game and he did it without a moment's batting practice. Owing to a business engagement he didn't reach the Polo grounds until Detroit's half of the first inning was almost half over.

"Bernie Boland's name had been given to the umpires as that of Detroit's center fielder. Cobb went into the game without any batting practice and in the first half of the double-header got three hits in four times up.

"He drew two passes and busted a single in four trips to the plate in the second game. Ty finished the day with a .667 average. So you see this preparedness idea doesn't always work out."

GEORGE CUTSHAW, BROOKLYN DODGERS.

"I'll never forget one experience I had with an oculist after I got an eye in front of a batted ball. Naturally the bruise blackened frightfully. The club trainer was afraid the eye had been injured and sent me to an oculist who used a dozen instruments in looking at the lamp, then handed me a card on which he had written his verdict. It read:

"Sub-derman hemorrhage; Edema of upper and lower lid, especially marked at inner canthus which prevents normal separation of lids. Traumatic conjunctivitis. Vision unimpaired.

"I nearly fainted but rallied to ask if the eye was ruined forever.

"'No,' said the specialist, 'it's only a shiner. You can fix it with an application of raw beefsteak.'"

Cleary Plans to Hold Series at League Park After the Present Season.

The people can crab about the things of the world, about everything being so high and so forth, but when they come to sportmanship they all have to take off their hats to Mart Cleary, the hustling manager of the Blackbirds. Cleary is planning to pull off a big city series of all the teams of the city.

The winner of the series will be called the champions of the city and there will not be any dispute over who has the best team.

As there is a lot of fans for each team in town, the card should be a good one and draw a big delegation.

GIRL DRIVES TO RECORD.

MISS MINNEAPOLIS SPEED WORRIES SMITH

"Every speed boat owner knows what Miss Minneapolis can do. There is one prize they covet, and that is the gold challenge cup, for which they will compete at Detroit in September," says Smith.

"None of the other owners have sent their boats here, so of course I don't know what they can turn up now. If I did, and they were better than my boat, I could build a new one in a week to beat this one.

"You see, Miss Minneapolis is a well enough built boat that in spite of the terrific drilling to which she is put, she will last four or five years. I could build a lighter boat, good only for one race, that would make five to six miles more than this one."

Smith is in a quandary. He has, by his exhibition yesterday, when the hydro turned up 66.66 miles per hour, laid his cards face up. What the other fellows have he doesn't know.

Miss Minneapolis is given the attention of a millionaire baby. Immediately after her daily spin she is lifted from the water and laid in a cradle where a husky nurse, or watchman, sees that her rest is undisturbed.

The idea of taking her from the water is to keep her dry and light. The planking retains its life, while if water-soaked the wood becomes dead and reduces the speed.

GIANTS TO HAVE A BRAND NEW LINE-UP

Herzog to Play for First Time in a New York Uniform Today.

Chicago, July 21.—A new lineup will be presented by the New York Nationals in today's game with the Cubs at Weeghman park. Charles Herzog, former manager for Cincinnati, will be doing duty somewhere in the infield, while Christy Mathewson, former veteran pitcher for the Giants, will be holding Herzog's old position as manager of the Cincinnati Reds.

Manager McGraw is expected to settle the matter of Herzog's exact location in the New York team upon his return from Cincinnati today. As soon as Fletcher is able to return to the lineup, Herzog, it is said, will be placed at his old station at third base, but may replace Doolin today. Mathewson left last night for Cincinnati after bidding his old teammates good-bye.

SPORT DOPE

Jimmy Dime's fighters are going to visit Australia. If they need any change while on tour they might hunt up the two Nickalls.

One slant at the headline which reads, "Sallee now a Giant," brings a laugh. Being's how he's 6 feet 3 inches on the hoof, "Sal" has been a giant for quite some spell.

The Red Sox were a bit blue after losing a double-header to the White Sox, but the Pale Hose turned purple after dropping two bargain bills.

Among the bangtails running at the Empire City track is a two-year-old entitled Marblehead. There is no truth in the report he was named after Mike Mowrey.

HORSE FROM SOUTH WINS CLASSIC EVENT

Cleveland, O., July 21.—Grand Chimes, from away down in Louisiana, tramped on the northern-bred trotters Thursday at North Randall and walked off with the Tavern steak, the first event raced under the Devereaux limitation plan on the 1916 Grand circuit. In winning, Grand Chimes proved himself to be one of the best trotters that has been uncovered this season.

The Tavern steak was rather an experiment. The field was limited to horses that had never beaten 2:14¼ or won more than $2,000 gross. The race developed into one of the grandest in the history of the event, and the time was just about as fast as it would have been if the Tavern had been a 2:10 trot, as in the second and third heats the time was better than 2:07.

The field in the Fasig open three-year-old trot narrowed down to three when the horses were called, and as two of them were members of Tommy Murphy's stable there was practically no selling, and it was the Murphy stable that got most of the money, with Adele Block, the third member of the race, getting third.

With Pop Geers watching from an automobile stationed at the upper draw gate, Dick McMahon took over the mount behind Pal Plexe in the 2:18 race and proceeded to delight the famous old driver of the sulky by keeping the erratic son of Empire Direct on a pace long enough to win two heats and first money.

HONUS WAGNER GETS HIS 106TH HOMER

Hans Wagner, holder of diamond records galore during twenty-one years of big league ball, has added another mark to his string in the form of home run No. 106.

In 1897, the year after he enrolled in fast company, the Flying Dutchman made two circuit drives. The next season he poled eleven and from that on has unbuckled never less than five or six while in 1908 he made ten.

His total of 106 probably never will be equaled.

Baseball managers might do well to sign up Jockey McTaggert for duty on the coaching lines. As a rider he's second to none.

"GIRL HE LEFT BEHIND" KEEPS UP SOLDIER HUSBAND'S LAW PRACTICE.

MRS. BORGMEIER IN LAW OFFICE AND BABY ALICE "PARTNER IN THE FIRM.

Chicago, July 21.—Mrs. Adolph J. Borgmeier knows no law, but she's keeping things moving in the law offices of her husband, a militia captain, who laid down his law books to follow the flag to the Mexican border.

By doing the clerical work, appearing in court to ask continuances of cases in which her husband is interested and "explaining the situation" to her husband's clients, Mrs. Borgmeier is making enough money to keep the three Borgmeier children from want.

Baby Alice is Mrs. Borgmeier's "partner" in the law office. The baby clings to her mother while the latter types letters. The other day mother and baby went to court and closed two unfinished divorce cases.

"Of course I can't practice law," says Mrs. Borgmeier, "but I'm a good collector of old bills and I can hold many of the clients by explaining the situation to them."

MAKE FINAL TEST ARMY OFFICERS TO

Washington, D. C., July 21.—Final tests of the Albertson gun, said to be powderless, noiseless, springless and non-chemical, will be made by army experts, soon, according to Dr. Albert C. Albertson, inventor of the war weapon for which marvelous qualities have been claimed.

"The mechanism operative in this machine is simple enough," says Dr. Albertson. "I have succeeded in harnessing centrifugal force for a purpose that may become decidedly in warfare. The first machine tested by army officers at Fort Hamilton, N. Y., received the commendation of General Wood."

The gun has the appearance of a wheel, according to the inventor. It has a quadrant attached for fixing the elevation of the projectile, and the wheel has a locking device for releasing a ball at any angle of the quadrant.

Dr. Albertson says the gun can plant fifty balls within a radius of six feet at a range of a mile and a half. He says three-pound balls will be used in the machine now under construction. The power is generated by a three horse power electric motor, and it is said it can be operated by a woman.

Mrs. Katheryn M. Stanton of Whiteside, L. I., helped to finance the inventor's enterprise.

DOING GOOD.

A woman can do a tremendous amount of good when she tries. Here is an instance and there are many such. Mrs. F. F. Smith, Gloversville, N. Y., writes: "I feel it my duty to write and tell you what Chamberlain's Tablets have done for me and for many others that I have told about them. For over three years I have been troubled with my liver and have been under the doctor's care most of the time. I have tried many other medicines, but have not found anything that helped me as much as Chamberlain's Tablets." Obtainable everywhere. Advertisement.

KOVEL IMPORTANT TO RUSSIAN CAUSE

Railroad Center Valuable from Its Strategic Position.

Washington, D. C., July 21.—The National Geographic society's war geography bulletin on Kovel, issued today in Washington, shows why this town in the Russian province of Volhynia is of such great value to the czar's forces. The bulletin says:

"Kovel, a town of 30,000 people at the beginning of the war, owes its immense strategic importance to the fact that it is the junction point for railroads which radiate, like the spokes from the hub of a wheel, in five directions. To the northwest, seventy-seven miles distant, is the strongly fortified city of Brest-Litovsk, over whose possession there was a terrific struggle when the Germans were folding the Russians back through Poland after the first Slav drive early in the war. To the southeast, eighty-four miles away, is Rovno, a fortress with a population of 40,000 at the outbreak of the war and at that time the headquarters of the Eleventh Russian army corps. Lublin, with 65,000 inhabitants, running to Warsaw, 209 miles away, is 100 miles due west, on the railroad Then to the south is Vladimir Volynski, thirty-five miles distant, and to the east runs the line which passes through Sarni on its way to Kiev.

In addition to these railway connections, Kovel is situated on the banks of the Turiya, one of the tributaries of the Pripet river, whose extensive marshes lie to the north where forests cover the land. In the neighborhood of Kovel, however, agriculture is well developed and at the beginning of the war fully one-fourth of the land contiguous to the city was devoted to the production of cereal crops. The peasant farmers in the district of which Kovel is the capital, like those of Volhynia generally, are more fortunate than the peasants in most of the Russian provinces, for here they own nearly 50 per cent of the land.

"If the Russians continue their advance beyond Kovel they will soon be in the vicinity of the famous battlefield of Dubienka, almost due west, on the banks of the Bug and ten miles south of Dorochusk, a town on the Lublin-Kovel railroad. It was here that Kosciusko, at the head of 4,000 men with ten cannon, offered a heroic resistance to 18,000 Russians with sixty guns. After holding the superior force in check for five days, the 'hero of Dubienka' retired unmolested to Warsaw. This brilliant achievement took place just nine years after a grateful American congress had offered its public thanks to this Polish artillery officer, conferred upon him the rank of brigadier general, extended him the privileges of American citizenship, and giving him landed estates in appreciation of his distinguished services to this country as adjutant to General Washington during the revolutionary war."

NEW BUILDINGS AT WINONA.

Winona Lake, Ind., July 21.—In connection with the prosperous season that the Winona assembly is now enjoying it is interesting to learn that two large public buildings will be erected on the grounds in the near future. A new auditorium that will set not less than 10,000 people was made possible at the last general conference of the Church of the Brethren. The other building was decided upon during the School of Missions, which met at Winona the latter part of June. The executive committee of this interdenominational school voted unanimously for a woman's building, which will be located at some convenient place on the grounds.

HEADACHE EVERY MORNING, CAN'T EAT, LIVER NOT ACTING?

Morning headaches come from clogged livers. The bile tubes are choked and force the bile into the blood until the whole system becomes poisoned, which makes the appetite poor, especially at breakfast.

Get a 15-cent bottle of Tollo Water from the drug store and take about a third of a tumberful in a glass of plain water before breakfast. In thirty minutes it will start the liver acting freely, your headache will be relieved at once, because it flushes out the bile, really bathes the liver, leaving it clean and fresh. Then you can eat breakfast and really enjoy it, and there won't be any gas or discomfort afterwards.

Concentrated Tollo Water comes from Dawson Springs, the famous Kentucky health resort. It does not act by irritation, like calomel and other strong drugs that weaken the system, but by dissolving the obstructions and bathing the liver as nature requires. To remove the bile that has been absorbed into the blood you should take a wineglassful every morning for several days. It will clear up the skin, your tongue will lose its furry coat and your natural healthy color will return. Then an occasional glass before breakfast will keep your liver clean, your bowels regular and your appetite good. —Advetisement.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

MOTHER OF 180 (CATS) DIES AT SEA.

Mary, mother of 180, is dead!

Mary was the American liner New York's famous cat whose progeny, presented to travelers by Capt. W. J. Roberts, are now in the best American and English homes.

Born on the New York in mid-ocean eight years ago, Mary became the favorite of thousands of first cabin passengers, and the idol of the New York's crew.

LITTLE YACHT ENDS 100,000-MILE TRIP

Reaches English Port After Two-Years Journey in Strange Seas

London, June 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—The little 23-ton yacht "Mana" has arrived safely in an English port after a voyage of a hundred thousand miles. Belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Scoresby Routledge, the vessel left England over two years ago on a scientific mission to Easter Island, in the South Pacific.

The last stage of the little vessel's voyage was from San Francisco which she left five months ago. Altogether there were eleven persons on board, including two men from Pitcairn Island. Mr. Routledge had some interesting details of the voyage.

"After leaving San Francisco," he said, "we came down the Mexican coast. Two hundred miles from land we came upon three islands marked as uninhabited and I decided to land to try and get some meat. But our landing was delayed as the mouth of the cove was occupied by two whales who were feeding and who refused to move until the following day. On landing we found a rough shanty together with a derelict boat and alongside a rough cross evidently marking a grave. In a rift in a cliff we found a sort of cave strewn with old bottles and odds and ends of a camp. Nearby was a piece of wood bearing the names Annie Larsen, which I learned from a shipwrecked sailor who was on the yacht was the name of a vessel engaged in blockade running or contraband. There is no doubt that the remote island had been a dumping ground for Mexican revolutionists.

"There were so many turtles that we got tired of feeding on them. It was curious to see these creatures being regarded by the birds as a kind of floating island, and to see gulls preening themselves on the turtles' backs.

"The 'Mana' visited one small island in the Gulf of Panama, where elephantiasis was rampant among the people. The currents in this region were very difficult and there was one sailing ship that had been drifting in circles for thirteen months and had been unable to get out. The Panama canal was closed to traffic but the American government kindly allowed the 'Mana,' as the vessel of a scientific expedition, to go through.

"Some fifty miles from Jamaica we saw what appeared to be at first a burning ship and afterwards looked like smoke from a naval action. We found it to be a submarine volcano blowing off. The sea flow had been broken and we saw seas breaking in places where the chart showed no land. Under the circumstances no investigation was possible."

Made Him Duck

Everytime somebody came into the office, whenever he wanted to see the clock or look across the room, Mr. Busyman had to duck his head and look over his glasses. When a friend suggested Meigs' Kryptoks, the double glass without seams or lines, his troubles were over—now he sees better for distance and reads like olden times. Meigs, the eyesight specialist, Lyric Theater Bldg.—guarantees these time-savers. Let him fit your eyes today.

New York Magistrate Says He Can See Beneficial Results.

New York, July 21.—One of the New York city magistrates recently said: "In the Second magistrate's district, which includes Queens, Brooklyn and Richmond boroughs in 1907, when the total population of these boroughs was 1,775,000, there were 16,000 arraignments for intoxication. Last year in the same district with a population of 2,267,625 there were only 8,382 arraignments for drunkenness. Every magistrate in this city is commenting upon this remarkable decrease in intoxication. We magistrates agree in attributing this condition to education and to the publicity given by newspapers showing the general distrust of drinkers by employers, but principally to the moving picture theaters. The working man who formerly went to the saloons as the 'workingman's club' now goes to the picture show and takes his family. This is now the chief amusement of the workingman and not only the magistrates have noticed the effect upon the liquor traffic, but saloonkeepers themselves admit it."

The Better Films Movement.

Interest seems to be growing in a "Better Films Movement," which means, according to those who are sponsoring it, motion pictures which mother, father and children can see together with perfect satisfaction. The national board of review of motion pictures has given a big push to the movement by publishing its "Garden of American Motion Pictures." Nearly 2,500 films, all of which have been reviewed by the volunteers of the board and regarded by them as suitable for the family circle, are listed in the booklet.

When the structures of the system are in perfect health they work without attracting attention or causing any alarm. The moment that any part of the system has become inefficient in functioning, or cries out in pain, then you know you have been attacked by nerve and tissue weakness.

You become conscious of an unnatural condition, your heart beats wildly after exertion or excitement, you suffer with nervous headaches, the nerves in the spinal cord, on account of their overtaxed, weakened condition, cause pains in the back, drawing at the base of the brain, irritability of temper, uneven mood, sleeplessness, cold clammy feeling, you lack will-power, energy and ambition.

Not only is the nervous system the seat of all intelligence, memory, reason or probably of the very soul itself, but every movement of the various structures of the body depends upon nerve action. Hence, when the nerves suffer from debility or weakness, trouble is instantly felt in one or more of the structures. It is the chronic lack or derangement of function of these various tissues of the body which causes so much alarm, discontent and unhappiness. Close examination may disclose no trace of disease or pain, but nerves and tissues may not be working properly. Like an engine with insufficient fuel, the full supply of nerve force is not forthcoming.

When CADOMENE TABLETS are directed to the nervous system the cause and origin of the disturbance is reached. By the tonic and nutritive action of Cadomene Tablets on the nerve and tissue cells every muscle, nerve and structure of the system are brought up to par and naturally restored to accomplish their normal work.

The mind brightens, muscular tone is increased, all the bodily functions are regulated, sleep is sound and undisturbed, and the excessive wretchedness of nerve and tissue weakness, discontent and worry are things of the past.

WHO'S GUILTY?

The Weaker Strain

"In two things," he said, "I am a multimillionaire—in love and hope. As far as actual cash goes, I've nearly seven hundred dollars. As for prospects—a fairly efficient young architect ought to be able to pick up a living, even in a small up-state town like this. All I ask is a chance. And, some day or other, that chance is bound to come."

Perhaps a more mercenary girl than Laura would have hesitated a long time before linking her life to a man of such meager prospects. But Laura Belden was anything but mercenary.

So they were married.

They set up light housekeeping in a tiny house that Laura made very pretty and homelike. And Tom, spent eight hours a day (in his cheap little office with its glaring new sign) waiting for the big orders that were to make him rich and famous.

The orders, it is true, seemed in no hurry to arrive. But Tom waited, hopefully. As for Laura, she outdid Tom himself in the art of hoping. It would not have surprised her at all to learn, any day, that her wonderful husband had secured a contract to design a cathedral; or at the very least a pork king's summer palace.

Meantime, Laura went on with the study of music, which she had taken up long before her marriage. She had a really unusual lyric soprano voice. And Professor Sargent, her teacher, prophesied a great career for her.

One morning as the Prices sat at the breakfast table, Laura said, rather wistfully:

"You aren't the only member of this family who has a 'chance,' Tom. Only you can take advantage of yours. And I have to reject mine."

"What do you mean?" asked Tom, looking up, curiously, from some notes he was scribbling on the back of an envelope.

"Yesterday, when I went to Professor Sargent for my lesson," said Laura, "he made me a splendid offer. He wants me to go on a concert tour."

"Concert tour?" echoed Tom, frowning. "Nonsense!"

"I was afraid you'd say so," she sighed. "I told him you wouldn't allow me to. He was ever so disappointed. He said it was one opportunity in a thousand. You know Paul Legrand, the composer?"

"No," snapped Tom, "and I don't want to. He has a name for making love to every woman under fifty and over fifteen. I've no use for lady-killers."

"I mean," she corrected, "you know his work. You like his songs, too. Professor Sargent has given me dozens of them to learn. He says they fit my voice better than any others and that I sing them better than any other soprano."

"You sing everything better than anyone else can, little girl," put in Tom, "and—"

"And yesterday," continued Laura, "Mr. Legrand happened to be at the Sargent studio when I was taking my lesson. Professor Sargent made me sing several of his songs. And Mr. Legrand went wild over the way I sang them."

"The puppy!" grunted Tom. "Of course, he'd—"

"Then he called Professor Sargent aside," went on Laura, "and they whispered together for a long time. Then Professor Sargent came back to me and said that Mr. Legrand is planning to finance a concert tour to push the sale of his own songs and that he has been looking everywhere for the right soprano to sing them. As soon as he heard me, he decided no one can do justice to the songs as I can. And he wants me to make the tour. He's to play the accompaniments himself. The tour starts in two months. Oh, Tom," she finished, in childlike appeal, "can't I go? I want to, so much!"

Tom Price came around to his wife's side by the table. She had risen. He put his arms tenderly around her, as he made answer:

"Sweetheart, I feel like a brute, to refuse you anything in the world. And if it were really for your happiness, I wouldn't stand in your way for one moment. But it isn't, dear. The truly happy woman is the woman with a home and a husband of her own. Not the woman who must knock around the country on stuffy trains and sleep in cheap hotels, picking up a living as a singer or an actress."

"Just as you say, Tom," she agreed, meekly.

Laura looked from the window, watching until he was out of sight. Then she turned back to her household duties. She carried a heavy heart all morning, as she realized the hope she must throw away.

She carried a far heavier heart during the weeks that followed. For, at noon, Tom Price was brought home to her on a stretcher—senseless, inert, terribly injured. The ambulance surgeon, who escorted the stricken man, told Laura the story of the accident.

Tom had been standing on an upper-floor framework, watching the unloading of an elevatorful of brick and mortar when the elevator rope broke.

A workman who was still in the elevator had leaped for the scaffolding to save himself from a fall. Tom had sprung forward to catch him. The workman's convulsively outflung hands had dragged Tom from his precarious balance at the edge of the elevator shaft. Together, the two men had fallen to the ground floor.

Both had been picked up unconscious. Tom had recovered his senses long enough to whisper a demand that he be taken home instead of to the hospital.

The surgeon reported that Price's right leg had doubled under him in the fall, sustaining a compound fracture in two places. Also that he was a mass of contusions and abrasions and might perhaps be injured internally, as well.

Laura installed herself as assistant to the two trained nurses the family doctor brought. Specialists were called in to determine the extent of the internal hurts. And the dreary routine of sick-room life began.

The little nest egg in the savings bank melted as if it had been a snowball on a hot stove.

Two months had passed since the accident. Tom, fully dressed at last (but with his bandaged leg stuck straight before him on a bench and his crutches at his side), sat in the little living room of the flat. It was his first day outside his own room. And he glanced about him in perplexity.

"This room seems, somehow, changed, since I was out here before," he said to Laura. "It's different and—and barer."

She hesitated an instant, then said, very quietly:

"It's the absence of my piano that makes the room look queer."

"Your piano?" he repeated; "that's so. Where is it?"

"I sold it. Last week."

"Sold it? Are you joking?"

"It isn't much of a joke," she replied, "at least, not to me."

"But why did you do such a thing?" he demanded. "Why did you sell it? You were so fond of it. And you needed it so, in your practicing."

"There won't be any more practicing, just now," she told him. "I have stopped my music lessons."

"But I don't understand," he stammered. "They meant so much to you. They and your piano."

"Dear," she said, softly, "they meant nothing to me—nothing at all—compared to your precious self. Our money ran out. You had to have the right food, the right medicine, the right nursing. There was only one thing left to do. So I gave up my expensive music lessons. And I sold my expensive piano. When the piano money is gone I will try to figure out some new way to meet expenses until you are strong enough to work again."

A mist of tears arose in the eyes of the illness-weakened man.

"You sacrificed your beloved piano for me!" he muttered, brokenly. "Oh, darling, how can I ever make up to you for that?"

"By not thinking about it any longer," was her cheery reply, "and by getting well again as soon as you can. The doctor says you will be able to walk in another month or so. Isn't that splendid?"

"In a month or two," he supplemented, "I shall have to go limping around in search of work. For, Doctor Sprague tells me, the Stuytoff Construction company went, last week, into the hands of a receiver, and the Lord alone knows when I'll get any money on what they owe me for designing that miserable building for them."

Tom recognized the older of the two visitors as Professor Sargent, his wife's singing teacher. The younger was a strikingly handsome man, scarcely thirty years old; and with a graceful, self-assured manner which jarred on Price.

Laura welcomed the newcomers cordially. Professor Sargent was warmly sympathetic in his greeting to the invalid. Laura introduced the stranger to Tom, as "Mr. Paul Legrand."

Professor Sargent came at once to the object of the visit.

"Mrs. Price," he began, "this is probably no sort of time to come here talking business. But Legrand badgered me until I consented to. His tour starts in a week. He still declares that no soprano but yourself can do justice to those songs of his. And he seems to think I have enough influence over you to make you change your mind. He also authorizes me to add twenty-five per cent to the terms he offered you before and to promise you, as a bonus, a percentage on the receipts."

"I'm afraid it's no use, professor," said Laura, her sweet voice vibrant with a regret that did not escape Tom. "My husband does not—"

"Mr. Price!" broke in Legrand, impulsively, "perhaps you don't realize what this means to your wife. As a mere business man, you may not know that I am just now one of the most popular music composers in America. The concert tour is to exploit my songs: sung as I intended them to be sung. I, myself, shall be at the piano. That, by itself, insures the success of the tour. I am offering your wife an opportunity for which many lyric sopranos of established reputation would be humbly grateful. I am conferring a high honor on your wife by asking—"

"The highest honor a man can confer on another man's wife," interposed Tom, "is to let her alone. At least, that is the way I regard such things. I may be hopelessly old-fashioned. But—"

"You are," Legrand assured him, quite untouched by the snub, "and, let me tell you, if she sings in those concerts of mine, and if she scores a success in them, her fortune is made. She will be besieged by offers from managers. She—"

"That is true, Mr. Price," said Professor Sargent. "It is stated rather less modestly than you may care to hear it. But it is entirely true. Mrs. Price will not only receive far higher terms for the tour than ever I have known an untried singer to get, but she will also have a chance to make a name for herself. A name that she can coin into money. With a voice like hers—"

"She has already made a name for herself, sir," retorted Tom. "She made it at the altar. The name of 'Price.' Not an exalted name, perhaps. But I believe and hope she is quite content with it. She needs no other."

"You misunderstand me," answered Sargent. "I meant to say—"

But Legrand cut him short, by interrupting:

"Look here, Mr. Price, let's speak plainly. I've made inquiries about you. I learn that you're flat broke, that you've got nothing laid by—in short you're up against it, and with no hope of going out to make a living for some months to come. I—"

"That is my affair!" snapped Tom.

"It isn't," contradicted Legrand. "It's your wife's. It's she who suffers by it, a long shot worse than you. All this smug old-fashioned talk about a wife's place being in the home may be correct enough, as long as her husband has a fairly comfortable home to give her. But you can't give her anything. Sargent says she has even had to sell her piano to keep you from starving. If you were a musician you'd understand what that means to her. It's like giving up her right hand. You can't give her anything. She'll starve to death with you. Yet you refuse her a chance to make a living and a reputation."

"You are mistaken," said Tom, coldly. "I am giving her a chance to keep her reputation. As for my not being able to provide for her, that is no concern of yours."

"Tom!" protested Laura, troubled at her husband's rudeness to their guest.

Price's eye met hers. He saw, in her face, the sharp disappointment involved by his refusal. He recalled all she had done for him—all she had suffered and sacrificed on his account—all that this "chance" meant to her.

Moreover, he reflected, what right had he to refuse her the opportunity to make a livelihood, now that he could no longer earn one for her?

"How long is the tour?" he asked, hesitatingly.

4—"I Did It, I am Ready to Pay."

"Tom!" cried Laura, joyous incredulity bringing a flush to her cheeks and a new light to her eyes, as she read Price's expression. "Tom! Do you mean you are really going to let me go?"

Tom nodded, in silent wretchedness.

"Good for you, old man!" applauded Sargent.

"I congratulate you on coming at last to your senses, Mr. Price," added the delighted Legrand. "You will never be sorry for this. I thank you with all my heart."

"I don't want your thanks," growled Tom, ungraciously. "I'm doing this on her account. Not on yours. I owe it to her. And I pay my debts."

Three days later Laura Price set forth from home to join the Legrand Concert company at Galveston.

Tom could hobble painfully around the flat by this time. The funds from the piano's sale would provide for him, for the present, and for the wages of an elderly woman who had been hired to keep house for him in his wife's absence.

Before the ready money should be gone the family exchequer would be re-enforced by such sums as Laura could forward to him from her salary.

"It's for Tom! It's all for him! It will be his success as well as mine."

As for Tom, once having made up his mind, he said not a word to indicate the heartbreak that was his.

* * * * * * *

From the outset the concert tour scored a genuine success. And the success piled up as the tour continued and as its fame preceded it from city to city.

The bulk of the honors went to the hitherto unknown young lyric soprano, Laura Price.

Before the tour was half ended, she was overwhelmed by offers from managers and agents. Her name and fame and fortune were made.

Owing to her personal success the tour's receipts swelled beyond Legrand's most airy hopes. Laura's percentage of the profits assumed a size that dwarfed the memory of all the money she and Tom had ever possessed. Her month's salary alone, apart from percentages, was more than poor Tom Price had earned in a year.

Throughout she did not let victory go to her brain or make her other than the charmingly girlish and simple woman she had always been. Her daily letters to Tom were full of innocently vain accounts of her triumphs, but they were also full of the almost maternal love she bore the invalid, and of her longing to be with him once more.

One cloud alone—apart from absence from Tom—marred the sunshine of the trip. From the outset Legrand had assumed toward her an air of half-protective tenderness, that was so subtle as to render it difficult to prevent and still more difficult to resent.

He was always at Laura's side, under some pretext or other, always guarding her welfare and looking out for her comfort, beyond that of the other members of the troup.

Legrand's manner toward her was wholly deferential, but it was proprietary, too. Laura felt that the other singers and the manager must certainly draw erroneous conclusions from it. Yet she could do or say nothing to deter her admirer.

Legrand was a shrewd student of womankind, and a pastmaster in the art of love-making.

He said nothing—he did nothing—that could give her cause for anger or for reproof. Yet always he wove about her a subtle web of attentions that was daily becoming stronger and less easy to escape from.

Vaguely she felt this. But she could do nothing until some overt word or deed should bring the man within the reach of her scorn.

As for writing a word of all this to Tom she was far too sensible to do such a fatal thing. She knew his jealousy and that a mere hint was enough to fan it into murderous flame. So, sorely puzzled to what she ought to do, she kept her own counsel—and waited.

"It's that chuckle-headed husband of hers who keeps us apart," Legrand once told his chum, the manager. "If I could get him to give her up she'd marry me in a minute. I know she would. I don't believe she loves him."

The tour was nearing an end. On the morning after the first concert in Boston, Legrand sent for Laura and the contralto to come to his suite of rooms in the hotel at which the company was staying. He wished, he said, to go over new songs with each of them.

"Did you see the papers?" he asked them as they came into his sitting room. "They've given us the best notices we've had yet. At this rate we'll carry New York by storm. As usual, Mrs. Price, the critics are crazy over your singing. And, by the way, would you care to glance over these press notices for the New York engagement while Mrs. McDonald and I run over this encore song of hers?"

In remarkably short time the contralto had sung the encore song to the composer-accompanist's satisfaction. Pleading a shopping appointment she went out, leaving Legrand and Laura together.

Of late Laura had begun to notice people seemed to have a habit of going out and leaving them alone together. She perplexedly wondered why.

As soon as the contralto had gone Legrand arranged a sheet of manuscript music on the piano.

"It's a florid, melodramatic thing," he told her. "I call it the 'Dagger Song.' I picked up a queer old dirk at a curio shop the other day. And it suddenly occurred to me that, though there are dozens of 'Sword Songs,' no one ever wrote a 'Dagger Song.' So I wrote this. Here," picking up an antique knife from the table, "is the dagger that inspired it."

He handed her the weapon. She looked shudderingly at its rusty blade.

"I like to think those dark stains on the hilt are of blood!" he said.

She tossed the handkerchief down on the piano, and bent over to read the music, as Legrand began to play the prelude.

After a time she departed to her own rooms, taking the song with her. She had not been gone two minutes when the outer door of Legrand's sitting room was flung violently open.

Tom Price stood on the threshold.

"Where is my wife?" he demanded, without other form of greeting, his angry eyes searching the sitting room. "At the office desk they said she wasn't in her rooms. I met your manager in the lobby. He told me I would probably find her in your suite."

"She just stepped out," answered Legrand, a sudden idea flashing into his mind. "But if you care to wait, she'll be back again in a few minutes."

"You seem pretty sure of it," said Tom, pugnaciously.

"Why shouldn't I be?" was the careless rejoinder. "I ought to be by this time."

"I don't believe you," he declared. "I don't believe my wife comes to your suite at all. I believe you're lying. I—"

"When I talk to a drunkard or a crazy man," scoffed Legrand, "I don't resent things he says. But if you want any proof," his insolent gaze roved over the room, "that's a handkerchief of hers lying on the piano yonder."

Tom swooped down upon the handkerchief, shaking it out and holding it to the light. In one corner it bore Laura's familiar monogram. The husband let it flutter to the floor.

"What are you doing here, anyway?" asked Legrand, well pleased with the impression he had created. "She told me you were still too lame to walk."

"The doctor told me my leg was sound again, three days ago," said Tom. "I didn't write her about it. I ran on here instead to surprise her. She—"

"It'll surprise her," assented Legrand, with a sneering grin, "though maybe not quite in the way you were fool enough to hope. She counted on your being tied by the leg in your own little rube town for another two weeks at the very least. She said she was counting on that much more vacation anyhow."

"She did not say that," said Tom, lifting his head and staring dazedly at his tormentor. "You lie."

"I told you I pay no attention to lunatics' ravings," returned Legrand. "But now you're here there is something I do want to say to you, if you have sense enough to understand me."

"I want to hear nothing from you. I—"

"But you'll have to hear it just the same," resumed Legrand. "It concerns your wife. I love her. She loves me. We want to marry. You stand in our way. In the way of her happiness. Have you manhood enough to set her free so she can be happy?"

Tom gaped dully at him, scarce comprehending. Legrand, raising his voice a little, as though addressing a deaf man, continued impatiently:

"Will you set her free? Or are you cur enough to go on for life, living on her earnings? We are willing to pension you if you insist on such blackmail. But—"

The composer crashed to the floor like a felled ox, and lay quivering and senseless at Price's feet.

With scarcely a glance at his foe, Tom strode from the suite. Along the corridor he reeled, his brain afire. Around a corner he went blindly, aimlessly, then around another. Presently he found himself at a stairhead. Without waiting for the elevator he lurched down the two flights of stairs to the lobby. There he sank into a chair and tried to think clearly.

It was a long time before his brain could be forced into normal reasoning. Then, bit by bit, he began to review the scene he had just enacted with Legrand. And on cooler reflection, Tom was more and more impressed with the belief that the composer had been lying to him.

None of Price's memories of Laura bore out Legrand's vile hints. She loved her husband. She had solemnly promised to be true. She would not break her pledged word. For some purpose of his own Legrand had tried to blacken her in Tom's eyes.

"That man needs a good deal wose thrashing than I gave him," muttered Price at last, getting to his feet. "And I'm going back to give it to him. I'll hammer him into confessing the truth about Laura, even if I go to jail for it."

"Come in," he answered.

"Where is—who?" he evaded.

"Where is Tom? I met the manager in the hall just now. He says Tom is here and that he came to your suite to find me."

Legrand was doing some rapid thinking, despite his brain's jarred condition. He had lost his carefully planned game. Tom's arrival had spoiled everything. And more than probably when Laura should hear what had passed between her husband and himself, she would abandon the tour. Unless—unless she really loved Legrand. And that must be decided at once.

"Where did Tom go?" she was asking.

Without answering, Legrand caught her in his arms, and held her there despite her struggles. He sought to raise her face to his. She pushed him back, but he grasped her the more closely to him.

Her outflung hand fell by chance upon the hilt of the dagger that lay on the piano. Her fingers closed convulsively about it.

Scarcely realizing what she did, and thinking only to fend off the hateful face that pressed so fiercely toward her own, the frantic woman struck out wildly at the man who had seized her.

Legrand's grip relaxed. He gave a coughing gasp, then collapsed in a lifeless heap at her feet.

Laura, still holding the dagger whose keen edge had severed Legrand's carotid artery, looked down blankly at the dying man. Seeing the blood on the blade she shrieked—again and again, until the whole corridor re-echoed with her cries.

Tom Price, nearing the suite door, was first of fifty running people to reach the spot. As he entered the room Laura dropped the dagger and ran toward him with arms outstretched.

"Tom!" she wailed hysterically. "oh, Tom! I have come back to you at last. You were right when you said this was no life for me. Take me home!"

"Here!" rasped the house detective, rushing into the room at the head of a dozen guests and servants, "what's the trouble?"

"Who did this?" he demanded, whirling about to face Tom. "Was it you?"

"Yes," answered Tom evenly, "I did it. I'm ready to pay. It was worth—"

"He did not!" screamed Laura. "It was I! I killed him."

"Come along, both of you," ordered the house detective, pulling handcuffs from his pocket. "It's up to the court to decide which of you is going to the chair. All I've got to do is to turn you over to the cops. Come along!"

California is Proud of Its Record in Combating the Disease.

Sacramento, Cal., July 21.—California is waging a fight to the death with typhoid. After years of battling, she has the enemy on the run and threatened with complete rout. The dream of a typhoidless state is approaching reality.

Medical forces in every county, city, town and hamlet throughout the state are fully prepared for the final campaign against this foe of humans. The story of their fight in the past and their plans for the future has its thrill of encouragement for those in other states who are pitting their strength against this same dread disease.

Dr. Wilbur A. Sawyer.

"California sends a message of hope to any community burdened with the hard task of warding off typhoid, for what we have done others can do," says Dr. Wilbur A. Sawyer, executive officer of the state board of health. "We no longer consider it a serious disease in this state. Deaths from this cause have decreased 70 per cent in ten years and the rate dropped 30 per cent in the last year alone."

Ten years ago, when the fight was taken up seriously and science was pitted against typhoid, there were only three states with a death rate from this cause higher than that of California. In 1913 the rate had been reduced to 13.6 for every 100,000 population, and by 1915 to 9.7. Such a gratifying result was not reached by haphazard methods, but by the hardest sort of work and by the hearty co-operation of every medical officer, big and small, in the entire state.

Chlorination of water to assure a pure drinking fluid to citizens.

Careful inspection of summer resorts and camping grounds.

Strict laws concerning the sale of milk, requiring pasteurization and the greatest care in handling.

Registration of all typhoid cases with the state board of health, affording an opportunity for investigation and assistance.

Control of quarantine by typhoid carriers.

Sanitary engineers of the state board of health tackled the important problem of pure drinking water as one essential feature of the fight. Although citizens at first objected, chlorination of drinking water was authorized and is now being adopted generally.

Liquid chlorine is most generally used in the process of chlorination of water, although other forms are sometimes used. The chlorine is placed in the public water supply near the source by competent officials in a ratio of about one grain of chlorine to eighteen gallons of water.

When the chlorine joins the water a chemical action takes place, liberating oxygen and destroying the chlorine. The oxygen attacks harmful bacteria in the water, purifying it. Since the chlorine is lost in the process, it does not affect the taste of water, as citizens in some parts of the state have imagined.

The detection and control of typhoid carriers proved not only a surprisingly efficient means of putting down the number of sick cases, but developed some interesting facts about the spread of typhoid.

State medical officers discovered a sailor who was fairly sowing the disease among his fellows on shipboard. In three years he had transmitted it, quite unconsciously, to thirty others. His vessel became known as the "fever ship" and was a terror to seamen. This human typhoid machine was placed in quarantine and is still under the control of medical officers.

Another instance of a typhoid carrier was a woman, who, like the sailor, was unaware of her dread ability to scatter disease. Investigation showed that she had infected ninety persons at one meal through the medium of her cooking. She was also placed in quarantine to prevent the possibility of new cases.

By the control of such carriers as these two, medical men point out that hundreds of cases annually are eliminated and that the fight is being made vastly easier as a result.

Train Your Hair as an Actress Does

No class of people devotes as much time to beauty as do actresses, and naturally no class must be more careful to retain and develop their charms. Inquiry among them develops the information that in hair care they find it dangerous to shampoo with any makeshift hair cleanser. Instead they have studied to find the finest preparation made for shampooing and bringing out the beauty of the hair. The majority of them say that to enjoy the best hair wash and scalp stimulator that is known, get a package of canthrox from your druggist; dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water and your shampoo is ready. It costs less than three cents for this amount. After its use the hair dries rapidly, with uniform color. Dandruff, excess oil and dirt are dissolved and entirely disappear. Your hair will be so fluffy that it will look much heavier than it is. Its lustre and softness will also delight you, while the stimulated scalp gains the health which insures hair growth.—Advertisement.

NO ROOM FOR EITHER ROADHOG OR JOYRIDER

Detroit, Mich., July 21.—Due to the heavy traffic which the Lincoln highway is carrying this year, certain elementary road regulations are urged by the National association for the mutual benefit of the tourists and the communities through which they pass.

Motorists from every state in the union are using the great transcontinental road and in the course of the journey across the country are encountering new conditions and situations which call for careful driving judgment.

The principal requisite on the part of the driver is a spirit of fair-mindedness and willingness to do his share in going half way to accommodate his fellow traveler. There is no room on the Lincoln highway for the road hog and the joy rider.

The journey from coast to coast can be made without encountering grades that cannot be easily made with any standard make of automobile, but all cars should have properly adjusted brakes and good brake linings. The car to be used in a transcontinental trip should be in the best of condition before starting.

Careful driving will pay, and the right hand side of the road should be followed, especially on turns.

It is advisable to have a reliable horn and use it freely when necessary. Oncoming cars are frequently hidden by trees and turns in the road.

The lighting system on the tourist's car should be absolutely reliable as it is very essential on a strange road at night.

H. C. Ostermann, Field Secretary of the Lincoln Highway association, who has traveled the route more than any other man, finds that these simple precautions will carry the tourist safely and pleasantly from one coast to the other.

OBLIGING FRIEND IS JAILED WITH FORGER

Howard Metcalf, 20, was in wrong because he had forged a check for $10 to F. J. France, concession man at Robison park, on the Old National bank and had overdrawn his account at the Hamilton National bank. Police were hunting him.

In his moment of stress he turned to his tried friend, John Christlie, 21. He sounded John and John rang true. Christlie said that there were tears in Metcalf's eyes and Christlie has a weakness for tears. He told the court he agreed to the "stall" which Metcalf had figured out.

Most of Wednesday night was spent in perfecting a plan. Mrs. E. Beplinger, Metcalf's aunt, was the victim. The young man appeared before her Thursday morning. Christlie held Metcalf with a heavy hand.

"I am a Fort Wayne detective," Christlie said, and his coat collar was turned up to impress the fact. "Howard is in trouble and it will take $25 to save him from jail." Christlie testified that Metcalf had told him that was no lie.

The aunt wavered, so the young man pulled a "stunt," as Christlie called it. Metcalf tried to escape. Christlie caught him and handled the prisoner rough. This was the last straw for the aunt. She went after the money.

"I hope Howard will brace up now," she said as she handed Officer Christlie the money.

"I gave the money right to Metcalf as soon as we left and then I came down and told the chief all about it," Christlie told. Police Chief Lenz testified that Christlie had related the story to him and that the whole plan was a sacrifice on the part of Christlie to save Metcalf.

Metcalf also appeared before the police and tried square his trouble by giving Detective Immel the $25. Both young men were jailed.

Metcalf was bound over to the circuit court from police court Friday morning. He is held under $1,000 bond. Christlie was fined $100 and costs. He does not have the money, he says, and will spend 120 days at the state farm.

Clarence Osterman, 18, was placed under $300 bond to secure his keeping the peace. His mother, Mrs. Harriet Osterman, 815 Superior street, testified that her son had threatened to take her life.

A long-barreled, 38-caliber revolver which Osterman has been wearing about town in a hoster and which his mother says he had threatened to kill her with, was confiscated by police. Osterman had only recently returned from a term in the state reformatory. Any attempt of his to cause trouble with his mother will mean a prison term for him, Judge Kerr said.

Cannot Go Home.

George Klug, carpenter, does not dare to return to his home at 114 Erie street before August 1 or he will be locked up, Judge Kerr told him. All the time he is absent from his wife and children he must support his family. An officer went to the home with Klug after court while Klug removed his tools from the house.

The order was called forth when Klug was brought before Judge Kerr Friday morning charged with disorderly conduct for the fourth time this year. Klug gets drunk and goes home to start trouble with his family, it was brought out. Thursday night he threatened his wife with a beer bottle, the wife said.

Other Police Court Cases.

Harry Gower, clerk, Dayton, was intoxicated and was standing on the steps of a Calhoun street drug store trying to preach when arrested Thursday afternoon. He had gathered a crowd of 150 people about him, the officer testified. He was well dressed, but his sermon was incoherent. Gower was saved the embarrassment of making a further spectacle of himself by being removed to jail. He was fined $1 and costs in police court on a drunk charge.

Orange Fredrick gave bond in the sum of $300 to secure his payment of $5 a week towards the support of his child.

HOLLAND CENTER OF ESPIONAGE INDUSTRY

Rotterdam, Netherlands, June 30.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press).—Besides being the medium through which the war news of the belligerents, and much else, is exchanged, Holland is apparently the principal center whence the respective espionage organizations send out their agents into the enemy's country and, moreover, an important spy recruiting ground.

Many Dutch citizens, even members of the nobility, have, according to a contributor to the Nieuwe Rotterdam Courant, entered this dangerous but lucrative service, and not a few are now rueing the day in foreign captivity, not to mention those who have paid the penalty with their lives. There are, it appears, two known espionage quarters in Rotterdam, directed by men commanding extensive staffs. Even an innocent visit to such offices may have the most unpleasant, if not dangerous consequences, for the eyes and the cameras of the opposing party are ever on the watch and several Rotterdam men have long been incarcerated in foreign prisons merely on such a ground.

Significant in this connection is the recent dismissal from the police service of two detectives on the staff of the chief police bureau of Amsterdam, for having entered into well-paid clandestine relations with the German secret service. Their "side line" included, among other jobs, the watching of persons of different nationalities who had applied for passports to enter Germany, but concerning whom the German authorities entertained misgivings. Investigations are now afoot to ascertain whether other police officials in the chief cities of Holland may not have yielded to German temptations.
